That monster is 47 feet long from his beak to the end of his tail, 18 feet high at the hips, 21 feet around the waist, with bones that weigh more than two tons.

He was a powerful animal, but couldn't last because he didn't have a brain big in proportion to the size of his body.

Civilization has developed a more powerful creature, which is the two-legged billionaire, able to control and command the work of 200,000,000 men for one day.

The billionaire will soon be numerous and the interesting question concerning him will be, "what about his brain?" Will it be big enough to keep him safe?

YOU read about a new mountain range discovered in Siberia, 1,000 miles long, 300 miles wide, peaks 11,000 feet high.

This range will be named for Lenin, whom the Russian people delight to honor, and that will annoy high finance.

But what of the mineral wealth that, undoubtedly, is hidden away in that gigantic mountain range? If gold, silver, copper should be discovered in quantities, it would soften the heart of high finance, always practical, willing to listen to a good argument.

THE British, developing an air force, where we talk and save money, are about to attempt the longest non-stop flight, 4,000 miles, from London to Karachi in western India.

What does President Coolidge, responsible for the safety of this nation in case of war, think about our comic opera flying force? How does he think the long successful flights by Italians, Englishmen, Germans, Russians and Japanese compare with our failures?

The President will be interested in an address to the Paris Union of Commerce and Industry by Andre Michalin, who says that every nation in Europe is developing gas warfare, and that "a city as large as Paris" (ten times as large as Washington, D. C.) could easily be asphyxiated by gas bombardment from a flying fleet.

THE learned Dr. Sack of Heidelberg university, studying thousands of Egyptian mummies, finds that high living killed off rich Egyptians as it kills off rich Americans now.

Foolish eating, lack of exercise, especially lack of deep breathing, have through the centuries been skimming the scum off the boiling pot of civilization.

Mummies of the fifth dynasty show signs of tuberculosis, affecting the spine, and gout, swelling the joints. Cancer did not come in until the Byzantine era.

FIFTY THOUSAND Japanese are homeless as result of earthquake, tidal waves and fire. Many corpses line the ruins. Many were burned, others crushed. The Japanese government announces that it requests no assistance and can take care of its problems. A brave people.

E. SALINEVILLE MINER'S FATE MAY BE KNOWN LATE SATURDAY

Alleged Slayer of Rodney Ogle Will Testify.

DEFENSE SCORES

Attack Made Upon Testimony of Mrs. Rose Householder.

Roy Wallen, 33, East Salineville coal miner, on trial in common pleas court, Lisbon, for first degree murder in the death of Rodney Ogle, 57, also a miner, may know his fate before tomorrow night.

He was expected to take the stand in his own defense this afternoon.

Indications at noon were that the case would reach the jury early tomorrow.

Call Rebuttal Witnesses.

The state will call several rebuttal witnesses after Wallen, who claims that he shot Ogle in self-defense, tells his story of the fatal quarrel that followed an alleged beer party in the Ogle home on Feb. 6, last.

Arguments of Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes and his assistant, John E. Bauknecht, for the state, and Attorneys W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, and S. W. Crawford, of East Liverpool, for the defense, probably will be started, if not completed, late today.

The purported quarrelsome nature of Ogle, which was brought out in yesterday afternoon's testimony before Judge William F. Duncan, was reiterated today as Wallen sought to substantiate his defense that he shot after the latter had fired a rifle bullet at him.

Prisoner's Wife on Stand.

Mrs. Angeline Wallen, wife of the prisoner; A. J. Ware, of Wellsville; E. R. Davis, Wallen's stepfather; Mrs. Irene Davis, the latter's wife, and Benjamin Rahter, of Wellsville, were among the witnesses called by the defense during the morning session.

The defense, questioning Rahter, turned its guns on the damaging evidence given for the state yesterday by Mrs. Rose Householder, Kensington, sister-in-law of Wallen. Rahter declared that Mrs. Householder's reputation for veracity was poor.

Rahter was on the stand when the noon recess was declared.

A. J. Ware Testifies.

A. J. Ware, a contractor, and a former section foreman on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh road, having charge of right of way near "Ogle's cut," was the first witness called today by the defense. Examined by Attorney Crawford, he declared that Ogle, who had worked for him on the section on two different occasions, was a good citizen and a peaceable man. There was no cross-examination.

The defense recalled E. R. Davis, stepfather of the defendant and he said that in November, last, he drove out to the Hannum farm to visit Wallen. He testified he saw Ogle standing outside his home with a bottle of beer in his hand and that Ogle had said to him, "You had better take Wallen away or I'll work on him."

Davis said that Ogle had a knife in his hand and that he put it against Davis and twisted the point around his shirt, and that Davis pushed him away. Davis declared that he had told Wallen about Ogle's threat.

At this point the court instructed the jury to disregard the testimony of Davis, given Thursday afternoon, wherein Davis said Ogle pointed a shotgun through the crack of a barn.

ILLINOIS' "LIVING DEAD MAN" DIES

57 COMRADES DEFEATED AFTER 108-HOUR BATTLE TO SAVE ALFRED FRICK

Tragedy in Hearts is Written on Faces of 57 Tight-lipped Men as Death is Victor in Tense Human Drama in Which Evanston Lad Had Chief Role.

KEPT PARALYSIS VICTIM ALIVE SINCE SUNDAY BY PRESSING WALLS OF CHEST

Grief of Friends Who Labored Day and Night, in Teams of Two, and in 15-minute Relays, in Hope That Life Would Win, is Tragic as End Comes.

By Gene Hoffman.

EVANSTON, Ill., March 11.—Fifty-seven tight-lipped men were back on the job at Illinois Public Service company today—the tragedy in their hearts written on every face. Alfred Frick, their buddy, the man for whom each had given his full time and energy since last Sunday morning in an effort to save his life, will sit among them no more. The tense human drama closed with death the victor.

Frick, who had come to be known as the "living dead man," died at St. Francis hospital last night at 10:10 o'clock after his 57 fellow workers had kept him alive 108 hours by pressing the walls of his chest to give him the breath of life.

Death came quietly. Shortly before the end, the brave youth—he was only 22—looked up at his father and mother and smiled, a faint smile that seemed to say "farewell." He was too weak to talk. A moment later he lapsed into a coma and did not regain consciousness.

Victim of Landry's Paralysis.

But tragic as was his death, even more tragic was the grief of his friends—that crew of loyal men who had labored day and night, in teams of two, and in 15-minute relays, in the hope that life would win. Many of the men, unashamed, broke down and wept. The two who were on duty when Dr. H. H. Conley pronounced the patient dead, refused to quit the task, hoping against hope that they could revive the spark of life.

Young Frick was stricken early last Sunday with Landry's paralysis, a very rare disease. It cut off the nerve supply to the diaphragm and chest walls, causing the lungs to collapse. Breathing stopped. Technically, the youth was "dead." But it was found that by pressing the sides of his chest, bellow fashion, artificial respiration could be induced.

He was thus kept alive and a hurried call sent out for volunteers to help in the strenuous physical work of pressing his sides. Fifty-seven men with whom he worked answered the call. They organized teams and began the long battle with death, working in 15-minute relays.

Specialists Were Pessimistic.

Physicians hoped that if the patient could be kept alive long enough the paralysis might lift and normal work of the lungs be resumed.

Hour after hour the brave "comrade crew" worked, hoping that their efforts would restore their friend to health. Even the pessimistic views of the specialists who watched the case with interest, could not discourage them. Frick's life was in their hands. Medical science had done its best and failed. But they would pull him through. That was the spirit of the "comrade crew." And thus their grief may be understood.

Physicians, who could do nothing but check on the patient's condition and direct the efforts of the "breathing crew," felt all along that young Frick was doomed. What few records of Landry's paralysis cases they could find argued against a favorable prognosis.

One Freighter Sunk, Another Damaged In Crash In Fog

Members of Crew of Lost Vessel Leap Into Water With Life Preservers—Most of Them Rescued.

NEW YORK, March 11.—One freighter was sunk and another badly damaged today in a bow-on collision in the fog near Robbins Reef, off Greenville, N. J.

Members of the crew of the sunken vessel leaped into the water with life preservers. Most of them were rescued by tugboats but it was reported several men were drifting in the fog.

The freighter which sunk was the El Sol, of the Southern Pacific line, bound from Galveston to New York with cargo of cotton.

The other vessel is the Sao City of the American Diamond line, bound for Antwerp.

The El Sol carried a crew of 46. Captain Knoels was in command. It was reported there were several passengers on one of the freighters.

KIWANIANS AND GUESTS FROM SEVEN CITIES ATTEND DINNER-DANCE HERE

District Governor Howard S. Smith, Dayton, Makes Address at Country Club Party.

Kiwanians and their wives from Wellsville, Salineville, Carrollton, Canton and Steubenville attended the dinner-dance given by the East Liverpool club at the Country club last evening, in honor of District Governor and Mrs. Howard S. Smith, of Dayton. Places were laid for 110 guests.

Charles W. Hendershot, first vice-president, presided. Musical selections were rendered by the Glee club, composed of Kurt Bergner, Kenneth Smith, John Golden, Robert Laughlin, Dr. C. R. Larkins, Robert Douglass, Wilbur Glenn and Cyril Taylor. Claire Chambers was the accompanist.

Secretary Carl E. Gruber read a postcard from Dr. W. A. Hobbs, club president, written from the north coast of Africa, where he stopped about three weeks ago. Earl Reese rendered a vocal solo with Mr. Chambers as his accompanist.

Brief talks were made by Frank Polling, Mansfield, a past district governor, who brought greetings from the Mansfield club; Roy Henderson, president of the Carrollton club; W. R. McDonald, president of the Wellsville club, and Frank Conklin, president of

COUNCILMEN FAIL TO ACT UPON ALLEY OBSTRUCTION BAN REPEALER

Defer Decision on Proposal Which is Aftermath of Suit Pending in Common Pleas Court.

City council, at a special meeting last night, failed to act upon an ordinance, prepared by Solon Otto Kommell, which, if enacted, would have repealed legislation adopted last June prohibiting the erection of stairways, and buildings or other wise obstructions in sidewalks, streets, alleys or other public thoroughfares.

The repealer was an aftermath of a suit pending in common pleas court, restraining the city from removing a shed covering a stage entrance stairway to the American theatre in Crook alley. Judge W. F. Duncan is expected to render a decision on a permanent injunction sought by the theatre operators against Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore.

Councilman Hayes declared that he would not vote for the repealer until the court ruled. Solon W. H. Kelly expressed the opinion that the ordinance was good legislation. The same views were outlined by Councilmen Thomas Farrall and L. M. Poole.

Councilman Kommell, who with Solons Hughes and Goodballet, called the meeting, did not speak on the measure.

Dr. Allen K. Poole Wins Membership in Yale Honor Society

Dr. Allen K. Poole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Poole, of Pennsylvania avenue, and instructor at Yale university, New Haven, Conn., has been enrolled in the Yale chapter Sigma Xi society.

Membership in this organization is considered a high honor. To be eligible members of the faculty must have accomplished some noteworthy achievement in scientific research work while registered students must have demonstrated their aptitude for scientific research by the actual accomplishment of such work.

Lawyers Will do City Work While Solicitor is Ill

Members of the Southern Columbiana County Bar association will represent the state in the prosecution of criminal cases in municipal court during the absence of Solicitor Frank Hoover who is confined to his home in West Ninth street, as a result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

Ben L. Bennett, president of the association, will prosecute the cases this week. He has appointed Blaine H. Cochran to act next week, while R. G. Thompson will serve as the city's legal adviser during the week of March 21. W. S. Stevenson will handle the work during the week ebginning March 28.

No charge will be made by the attorneys for their services, it was announced.

TEEMAN FUNERAL HERE TOMORROW

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma Bloor Teeman, wife of Edward Teeman, who died in Florida, last Monday, will be conducted in her home, 921 Ohio avenue, at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, in charge of Dr. Donald W. MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Friends may view the body at the Teeman home from 7 to 10 o'clock tonight.

Wellsville Woman Fractures Leg in Fall on Stairway

Mrs. Margaret Suskie, 1205 Center avenue, Wellsville, sustained a fracture of the right leg in a fall down a flight of steps at her home at 7 o'clock last evening. She was taken to the City hospital where the fracture was reduced.

11 CHILDREN AND KIN ARE TRAPPED WHEN FLAMES RAGE

Nine Persons Die in Pennsylvania, Six in New Jersey.

HOMES SWEPT

One Blaze Follows Use of Kerosene in Stove.

SALTSBURG, Pa., March 11.—Nine persons were burned to death when fire of undetermined origin destroyed the home of Clarence Marsh, in Tunnelton, near here, today.

The dead: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Marsh and their five children. Mrs. Harry Montgomery and one child.

Only one occupant of the house, a frame structure, escaped with his life. He was Harry Montgomery, whose wife and child perished in the flames. Montgomery leaped from a window.

Tragedy Follows Funeral.

The fire is believed to have started shortly after 1 a. m. When discovered it had gained such headway that it was impossible for neighbors to attempt to rescue the victims, trapped behind curtains of fire.

Less than twelve hours before the Marshs had attended the funeral of Marsh's sister-in-law. They returned to their home late last night.

While authorities could not ascertain definitely the cause of the fire, because of the charred condition of the ruins, they believe an overheated stove may have been responsible.

Neighbors, burrowing through blackened ruins when the latter had cooled sufficiently for exploration, found two bodies. Both were burned beyond recognition. Searchers are still hunting the seven other victims.

BROWN'S MILLS, N. J., March 11.—William Stevenson, laborer, and five of his seven children were burned to death early today when their home here was destroyed by fire which followed an explosion when Stevenson poured kerosene into the kitchen stove.

Clara Stevenson, 20, is expected to die from injuries received when she jumped from a second story window. She is in the hospital with two broken hips.

Mrs. Rebecca Stevenson, the mother, together with William Stevenson Jr., 15, escaped, but Mrs. Stevenson, numbed by the tragedy, could not remember how she got out.

The children burned to death were Ernest, 11, Shinn, 12, Alfred, 9, Mildred, 6, and Lillian, one month old.

It was necessary for firemen to use long poles to extricate the bodies from the burning embers.

Girl Tells Story of Fire.

Clara, from her hospital bed, told the story of the fire. She said she arose early this morning and went to

Prescott Funeral Services in Home At 2 p. m. Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida May Prescott, widow of Charles H. Prescott, who died Wednesday, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the home, Globe street, East End, in charge of Rev. George C. Westlake, pastor of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Friends may view the body tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Cleveland "Lifer," Who Slew Unfaithful Wife, is Pardoned

COLUMBUS, O., March 11.—On condition that he "faithfully care for his ten children and abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors," Frank Buccire, 58, Cleveland laborer, was pardoned today by Governor Vic Donahey from the Ohio penitentiary where he was serving a life sentence. Buccire was convicted, in September, 1923, of murdering his wife.

Claiming Buccire had killed an "unfaithful wife during a moment of extreme provocation," Warden P. E. Thomas, of the penitentiary, and Price Russell and Daniel W. Williams, members of the state clemency board, recommended executive clemency for the prisoner.

Judge Walter Mamahon, Cleveland, who tried the case, and Assistant Prosecutor H. E. Parsons, Cuyahoga county, recommended that Buccire's sentence be commuted to manslaughter.

$4,000 BLAZE IN WESTFIELD

Family Flees When Fire Destroys J. O. Smith Home.

An investigation was under way today into the cause of the mysterious fire which destroyed the six-room residence of James O. Smith, in Westfield, three miles north of her along the Y. & O. railroad. The loss is estimated at approximately $4,000 partly covered by insurance.

Smith, who is employed at the Chester tin mill, his wife and two small children were asleep when the fire started. Robert Ross, who lives in the Westfield district, returning to his home about 11 o'clock, discovered the blaze and awakened the family.

Smith found the stairway cut off by flames, but escaped fom the house through an upstairs' window, carrying his two children with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are residing temporarily with relatives in Chester.

Ohioan is Found Dead.

CINCINNATI, O., March 11.—William J. Sanderson, 65, former member of the Ohio legislature and one time deputy United State marshal for the southern district of Ohio, was found dead in his home here today. Death was due to natural causes.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE VAN FOSSAN PREDICTS GASOLINE TAX WILL BE INCREASED TO THREE CENTS

The Ohio legislature will increase the gasoline tax from two to three cents a gallon at its present session, State Representative W. H. Van Fossan, Lisbon, who is spending the week-end at his home, predicted today.

Van Fossan, who conferred with East Liverpool friends, is a member of the house tax committee. A caucus session to consider the proposed increase in the gasoline tax was held at Columbus this week, and while no action was taken it was the consensus of opinion that additional revenue must be obtained or road construction will suffer from the lack of funds. Action on the gasoline tax boost proposal will be taken next week, Van Fossan said.

The proposed mortgage tax is now before a committee. Proposed increases in the corporation and excise taxes are also being considered, but are meeting with opposition on the part of manufacturers who assert that industries and big business is being driven ouside Ohio because of the burden of taxation.

Emmons Resolution Killed.

The tax program, Van Fossan said, will begin to take definite shape within the next 10 days.

The resolution, framed by Representative R. W. Emmons of East Rochester, providing for a $25,000,000 bond issue for grade crossing elimination, is believed to have been killed this week when the house highway committee, by a vote of 12 to 4, postponed consideration. It is doubtful if the measure is reported out of committee at this session of the legislators, observers claim.

The Columbiana county legislator will return to Columbus Suuday evening.

Senate in Session.

COLUMBUS, O., March 11.—With the house members enjoying their week-end recess, the Ohio senate will hold a brief session here today.

Speaker O. C. Gray, of the house, today is expected to announce the names of the members comprising the special house committee of eight, authorized at the recent caucus of house Republicans to agree upon a legislative financial program and to report at a caucus Monday of the majority house members.

Before adjourning for the week late Thursday, the house passed six bills and adopted the Kumler joint resolution, already adopted by the senate, memorializing congress to reapportion the membership of the national house of representatives, at Washington, D. C., in accordance with the 1920 census.

The bills passed by the house, all of which now go to the senate, include: By Sullivan, including manufacturers, as well as dealers, under the laws regulating sales of foodstuffs for cattle and poultry; the Burkhardt bill, providing for the process of garnisheeing an executor, guardian, trustees or any person acting in a judiciary capacity; the Claybourne bill author-

NEW YORK, March 11.—One freighter was sunk and another badly damaged today in a bow-on collision in the fog near Robbins Reef, off Greenville, N. J.

Members of the crew of the sunken vessel leaped into the water with life preservers. Most of them were rescued by tugboats but it was reported several men were drifting in the fog.

The freighter which sunk was the El Sol, of the Southern Pacific line, bound from Galveston to New York with cargo of cotton.

The other vessel is the Sao City of the American Diamond line, bound for Antwerp.

The El Sol carried a crew of 46. Captain Knoels was in command. It was reported there were several passengers on one of the freighters.

KIWANIANS AND GUESTS FROM SEVEN CITIES ATTEND DINNER-DANCE HERE

District Governor Howard S. Smith, Dayton, Makes Address at Country Club Party.

Kiwanians and their wives from Wellsville, Salineville, Carrollton, Canton and Steubenville attended the dinner-dance given by the East Liverpool club at the Country club last evening, in honor of District Governor and Mrs. Howard S. Smith, of Dayton. Places were laid for 110 guests.

Charles W. Hendershot, first vice-president, presided. Musical selections were rendered by the Glee club, composed of Kurt Bergner, Kenneth Smith, John Golden, Robert Laughlin, Dr. C. R. Larkins, Robert Douglass, Wilbur Glenn and Cyril Taylor. Claire Chambers was the accompanist.

Secretary Carl E. Gruber read a postcard from Dr. W. A. Hobbs, club president, written from the north coast of Africa, where he stopped about three weeks ago. Earl Reese rendered a vocal solo with Mr. Chambers as his accompanist.

Brief talks were made by Frank Polling, Mansfield, a past district governor, who brought greetings from the Mansfield club; Roy Henderson, president of the Carrollton club; W. R. McDonald, president of the Wellsville club, and Frank Conklin, president of

COUNCILMEN FAIL TO ACT UPON ALLEY OBSTRUCTION BAN REPEALER

Defer Decision on Proposal Which is Aftermath of Suit Pending in Common Pleas Court.

City council, at a special meeting last night, failed to act upon an ordinance, prepared by Solon Otto Kommell, which, if enacted, would have repealed legislation adopted last June prohibiting the erection of stairways, and buildings or other wise obstructions in sidewalks, streets, alleys or other public thoroughfares.

The repealer was an aftermath of a suit pending in common pleas court, restraining the city from removing a shed covering a stage entrance stairway to the American theatre in Crook alley. Judge W. F. Duncan is expected to render a decision on a permanent injunction sought by the theatre operators against Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore.

Councilman Hayes declared that he would not vote for the repealer until the court ruled. Solon W. H. Kelly expressed the opinion that the ordinance was good legislation. The same views were outlined by Councilmen Thomas Farrall and L. M. Poole.

Councilman Kommell, who with Solons Hughes and Goodballet, called the meeting, did not speak on the measure.

11 CHILDREN AND KIN ARE TRAPPED WHEN FLAMES RAGE

Nine Persons Die in Pennsylvania, Six in New Jersey.

HOMES SWEPT

One Blaze Follows Use of Kerosene in Stove.

SALTSBURG, Pa., March 11.—Nine persons were burned to death when fire of undetermined origin destroyed the home of Clarence Marsh, in Tunnelton, near here, today.

The dead: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Marsh and their five children. Mrs. Harry Montgomery and one child.

Only one occupant of the house, a frame structure, escaped with his life. He was Harry Montgomery, whose wife and child perished in the flames. Montgomery leaped from a window.

Tragedy Follows Funeral.

The fire is believed to have started shortly after 1 a. m. When discovered it had gained such headway that it was impossible for neighbors to attempt to rescue the victims, trapped behind curtains of fire.

Less than twelve hours before the Marshs had attended the funeral of Marsh's sister-in-law. They returned to their home late last night.

While authorities could not ascertain definitely the cause of the fire, because of the charred condition of the ruins, they believe an overheated stove may have been responsible.

Neighbors, burrowing through blackened ruins when the latter had cooled sufficiently for exploration, found two bodies. Both were burned beyond recognition. Searchers are still hunting the seven other victims.

BROWN'S MILLS, N. J., March 11.—William Stevenson, laborer, and five of his seven children were burned to death early today when their home here was destroyed by fire which followed an explosion when Stevenson poured kerosene into the kitchen stove.

Clara Stevenson, 20, is expected to die from injuries received when she jumped from a second story window. She is in the hospital with two broken hips.

Mrs. Rebecca Stevenson, the mother, together with William Stevenson Jr., 15, escaped, but Mrs. Stevenson, numbed by the tragedy, could not remember how she got out.

The children burned to death were Ernest, 11, Shinn, 12, Alfred, 9, Mildred, 6, and Lillian, one month old.

It was necessary for firemen to use long poles to extricate the bodies from the burning embers.

Girl Tells Story of Fire.

Clara, from her hospital bed, told the story of the fire. She said she arose early this morning and went to George C. Westlake, pastor of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Friends may view the body tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Cleveland "Lifer," Who Slew Unfaithful Wife, is Pardoned

COLUMBUS, O., March 11.—On condition that he "faithfully care for his ten children and abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors," Frank Buccire, 58, Cleveland laborer, was pardoned today by Governor Vic Donahey from the Ohio penitentiary where he was serving a life sentence. Buccire was convicted, in September, 1923, of murdering his wife.

Claiming Buccire had killed an "unfaithful wife during a moment of extreme provocation," Warden P. E. Thomas, of the penitentiary, and Price Russell and Daniel W. Williams, members of the state clemency board, recommended executive clemency for the prisoner.

Judge Walter Mamahon, Cleveland, who tried the case, and Assistant Prosecutor H. E. Parsons, Cuyahoga county, recommended that Buccire's sentence be commuted to manslaughter.

$4,000 BLAZE IN WESTFIELD

Family Flees When Fire Destroys J. O. Smith Home.

An investigation was under way today into the cause of the mysterious fire which destroyed the six-room residence of James O. Smith, in Westfield, three miles north of her along the Y. & O. railroad. The loss is estimated at approximately $4,000 partly covered by insurance.

Smith, who is employed at the Chester tin mill, his wife and two small children were asleep when the fire started. Robert Ross, who lives in the Westfield district, returning to his home about 11 o'clock, discovered the blaze and awakened the family.

Smith found the stairway cut off by flames, but escaped fom the house through an upstairs' window, carrying his two children with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are residing temporarily with relatives in Chester.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE VAN FOSSAN PREDICTS GASOLINE TAX WILL BE INCREASED TO THREE CENTS

The Ohio legislature will increase the gasoline tax from two to three cents a gallon at its present session, State Representative W. H. Van Fossan, Lisbon, who is spending the week-end at his home, predicted today.

Van Fossan, who conferred with East Liverpool friends, is a member of the house tax committee. A caucus session to consider the proposed increase in the gasoline tax was held at Columbus this week, and while no action was taken it was the consensus of opinion that additional revenue must be obtained or road construction will suffer from the lack of funds. Action on the gasoline tax boost proposal will be taken next week, Van Fossan said.

The proposed mortgage tax is now before a committee. Proposed increases in the corporation and excise taxes are also being considered, but are meeting with opposition on the part of manufacturers who assert that industries and big business is being driven ouside Ohio because of the burden of taxation.

Emmons Resolution Killed.

The tax program, Van Fossan said, will begin to take definite shape within the next 10 days.

The resolution, framed by Representative R. W. Emmons of East Rochester, providing for a $25,000,000 bond issue for grade crossing elimination, is believed to have been killed this week when the house highway committee, by a vote of 12 to 4, postponed consideration. It is doubtful if the measure is reported out of committee at this session of the legislators, observers claim.

The Columbiana county legislator will return to Columbus Suuday evening.

Senate in Session.

COLUMBUS, O., March 11.—With the house members enjoying their week-end recess, the Ohio senate will hold a brief session here today.

Speaker O. C. Gray, of the house, today is expected to announce the names of the members comprising the special house committee of eight, authorized at the recent caucus of house Republicans to agree upon a legislative financial program and to report at a caucus Monday of the majority house members.

Before adjourning for the week late Thursday, the house passed six bills and adopted the Kumler joint resolution, already adopted by the senate, memorializing congress to reapportion the membership of the national house of representatives, at Washington, D. C., in accordance with the 1920 census.

The bills passed by the house, all of which now go to the senate, include: By Sullivan, including manufacturers, as well as dealers, under the laws regulating sales of foodstuffs for cattle and poultry; the Burkhardt bill, providing for the process of garnisheeing an executor, guardian, trustees or any person acting in a judiciary capacity; the Claybourne bill authori-

FRENCH SALVATION ARMY LASSIES TO SERVE DOUGHNUTS TO VETS

PHILADELPHIA.—The Champ Elysees, its most popular thoroughfare will be lined with French Salvation Army Lassies serving doughnuts and coffee as in the days of the A. E. F., when the Legionaire go to Paris this September for their annual convention. "Flags" also will be served by numerous K. of C.'s, Y. M. C. A., Red Cross representatives and other welfare workers that endeared themselves to the "doughboys" during the hectic days of 1917 and 1918

The work of the welfare workers of the war days is to be done all over again, James J. Deighan, the French convention officer for this state, announces.

The Legionaires will be away for a month or longer and wherever it is possible the welfare organizations that carried on virtually under the guns of the enemy will be on hand to aid "vets," their wives and children in viewing the spots where the dough boys were billeted in war days.

Pennsylvania, Deighan says, is leading the country in the number of reservations for the Legion pilgrimage to France in September.

The New Binner Side-Clasp Girdle

Wear the corset that suits your figure. You will find it easily if you wear Binner garments.

After all, the main question to be asked about a corset is—"Is it suitable for my figure?"

It is so easy to be pretty. Almost anyone with a little cleverness can be called good-looking. But style makes one woman stand out above all others in a large gathering — it makes her distinctive.

The secret of style is correct corseting — the poise and carriage you get from Binner corsets. These exquisite corsets may be had in a variety of beautiful fabrics.

The new model girdle has a side closing which makes it very desirable. It properly moulds the figure into the accepted mode of today and is especially designed for the average figure type. In fancy brocade and plain satin. Flesh only. Priced from $3.00 to $8.50. In 10, 12 and 14 inch lengths. Raised over diaphragm—well boned.

R. & G. and Binner Corselettes—$2.00 to $10.00.

Madge Evans Hats For Little Ladies.

Every Miss is an important person and should learn the art of selecting the very best hat that is exactly suited to her.

Wearing a pretty hat is only part of the joy of owning it — equally as pleasurable as wearing it is her selection of it.

Before she makes her selection she must understand many things that are necessary to make her happy with her purchase—the many things a well-dressed girl should know when she goes with Mother on that all-important shopping trip—the day she has set aside for the buying of the new hat for the coming season.

She should know the art of selecting the hat which is best suited for her—the hat which, in shape, color and trimming is exactly right.

It is not an easy task—so many things to be thought of. To buy a hat is like framing a picture—an ugly frame spoils the picture just as a charming face can be spoiled by an unbecoming hat. Just as you study the picture, you must study your own face and color of your hair.

The three hats pictured here are among the new Madge Evans styles designed for Spring. There are many, many more and we are sure that every little Miss will be able to select a hat for Spring.

Sizes for girls from 4 to 14 years. In navy and all the new light shades of blue, greens, tans, red, rose and every desirable shade. Smartly trimmed, just as small girls hats should be trimmed.

Priced from $4.00 to $6.00.

The New Binner Side-Clasp Girdle

Wear the corset that suits your figure. You will find it easily if you wear Binner garments.

After all, the main question to be asked about a corset is—"Is it suitable for my figure?"

It is so easy to be pretty. Almost anyone with a little cleverness can be called good-looking. But style makes one woman stand out above all others in a large gathering — it makes her distinctive.

The secret of style is correct corseting — the poise and carriage you get from Binner corsets. These exquisite corsets may be had in a variety of beautiful fabrics.

The new model girdle has a side closing which makes it very desirable. It properly moulds the figure into the accepted mode of today and is especially designed for the average figure type. In fancy brocade and plain satin. Flesh only. Priced from $3.00 to $8.50. In 10, 12 and 14 inch lengths. Raised over diaphragm—well boned.

R. & G. and Binner Corselettes—$2.00 to $10.00.

Madge Evans Hats For Little Ladies.

Every Miss is an important person and should learn the art of selecting the very best hat that is exactly suited to her.

Wearing a pretty hat is only part of the joy of owning it — equally as pleasurable as wearing it is her selection of it.

Before she makes her selection she must understand many things that are necessary to make her happy with her purchase—the many things a well-dressed girl should know when she goes with Mother on that all-important shopping trip—the day she has set aside for the buying of the new hat for the coming season.

She should know the art of selecting the hat which is best suited for her—the hat which, in shape, color and trimming is exactly right.

It is not an easy task—so many things to be thought of. To buy a hat is like framing a picture—an ugly frame spoils the picture just as a charming face can be spoiled by an unbecoming hat. Just as you study the picture, you must study your own face and color of your hair.

The three hats pictured here are among the new Madge Evans styles designed for Spring. There are many, many more and we are sure that every little Miss will be able to select a hat for Spring.

Sizes for girls from 4 to 14 years. In navy and all the new light shades of blue, greens, tans, red, rose and every desirable shade. Smartly trimmed, just as small girls hats should be trimmed.

Priced from $4.00 to $6.00.

Spring Sweaters Prove That Color Leads to Success.

Glowing, brilliant hues, jewel-like tones. You will be altogether delighted with the range of sihades that tint these new sweaters for Spring. The Sweater-and Skirt Costume is to be extremely smart, and if you choose from these, there will be no doubt about the success of yours.

Light weight wools. New and different necklines. Intricate weaves in horizontal stripes. And best of all, the prices are delightfully moderate.

Misses' and Women's V-neck and Student Neck Collar Sweaters—Slip-on style. Stripes and plain. In purple, blues, tan, greens, pink, Chanel red and poudre blue. Priced from $2.95 to $6.75. Sizes 36 to 46.

New Coat Sweaters for misses' and women. Some with collars. Golf Coats without collars. Fancy weaves, zig zag stripes and plain colors. Blues, buff, greens, pink, navy, black and heather mixtures. Sizes 36 to 46. Priced from $2.95 to $6.75.

Paris Inspired Spring Coats For Juniors, Little Women, Misses, Women, Short Stouts and Stylish Stouts

Even before the first signs of Spring come the new coats. Aren't you interested in what the new modes are going to disclose? Wouldn't you like to know what fabrics will be used—the correct lines—the new colors?

Being a woman we are sure you must be—and we extend an invitation to view this collection of Springtime Coats. Here you will find the answer to all your questions, for here the new Spring modes await you.

All the whims and fancies of the mode are found in the new coats. Fashion allows them to express every whim and fancy as they go on their way to capture feminine admiration.

Beginning with severe Sports styles they end in elaborate dressy affairs.

Whether you require a Junior, Little Woman's, Misses', Woman's, Short Stout or Stylish Stout size, we can fit you in the model most suited for your figure.

The new coats are of Kasha, Satin, Faille, Charmeen, Twill-bloom, Jorella, Kashedda, Fancy Mixtures and Plaids.

All the favored shades for Spring, including tans, greys, greens, blues, black, etc.—or these shades charmingly combined in plaids and mixtures.

Some are severely tailored, without fur. Others are attractively trimmed with squirrel, fox, ermine, American broadtail, fitch, calf, twin beaver and mole.

All nicely lined and finished.

Priced from $16.75 to $125.00

Chic Spring Coats For Miss 6-to-14.

Such delightful Coats for Miss 6-to-14—it is difficult to choose. Shall she take the boyish double-breasted affair or the more dressy model? Here's one with a bit of stitching. There's one with fur. Such lovely materials—soft, light and warm—lined to match or contrast.

Fashioned of Kasha, charmeen, novelty plaids and mixtures.

And such colors—rich blues, deep red, green, warm tans, navy and copper.

These are the coats that both Dad and Mother will approve of—Dad of the price and Mother of the quality. And the Miss herself will be more than satisfied with the styles. Priced from $7.50 to $27.50.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, MARCH 11, 1927.

Venerable Jurist

Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, "dean" of the United States supreme court, on his 86th birthday finds himself laden with national honors, richly deserved.

By general consent, this elderly gentleman, son of the original Oliver Wendell Holmes, and no less beloved than his famous father, is rated as the foremost living American jurist. And this not on the basis of past work, done in middle life, but on the solid basis of the work he is still doing. It seems to be the literal truth that Justice Holmes' prime of life is now. No other member of the supreme court, it is said, does more work or better work. No other seems to have the facility of this octogenarian in digesting a difficult case and writing his opinion.

When asked recently when he expected to resign, he replied: "Not until the Almighty himself requests it."

The Almighty is evidently reluctant to part with so useful a servant.

Old Age Annuities

A bill for old age pensions on a national scale has passed the Canadian House of Commons. Meanwhile a comprehensive plan for take care of the country's aged on a more self-respecting basis is being worked out by the minister of labor.

The latter plan counts on paying perhaps one dollar a day for the rest of his life to every worker who reaches the age of 65 years. The fund would be suppled by regular contributions from the worker, the employer, the national government and the provincial government, amounting respectively to 9, 9, 5 and 5 cents a week in the case of a worker starting at the age of 22 years, and naturally rising if the start is made later in life. These small payments might be increased to any desired amount in order to increase the old-age payments above the basic dollar a day.

Some such legislation seems likely to be adopted in Canada before long. It would be regarded as pretty radical in this country. And perhaps it isn't needed so much here.

If our present prosperity continues, surely there should be little difficulty on the part of any normal American in accumulating, during his working life, enough to take care of his old age by established methods of individual savings and investment. Personal thrift is to be encouraged more than philanthropic legislation. Those who cannot or will not save, however, must always be taken care of somehow.

Newspapers In High Scholls

"Any teacher who sees a student with one of these tabloid newspapers will tear up the newspaper and hand the boy a cake of soap. The student will then proceed to wash his hands at the nearest lavatory."

That was the recent decree of the principal of a high school in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Without at all approving of the tabloids for school or home or any other consumption, an interested outsider nevertheless wonders whether the principal has chosen the wisest method of eliminating them from his school, where he is said to have noticed "several" students looking at them. Keeping the pupils so busy with interesting and legitimate occupations that they have no time or inclination for tabloids might seem a better psychological approach than the soap and hand-washing method. Also teaching them to read the regular newspapers, stimulating discussion of important news, using decent papers as supplementary reading for certain courses, should held to create a taste for the right sort of newspapers and a distaste for the obnoxious sort.

Non-music

A young American musician, who has grown up in France, returns to his native land for a brief visit, with queer music in hs pocket and queer ideas in his head. He is described as "a revolutionary composer and a futurist," and the music, if that is the right word, suits the description.

His masterpiece is called "Ballet Mechanique," or "Mechanical Ballad," and is said to make use of player panos, bells, loud-speakers, xylophones and "almost everything except static and the kitchen stove."

"I have not invented new instruments in music," the composer explains, "but what I have tried to do is to utilize the sounds which are frequent about the average American any day in the year."

Heaven protect us from such sounds! What we want to hear is precisely the opposite.

Evidently what the senate needs is some way to filibuster against a filibuster.

Europe is said to be arming again, "for peace." That's what Europe was arming for back in 1913.

There is some dispute as to when winter is over. Probably when the income tax report is filled out.

Some of the folks experimenting with telepathy overlook the fact that before you can read a mind, there must be a mind to read.

A quorum wasn't the only thing the senate needed in those last days.

The Terrible Tempered Mr. Bang— By Fontaine Fox

My Favorite Stories

By IRVIN S. COBB

AN APOLOGY WITH A STINGER

In the latter years of his life Henry James, the American novelist, lived in England. He had a country-house in one of the southern counties. A self-made millionaire bought an adjoining place. The latter was not a particularly attractive neighbor. Starting from humble beginnings, he had made his fortune as a manufacturer of jams, jellies and condiments. But, having been made a knight and having turned country-gentleman, he strove to make the fashionable world forget he ever had been in trade. It was reported that he grew red in the face if fruit were mentioned in his presence.

This person was touchy regarding the dignities of his newest and his present position. He posted trespass signs in conspicuous places on the walls of his private park One day he wrote James a rather curt note stating that James' servants in going to and from the nearby village, were given to crossing a corner of his grounds, and demanding that the pactice cease forthwith.

In reply, the novelist sent a courteous note of apology reading as follows:

My Dear Sir:

I deeply grieved to learn from you that certain of my employees have been invading your preserves. I assure you the offense shall not be repeated.

Yours regretfully,
"Henry James.

"P. S. I beg your pardon for using the word preserves."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 11.—Thoughts while strolling: Broadway theatrical booking agents who hail each other with "Hello Baby!" Charles Winninger, who is in another hit. Harry Richman. Always looking tired. Night clubbing would likely do that.

Kin Hubbard is right—the only way to cross a street these days is with a cow. Must take a lot of finger calousing to play a harp. The Black Bottom dance is about dead. Foolish gyrating anyway. Too much magnificance and too few seats in the movies.

Whatever became of the fellows who hailed a waiter with, "Hey Pop!" Colorful pastry windows. With a frosted telegram on a birthday cake. And flowers with candy petals. Radio Roxy. Batik and brass shops moving north. The soiled white poodles in the neighborhood of the Winter Garden.

And stage hands who wear sweaters and derbies. A fencing school. Nice place to get a dig. Acrobatic school announced "spring term." Ally up! A banjo autographed by celebrities in a pawn shop display. A doughnut and coffeee counter called The Little Ephiourus.

Never see a baby carriage anw more. Father always carries the baby. I never saw a womanly woman who wasn't popular. But flappers cannot realize it. Nor likely care. Why do street car barns have to be so unsightly? Two Central Office men. They have a tell tale look.

I'm tired of jokes about Chicago women. And tabloid newspapers. Sixth Avenue delicatessen stores with their window cats, Valentino clerks and mirrored glitter. The taxi driver who wears a Tom Mix hat. More garages now night clubs with swell names.

Wonder what a skate sharpener does in the summer time. Painters are beginning to bring easels to Central Park. And the toy balloon women are back. About all that is left of winter is to hock the raccoon coat. The stroll is over.

Central Park has a quota of characters just as Fifth Avenue, Broadway and the Bowery. Under the wisteria arbor near 72nd street every pleasant afternoon may be found a pair of twins—elderly men with crisp mustaches, alike as two peas. In the same neighborhood are two ladies who come daily to feed the pigeons and squirrels. Each is on crutches. At the edge of the swan lake an aged man comes every agreeable morning after sun up to read from the Talmud. On the bridle path around 5 o'clock is the actor with the red vest as a part of his costume. Along the benches of the Mall may be found figures seen there year after year and there is the Japanese who visits the menagerie daily—a custom of his for five years. He seems entranced by the buffalo. Then there are the walkers around the gravel path of the reservoir promenade. There are the early morning walkers who used to be joined frequently by Andrew Carnegie, the noon walkers, mostly employes of 5th Avenue stores and those who walk at dusk. The latter are chiefly dog owners of the Central Park and upper 5th Avenue apartment houses. There are many, too, who enjoy moonlight walking—especially the romantically inclined.

Love making in Central Park is not all turtle dove cooing under the thin cool slice of a crescent moon. Recently I sat on a bench with my dog, admiring the beauty of a night. A pair of young lovers, hand in hand, strolled up and occupied a neighboring bench. There seemed to be many whispered confidences and finally her voice broke the stillness sharply with: "That's a lot of hay wire. You get a job and then you can talk about marriage."

Music critics are popularly supposed to be aesthetically high-brow with flowing ties and a poetic pallor. I know of one who is said to have gone tripping from the opera to the news room announcing he was "drunk with rhythm." Most of them I have noticed are about as red corpuscled and virile as prize fight writers—and almost as hard boiled. It is a blase crew often enjoying the material husks as much as the ordinary scribbler. A shining example is James Huncker.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Value of Playgrounds.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 11.—The number of play spaces or playgrounds necessary to meet the needs of children of different ages in a community is indicated by the statement that they are just as important as school buildings, and even more so. Hence the establishment of play grounds should march abreast with or should parallel the establishment or reconstruction of school buildings.

An adequate playground for all the children of the community is an essential part of any modern school plant. For children above school age facilities in addition to the school playground are necessary.

Such are the views of Clark W. Hetherington, professor of physical education in New York university. The size of the playground, he says, is a more technical problem because it requires an understanding of the needs of children. The old criterion of 25 square feet per child, borrowed from the slums of London, is totally inadequate. The size of the playground must be considered and determined by its functions as a community play center for all the children of the community in their social play activities.

Moreover, the large amount of time naturally consumed in these activities to gain development demands a space that will accommodate if possible all the children of the school or community in organized play at one time.

The scientific method of determining the size of a playground for any given school or community, says Professor Hetherington, is to reduce the problem to units of space for unit numbers of children in specified activities in the spaces. The process is to divide the total number of children of the school or any group to be accommodated by the unit number of children of a unit space and multiply the results by the unit space. Thus for an elementary school of 500 the minimum requirement would be two and one half acres, but an adequate provision would be ten acres. For a high school of 500 children the minimum requirement would be five acres, but an adequate provision would be twenty acres.

Financial Problem Involved.

On this basis comparatively few city schools have adequate playgrounds, and many schools can never be so equipped because of the high value of the real estate that would have to be acquired. There is a financial problem involved and school and community budgets will have to change radically. In fact, the first essential change is in the viewpoint of those who make the budgets. A higher realization of the need for the organization of children's play activities will have to come before proper budgets can be secured, but it is believed that with the growing understanding by parents and teachers of the importance of play for the development, health, and character discipline of children there will be a public opinion that will bring this about.

It is to be remembered that practically the whole and sole responsibility in determining whether children play as they should lies with the adults of the community. Adults must see that proper facilities are provided, and that ther are leaders to organize and direct the play. Children do not have the financial resources to secure equipment for their own play. Occasionally, a group of boys manages to get a sketchy outfit for a baseball nine—a ball, bat, and catcher's glove—through their own efforts, and then if they can find a vacant lot they are all set for healthful exercise and recreation. But when children's play is planned and arranged on anything like a comprehensive basis, adults must take hold of the work.

The playground as a community center for play means that large numbers of children of different ages and abilities are concentrated in one place, hence the difficulties in the organization of their play are too great for them to handle. Experience has proved that even college students, when in large numbers, do not have the skill or ability to organize their play activities effectively.

Children, when large numbers are brought together, must be classified according to age and ability. A program of activities must be arranged for the different groups that is adapted to the interests, strength, skill, and needs of each group, and the organization of this program calls for adult insight and technical skill. So, too, must there be adult supervision to insure safety and the avoidance of injury from accidents, as well as to see that the children do not over-indulge or specialize too much in any one interesting activity.

Questions of Manners and Morals.

The playground problem likewise involves questions of manners and morals. Children of good moral habits and who have been well reared are brought together in the community playground with others whose habits are not so good and whose manners are not all that is to be desired. All this is democratic, and may work out for the good of both classes of children, but it is necessary for the character education of the children and their moral safety that they be under able adult supervision.

"Play space in the youth of the generation now passing into old age was plentiful," says Prof. Hetherington. "Whatever was at fault in the play life of the older generation was due to lack of space. Play went on as before and always because of the everlasting natural urge and dynamic drive to action in child nature, and child nature, tradition, and adult example set the forms of the play. Children played at home and they played in convenient community centers of their own selection. Children not only played, they also worked with their parents, and the play and work was a great source of development and therefore of health.

"But times change. Since the childhood of this older generation, social changes due to an evolving, machine-controlled industrial civilization began to squeeze the educational juice out of child life. It destroyed the old home, it changed family customs even in the country, it built congested cities, and in these cities it eliminated spaces in which children could play. In time, child life, as expressed in vigorous outdoor play, broke down, and surveys showed that instead of playing, children were idling or engaged in worthless amusements."

This state of affairs aroused teachers and parents and in 1906, through the organization of the Playground and Recreation association of America, a systematic reconstruction of the play life of children was instituted. The significant thing about this playground movement, it is stated, is that it was conceived, promoted, financed, organized, and managed by adults. In a word, adults deliberately and with intention assumed the responsibility for an efficient organization of children's play and made it a responsibility of the community.

The big idea is to see that all the children of the community have equal opportunities for healthful play, and that they be given adult direction and supervision to the end that their activities will do them the most possible good.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, MARCH 11, 1927.

Venerable Jurist

Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, "dean" of the United States supreme court, on his 86th birthday finds himself laden with national honors, richly deserved.

By general consent, this elderly gentleman, son of the original Oliver Wendell Holmes, and no less beloved than his famous father, is rated as the foremost living American jurist. And this not on the basis of past work, done in middle life, but on the solid basis of the work he is still doing. It seems to be the literal truth that Justice Holmes' prime of life is now. No other member of the supreme court, it is said, does more work or better work. No other seems to have the facility of this octogenarian in digesting a difficult case and writing his opinion.

When asked recently when he expected to resign, he replied: "Not until the Almighty himself requests it."

The Almighty is evidently reluctant to part with so useful a servant.

Old Age Annuities

A bill for old age pensions on a national scale has passed the Canadian House of Commons. Meanwhile a comprehensive plan for take care of the country's aged on a more self-respecting basis is being worked out by the minister of labor.

The latter plan counts on paying perhaps one dollar a day for the rest of his life to every worker who reaches the age of 65 years. The fund would be suppled by regular contributions from the worker, the employer, the national government and the provincial government, amounting respectively to 9, 9, 5 and 5 cents a week in the case of a worker starting at the age of 22 years, and naturally rising if the start is made later in life. These small payments might be increased to any desired amount in order to increase the old-age payments above the basic dollar a day.

Some such legislation seems likely to be adopted in Canada before long. It would be regarded as pretty radical in this country. And perhaps it isn't needed so much here.

If our present prosperity continues, surely there should be little difficulty on the part of any normal American in accumulating, during his working life, enough to take care of his old age by established methods of individual savings and investment. Personal thrift is to be encouraged more than philanthropic legislation. Those who cannot or will not save, however, must always be taken care of somehow.

Newspapers In High Scholls

"Any teacher who sees a student with one of these tabloid newspapers will tear up the newspaper and hand the boy a cake of soap. The student will then proceed to wash his hands at the nearest lavatory."

That was the recent decree of the principal of a high school in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Without at all approving of the tabloids for school or home or any other consumption, an interested outsider nevertheless wonders whether the principal has chosen the wisest method of eliminating them from his school, where he is said to have noticed "several" students looking at them. Keeping the pupils so busy with interesting and legitimate occupations that they have no time or inclination for tabloids might seem a better psychological approach than the soap and hand-washing method. Also teaching them to read the regular newspapers, stimulating discussion of important news, using decent papers as supplementary reading for certain courses, should held to create a taste for the right sort of newspapers and a distaste for the obnoxious sort.

Non-music

A young American musician, who has grown up in France, returns to his native land for a brief visit, with queer music in hs pocket and queer ideas in his head. He is described as "a revolutionary composer and a futurist," and the music, if that is the right word, suits the description.

His masterpiece is called "Ballet Mechanique," or "Mechanical Ballad," and is said to make use of player panos, bells, loud-speakers, xylophones and "almost everything except static and the kitchen stove."

"I have not invented new instruments in music," the composer explains, "but what I have tried to do is to utilize the sounds which are frequent about the average American any day in the year."

Heaven protect us from such sounds! What we want to hear is precisely the opposite.

Evidently what the senate needs is some way to filibuster against a filibuster.

Europe is said to be arming again, "for peace." That's what Europe was arming for back in 1913.

There is some dispute as to when winter is over. Probably when the income tax report is filled out.

Some of the folks experimenting with telepathy overlook the fact that before you can read a mind, there must be a mind to read.

A quorum wasn't the only thing the senate needed in those last days.

AN APOLOGY WITH A STINGER

In the latter years of his life Henry James, the American novelist, lived in England. He had a country-house in one of the southern counties. A self-made millionaire bought an adjoining place. The latter was not a particularly attractive neighbor. Starting from humble beginnings, he had made his fortune as a manufacturer of jams, jellies and condiments. But, having been made a knight and having turned country-gentleman, he strove to make the fashionable world forget he ever had been in trade. It was reported that he grew red in the face if fruit were mentioned in his presence.

This person was touchy regarding the dignities of his newest and his present position. He posted trespass signs in conspicuous places on the walls of his private park One day he wrote James a rather curt note stating that James' servants in going to and from the nearby village, were given to crossing a corner of his grounds, and demanding that the pactice cease forthwith.

In reply, the novelist sent a courteous note of apology reading as follows:

My Dear Sir:

I deeply grieved to learn from you that certain of my employees have been invading your preserves. I assure you the offense shall not be repeated.

Yours regretfully,
"Henry James.

"P. S. I beg your pardon for using the word preserves."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 11.—Thoughts while strolling: Broadway theatrical booking agents who hail each other with "Hello Baby!" Charles Winninger, who is in another hit. Harry Richman. Always looking tired. Night clubbing would likely do that.

Kin Hubbard is right—the only way to cross a street these days is with a cow. Must take a lot of finger callousing to play a harp. The Black Bottom dance is about dead. Foolish gyrating anyway. Too much magnificance and too few seats in the movies.

Whatever became of the fellows who hailed a waiter with, "Hey Pop!" Colorful pastry windows. With a frosted telegram on a birthday cake. And flowers with candy petals. Radio Roxy. Batik and brass shops moving north. The soiled white poodles in the neighborhood of the Winter Garden.

And stage hands who wear sweaters and derbies. A fencing school. Nice place to get a dig. Acrobatic school announced "spring term." Ally up! A banjo autographed by celebrities in a pawn shop display. A doughnut and coffeee counter called The Little Ephiourus.

Never see a baby carriage anw more. Father always carries the baby. I never saw a womanly woman who wasn't popular. But flappers cannot realize it. Nor likely care. Why do street car barns have to be so unsightly? Two Central Office men. They have a tell tale look.

I'm tired of jokes about Chicago gunmen. And tabloid newspapers. Sixth Avenue delicatessen stores with their window cats, Valentino clerks and mirrored glitter. The taxi driver who wears a Tom Mix hat. More garages now night clubs with swell names.

Wonder what a skate sharpener does in the summer time. Painters are beginning to bring easels to Central Park. And the toy balloon women are back. About all that is left of winter is to hock the raccoon coat. The stroll is over.

Central Park has a quota of characters just as Fifth Avenue, Broadway and the Bowery. Under the wisteria arbor near 72nd street every pleasant afternoon may be found a pair of twins—elderly men with crisp mustaches, alike as two peas. In the same neighborhood are two ladies who come daily to feed the pigeons and squirrels. Each is on crutches. At the edge of the swan lake an aged man comes every agreeable morning after sun up to read from the Talmud. On the bridle path around 5 o'clock is the actor with the red vest as a part of his costume. Along the benches of the Mall may be found figures seen there year after year and there is the Japanese who visits the menagerie daily—a custom of his for five years. He seems entranced by the buffalo. Then there are the walkers around the gravel path of the reservoir promenade. There are the early morning walkers who used to be joined frequently by Andrew Carnegie, the noon walkers, mostly employes of 5th Avenue stores and those who walk at dusk. The latter are chiefly dog owners of the Central Park and upper 5th Avenue apartment houses. There are many, too, who enjoy moonlight walking—especially the romantically inclined.

Love making in Central Park is not all turtle dove cooing under the thin cool slice of a crescent moon. Recently I sat on a bench with my dog, admiring the beauty of a night. A pair of young lovers, hand in hand, strolled up and occupied a neighboring bench. There seemed to be many whispered confidences and finally her voice broke the stillness sharply with: "That's a lot of hay wire. You get a job and then you can talk about marriage."

Music critics are popularly supposed to be aesthetically high-brow with flowing ties and a poetic pallor. I know of one who is said to have gone tripping from the opera to the news room announcing he was "drunk with rhythm." Most of them I have noticed are about as red corpuscled and virile as prize fight writers—and almost as hard boiled. It is a blase crew often enjoying the material husks as much as the ordinary scribbler. A shining example is James Huncker.

Fat Broilers In Eight Weeks!

Just suppose you started with 500 chicks, costing about 20c a piece or $100.00. Your feed bill for eight weeks would be around $38.00—total cost $138.00.

Let us say 200 of the chicks are cockerels. Tuxedo-fed for eight weeks, they're now market broilers worth at least 80c each or $160.00! Eight weeks from the start and you clear a profit of $22.00 and still have 300 pullets that cost you nothing! Sure there's money in poultry if you feed Tuxedo after chicks are 48 hours old and stick to it all the way. If you haven't tried Tuxedo yet, start today. We recommend Tuxedo Feeds.

Fat Broilers In Eight Weeks!

Just suppose you started with 500 chicks, costing about 20c a piece or $100.00. Your feed bill for eight weeks would be around $38.00—total cost $138.00.

Let us say 200 of the chicks are cockerels. Tuxedo-fed for eight weeks, they're now market broilers worth at least 80c each or $160.00! Eight weeks from the start and you clear a profit of $22.00 and still have 300 pullets that cost you nothing! Sure there's money in poultry if you feed Tuxedo after chicks are 48 hours old and stick to it all the way. If you haven't tried Tuxedo yet, start today. We recommend Tuxedo Feeds.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy manifested during our recent bereavement in the death of our father and brother, George B. Lowry.

Especially do we thank Rev. K. J. Stewart, D. D., for his inspiring and comforting funeral service, the pianist and singers, all who sent flowers, and all who contributed in any manner to our comfort.

THE FAMILY.

THIS SCOURGE WAS DRAGGING HIM DOWN

ALL-BRAN gave him new lease on life when it checked constipation

No matter how chronic constipation has become—no one need give up hope of relief. Read Mr. Williams' cheery message:

"I am on the down-grade in life. Never had any sickness, but of late years have been troubled with constipation. Began to make up my mind that I was about done up. Have taken tablets, eaten fruits, etc., but did not get much help. Began to use your ALL-BRAN twice a day. Have gained 5 pounds. Feel like a fighting cock. Bowels are regular. You have certainly done a lot for humanity."

L. C. WILLIAMS
Rushville, N. Y.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend Kellogg's because it is 100% bran—100% effective.

Delicious with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Ready to eat. Fine in cooking. Sold and served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Recipes on package.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy manifested during our recent bereavement in the death of our father and brother, George B. Lowry.

Especially do we thank Rev. K. J. Stewart, D. D., for his inspiring and comforting funeral service, the pianist and singers, all who sent flowers, and all who contributed in any manner to our comfort.

THE FAMILY.

THIS SCOURGE WAS DRAGGING HIM DOWN

ALL-BRAN gave him new lease on life when it checked constipation

No matter how chronic constipation has become—no one need give up hope of relief. Read Mr. Williams' cheery message:

"I am on the down-grade in life. Never had any sickness, but of late years have been troubled with constipation. Began to make up my mind that I was about done up. Have taken tablets, eaten fruits, etc., but did not get much help. Began to use your ALL-BRAN twice a day. Have gained 5 pounds. Feel like a fighting cock. Bowels are regular. You have certainly done a lot for humanity."

L. C. WILLIAMS
Rushville, N. Y.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend Kellogg's because it is 100% bran—100% effective.

Delicious with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Ready to eat. Fine in cooking. Sold and served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Recipes on package.

POLICE DOG, TRIED FOR MURDER, FOUND NOT GUILTY OF KILLING CAT

CANTON, N. Y.—Lona, the police-dog, cousin of the great Strongheart, owned by Miss Martha Sansom of the St. Lawrence University Athletic Staff, was tried for murder in Justice of the Peace Leon G. Grary's court. Lona was charged with killing a cat.

A plea of not guilty was entered by her owner, she was given a trial and found not guilty.

Complaint was entered with Frank Ellwood, town clark, by Mrs. Emma Smith of Pine street, that her black and white cat had been killed by a dog. Ellwood directed her to Justice Grary's who issued a warrant for Lona's arrest.

The hearing was for Miss Sansom to show cause why Lona should not pay the penalty for causing the cat's death. Mrs. Sansom testified that Tuesday the dog was with her in her home from the middle of the afternoon to 9 o'clock at night, and therefore had no chance to go hunting for cats.

Justice Grary ruled that the evidence against Lona was not sufficiently strong to warrant conviction and the prisoner was discharged.

Another way to become cheerful is to visit the country and observe the acres of grass you don't have to mow.

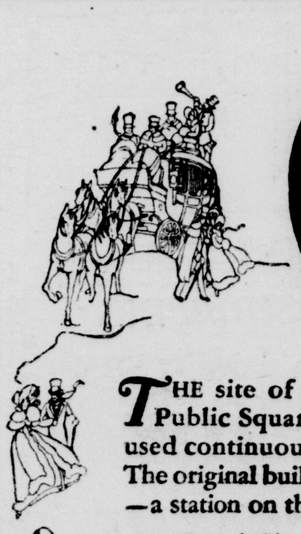
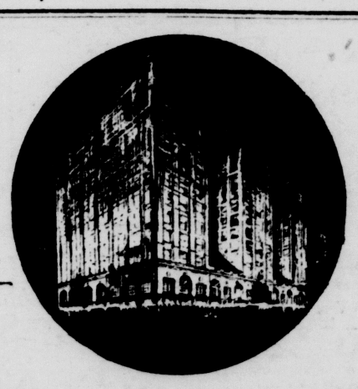
412-414 Erie Bldg., Cleveland, Ohio.





THE site of Hotel Cleveland, on the Public Square of Cleveland, has been used continuously for hotels since 1802. The original building was Mowrey's Tavern—a station on the old Post Road.

In Hotel Cleveland—the most modern successor to a long line of famous hotels—you'll find the same hearty hospitality, the same friendly helpfulness of those old coaching days. We like to see to it that you enjoy your stay here.

FRENCH WINE TRADE HIT BY PROHIBITION

Champagne Makers Feel Loss of Sales in United States.

CANADIANS BUY

Exporters Insist They Have no Dealings With Bootleggers.

PARIS.—Three-fourth of the so-called French wines, champagnes and liquor distributed by American bootleggers are poor and sometimes harmful imitations.

Bootleggers prefer to handle liquids of strong alcoholic content because a little goes a long way in the fabrication of concoctions resembling slightly in taste and color many pre-war and pre-prohibition delicacies.

The American market is almost a total loss to French wine producers, nor are other markets taking sufficient additional supplies to make up the deficit.

Count Bertrand de Mun, member of the French Chamber of Deputies and creator and secretary of the French Wine Exporters' Commission, thus sizes up present conditions in the French wine industry in so far as America is concerned.

American Orders.

"Occasionally we have a big order from Canada, Mexico or the Bahamas, which we believe may be destined for the United States," says Count de Mun. "But the consignment is always paid for on delivery at Havre or Bordeaux where it goes from there doesn't interest us.

"French exporters have no dealings with American bootleggers. The bootleggers prefer to work through intermediaries, thus dividing the risk.

"I doubt if much of the French product ever enters the United States. Bootleggers' profits on stronger spirits are so much greater and their risks are less since the quantity can be less but still appreciable."

The champagne industry, in which the Count de Mun is particularly interested, since he is connected with the Veuve Cliquot Ponsardin Company, has been especially hard hit by prohibition. Before prohibition the United States took four and a half million bottles annually out of a total production of thirty million bottles.

The Count de Mun has only faint hopes that the prohibition amendment will ever be repealed. But he expects the Volstead Enforcement Act to be modified permitting the importation, sale and consumption of French wines.

France to Stay Wet.

"America will realize eventually that the prohibition experience is based upon formidable error," he declared. "The error is the prohibition of healthful products with those which are injurious and harmful. French wines, which have proved themselves beneficial over several centuries, eventually will be admitted."

Asked if he believed France would ever adopt prohibition the Count replied with an explosive, "Certainly not."

"France is a nation of old culture," he said, "which has always produced wine and has always known how to appreciate and consume the wines she produced. She does not suffer from the inconvenience of not knowing how to use wine.

"France knows perfectly well that the consumption of wine prevents alcoholism."

British Pastor Plans To Run Cabaret Club On Sunday Nights

WOLVERHAMPTON, Eng.—In an effort to mitigate the evil of thousands of young people parading the streets in the center of the town on Sunday evenings, the Rev. G. D. Walker, the pastor of the Wolverhampton Presbyterian church proposes to run a Sunday night club on cabaret lines in his church lecture hall.

Rev. Walker announced his plan at the local police court when over thirty young people were summoned for causing an obstruction on the sidewalks. He proposes to give a two-hour show, with a cafe-bar as a sideline for refreshment.

CHILD LOST REST AT NIGHT

Had Bad Case of Eczema. Healed by Cuticura.

"When my sister was a baby she had a very bad case of eczema. It broke out in little blisters on her head and arms. The blisters would break and water would come from them, causing the trouble to spread until it was just one sore eruption all over her head. Her hair fell out, and she lost her rest at night.

"My mother began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using two cakes of Soap and two boxes of Ointment my sister was healed." (Signed) Miss Flossie Brown, Rt. 4, Nashville, Ind.

Prevent pimples by daily use of Cuticura Soap, assisted by touches of Cuticura Ointment as needed to soothe and heal.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. H, Malden, Mass." Cuticura Shaving Stick 25c.

ROY WALLEN DEFENSE SCORES IN MURDER TRIAL

WITNESSES SAY SLAIN MAN WAS QUARRELSOME

Former Wellsville Man Tells of Alleged Threat.

KIN ON STAND

Rodney Ogle, it is Claimed, Hinted "I'll Kill You."

Defense witnesses in the trial of Roy Wallen, 33, coal miner, of East Salineville, charged with first degree murder in the death of Rodney Ogle, 57, also a miner, who was shot down in his home on Feb. 6 last, testified in common pleas court, Lisbon, late yesterday afternoon, that the slain man was quarrelsome and had made threats against the life of the defendant.

Joseph Hannum, owner of the North Branch Coal company's mine declared that he did not go to the Ogle house on the night of the fatal shooting "for fear he (Ogle) might rise up and kill me."

Wallen's stepfather, E. R. Davis, of Covington, Ky., but formerly of Wellsville and East Liverpool, swore that while painting a sign on the east of the East Salineville coal mine tipple in 1923, he caught Ogle pointing a gun through a crack in a barn. He also said that Ogle had said to him "You had better get him (meaning Wallen) out of here or you will find him dead some of these days."

George L. Davis, a brother of E. R. Davis, and employed as a street car conductor in East Liverpool, testified during a 10-minute stay on the witness stand that he saw Mrs. Rose Householder, Wallen's sister-in-law, who gave damaging testimony against the defendant yesterday morning, in the court house lobby talking with her sister when the grand jury, which indicted Wallen, was in session. He said, however, that he did not hear the conversation.

Sheriff on Witness Stand.

After D. F. Cobbs, of the county surveyor's office, had identified a floor plan of the Ogle home, which Judge William D. Duncan, of Findlay, presiding at the trial, permitted to be introduced in evidence over the objection of defense counsel, Sheriff George Wright was called to the witness chair.

"When Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter and I reached the Ogle home shortly after 12 o'clock the morning of Feb. 7 we found Ogle lying outside the door on the east side of his home with his hands lifted and backward from his head," Wright testified said under direct examination by Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes.

"Ogle was dead. A dog was lying between his outstretched legs. We went into the home and found a rifle and a shot gun on the floor, with the barrel of each pointing from the sitting room to the doorway leading into the kitchen."

Brookes took a rifle and a single-barrel shotgun to the witness stand, and these were identified by the witness as those taken from the Ogle home. They were introduced as exhibits of the state.

"Both the rifle and the shotgun had ben recently fired. We then went to the Hannum home, where we found Wallen and his wife and Hannum. When we knocked at the door, Wallen answered the summons, and I asked him what he knew about the shooting. Wallen said he 'did it.'"

Sheriff Wright then pulled from his outer coat pocket an automatic Colt revolver and two empty sheels and one loaded 25-calibre shell. The witness read into the record an identification of these shells by certain marks.

"This is the revolver or pistol Wallen said he used," Wright testified. "We took Wallen back to the Ogle home and Wallen said to us that 'Ogle fired a rifle over my head when he was standing between the stove and the table in the kitchen.' Wallen claimed all shots went into the kitchen, but the witness said that he could not observe any bullet marks in the wall of the kitchen." Deputy Kindsvatter and I examined the walls in the kitchen but we did not find any shot marks," Wright said.

The floor plan map that had been previously introduced was laid on the floor of the court room by Brookes and the witness was asked to leave the witness stand and indicate on the plan where the rifle, shotgun and three shells were found.

As this inquiry was progressing Judge Duncan left the bench and stood in the centre aisle of the jury box.

Observed Bullet Holes in Floor.

"We later observed bullet holes in the floor of the sitting room of the Ogle home, and Wednesday we observed that one of these had been plugged with a substance resembling hair and dirt," Wright said. "When Deputy Kindsvatter and I first went into the Ogle home we saw four bottles of beer in the sitting room and a quart bottle containing about two inches of beer sitting on the kitchen table. These bottles were not there when the jury went to the home Wednesday. The home was as dirty Wednesday when the jury was there as it was the night we first entered it, but the bottles were missing.

"We saw the guns the first time we visited the house. I asked Wallen how long it had been since he had been in the Lisbon jail, and he asked me if I'd talked with Ogle. I said to Wallen that Ogle was dead. Wallen did not show any emotion.

"We took Wallen to the Ogle home and viewed the body which was still lying outside. We then went into the Ogle house, and remained there 10 or 15 minutes. We found the bullet holes in the floor of the sitting room when we visited the Ogle home at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the day after he was shot, but we picked up a loaded and an empty shell that night and found the other empty shell, the next day. We didn't disturb a thing the first time we went into the house. Marshall Roucks of Salineville was with us that Sunday night."

Spectator Faints.

Just as Sheriff Wright concluded his testimony, Mrs. John Clager of Jordonville, a suburb of Lisbon, a spectator, fainted and fell to the floor. She was picked up and carried to the court chamber in the rear of the court room. In about 30 minutes she was revived, and returned to the court room.

James McGarry, an aged bachelor residing some distance from the Ogle home, followed Sheriff Wright on the witness stand. He testified under examination by Defense Attorney W. A. O'Grady that Wallen came to his home the night of Feb. 6, shortly after 9 o'clock and was accompanied by his wife Angeline. Responding to a knock at the door, McGarry said he was asked if Rose Householder was there and that Angeline wanted Rose to come out as "Angeline had something to say to her."

Mr. McGarry said that he told Wallen that Rose was not going out. Angeline went into the house and Wallen said that "she is my wife," and that he then said that "he was going to take her out of there and let her go to hell." The witness testified that the wife of Wallen was weeping when she entered his home.

Under cross-examination by O'Grady the witness testified that Rose Householder got milk at their home when her family lived in that neighborhood several years ago and that she has visited the home four or five times since moving away from that locality.

"You're not related to Rose, are you?" the witness was asked.

"I'm not married," he said.

The witness said that he was Ogle's first cousin. He testified that Rose Householder had told him that she feared Wallen was going to shoot her, and when this remark was made to him Wallen was then standing on the porch of the McGarry home. Rose was very nervous, and I told Wallen I wat not going to let any one talk to her except the prosecuting attorney and the sheriff. She left for Kensington with her brother, Paul, the next morning, taking the 9 o'clock train from Salineville, and at Kensington got a bus and went to Lisbon.

The witness declared that Paul Lagara, a brother of Rose's said that Wallen had picked his wife from the floor of the Ogle home by the ears, and that Paul had said to him, "Wallen did the shooting."

He said that he had not been at the Ogle home for six months, and that when he was there last he saw a "target gun" hanging on the wall. He related that Rose and her brother, Paul, had left their home the next morning and that Ogle had lived in the house where he was shot for about a month.

Miss McGarry Testifies.

Miss Mary Jane McGarry, a sister of the preceding witness, testified she was 58 years of age. She said under direct examination that she and Rodney Ogle had been school mates in their youth, and that Ogle had last lived about one and one-half miles from their home. She declared that Rose and her brother arrived at their home at 9:05 o'clock the night of Feb. 6 and that Rose was excited. She related Rose said she had been at the Ogle home and had "told us what had happened."

"Angeline and Wallen came to our house about 10 o'clock," Miss McGarry continued, "and Wallen wanted to know if Rose was there. Wallen said Angeline wanted to talk to Rose. I told Rose Angeline was at the door but she would not go out. Wallen said there had been a little trouble, and I said if there had been a little trouble it would blow over by morning. Angeline then went into the house crying, and when Angeline didn't come out Wallen said, 'to hell with her.'"

Cross-examined by O'Grady, she testified that Rose last visited them on May 30. She related that Sheriff Wright and Deputy Kindsvatter called at their home and they had talked with Paul, and that Deputy Kindsvatter had given Rose money to pay her train fare from Salineville to Kensington, and also that of her brother, Paul, and the bus fare from Kensington to Lisbon. Miss McGarry said that she did not attend the funeral of Ogle, but that her broher had advised her that "Rose was there." She also testified that Rose had told her that she and her orother and run from the kitchen door of the Ogle home just before the shooting.

State Rests Case.

Sheriff Wright was recalled by the state at this time and testified that the automatic revolver he had obtained from Wallen the night Ogle was shot had a magazine in it and that the magazine was loaded with five shells. The magazine was then introduced as a state exhibit.

At this point all exhibits previously introduced during testimony by the state, including the blood-stained shirt taken from the body of Ogle, were put in the record. Counsel for the defense objected to the introduction of the shirt.

The state then rested its case.

It was 3:15 o'clock when E. R. Davis, stepfather of Wallen, was placed on the stand by the defense as its first witness. Examined by O'Grady, he testified that he had resided in East Liverpool and Wellsville, and is employed as an interior decorator. He said that in 1923 he was engaged by Joe Hannum to paint

ROY WALLEN DEFENSE SCORES IN MURDER TRIAL

WITNESSES SAY SLAIN MAN WAS QUARRELSOME

Former Wellsville Man Tells of Alleged Threat.

KIN ON STAND

Rodney Ogle, it is Claimed, Hinted "I'll Kill You."

Defense witnesses in the trial of Roy Wallen, 33, coal miner, of East Salineville, charged with first degree murder in the death of Rodney Ogle, 57, also a miner, who was shot down in his home on Feb. 6 last, testified in common pleas court, Lisbon, late yesterday afternoon, that the slain man was quarrelsome and had made threats against the life of the defendant.

Joseph Hannum, owner of the North Branch Coal company's mine declared that he did not go to the Ogle house on the night of the fatal shooting "for fear he (Ogle) might rise up and kill me."

Wallen's stepfather, E. R. Davis, of Covington, Ky., but formerly of Wellsville and East Liverpool, swore that while painting a sign on the east of the East Salineville coal mine tipple in 1923, he caught Ogle pointing a gun through a crack in a barn. He also said that Ogle had said to him "You had better get him (meaning Wallen) out of here or you will find him dead some of these days."

George L. Davis, a brother of E. R. Davis, and employed as a street car conductor in East Liverpool, testified during a 10-minute stay on the witness stand that he saw Mrs. Rose Householder, Wallen's sister-in-law, who gave damaging testimony against the defendant yesterday morning, in the court house lobby talking with her sister when the grand jury, which indicted Wallen, was in session. He said, however, that he did not hear the conversation.

Sheriff on Witness Stand.

After D. F. Cobbs, of the county surveyor's office, had identified a floor plan of the Ogle home, which Judge William D. Duncan, of Findlay, presiding at the trial, permitted to be introduced in evidence over the objection of defense counsel, Sheriff George Wright was called to the witness chair.

"When Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter and I reached the Ogle home shortly after 12 o'clock the morning of Feb. 7 we found Ogle lying outside the door on the east side of his home with his hands lifted and backward from his head," Wright testified said under direct examination by Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes.

"Ogle was dead. A dog was lying between his outstretched legs. We went into the home and found a rifle and a shot gun on the floor, with the barrel of each pointing from the sitting room to the doorway leading into the kitchen."

Brookes took a rifle and a single-barrel shotgun to the witness stand, and these were identified by the witness as those taken from the Ogle home. They were introduced as exhibits of the state.

"Both the rifle and the shotgun had been recently fired. We then went to the Hannum home, where we found Wallen and his wife and Hannum. When we knocked at the door, Wallen answered the summons, and I asked him what he knew about the shooting. Wallen said he 'did it.'"

Sheriff Wright then pulled from his outer coat pocket an automatic Colt revolver and two empty sheels and one loaded 25-calibre shell. The witness read into the record an identification of these shells by certain marks.

"This is the revolver or pistol Wallen said he used," Wright testified. "We took Wallen back to the Ogle home and Wallen said to us that 'Ogle fired a rifle over my head when he was standing between the stove and the table in the kitchen.' Wallen claimed all shots went into the kitchen, but the witness said that he could not observe any bullet marks in the wall of the kitchen." Deputy Kindsvatter and I examined the walls in the kitchen but we did not find any shot marks," Wright said.

The floor plan map that had been previously introduced was laid on the floor of the court room by Brookes and the witness was asked to leave the witness stand and indicate on the plan where the rifle, shotgun and three shells were found.

As this inquiry was progressing Judge Duncan left the bench and stood in the centre aisle of the jury box.

Observed Bullet Holes in Floor.

"We later observed bullet holes in the floor of the sitting room of the Ogle home, and Wednesday we observed that one of these had been plugged with a substance resembling hair and dirt," Wright said. "When Deputy Kindsvatter and I first went into the Ogle home we saw four bottles of beer in the sitting room and a quart bottle containing about two inches of beer sitting on the kitchen table. These bottles were not there when the jury went to the home Wednesday. The home was as dirty Wednesday when the jury was there as it was the night we first entered it, but the bottles were missing.

"We saw the guns the first time we visited the house. I asked Wallen how long it had been since he had been in the Lisbon jail, and he asked me if I'd talked with Ogle. I said to Wallen that Ogle was dead. Wallen did not show any emotion.

"We took Wallen to the Ogle home and viewed the body which was still lying outside. We then went into the Ogle house, and remained there 10 or 15 minutes. We found the bullet holes in the floor of the sitting room when we visited the Ogle home at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the day after he was shot, but we picked up a loaded and an empty shell that night and found the other empty shell, the next day. We didn't disturb a thing the first time we went into the house. Marshall Roucks of Salineville was with us that Sunday night."

Spectator Faints.

Just as Sheriff Wright concluded his testimony, Mrs. John Clager of Jordonville, a suburb of Lisbon, a spectator, fainted and fell to the floor. She was picked up and carried to the court chamber in the rear of the court room. In about 30 minutes she was revived, and returned to the court room.

James McGarry, an aged bachelor residing some distance from the Ogle home, followed Sheriff Wright on the witness stand. He testified under examination by Defense Attorney W. A. O'Grady that Wallen came to his home the night of Feb. 6, shortly after 9 o'clock and was accompanied by his wife Angeline. Responding to a knock at the door, McGarry said he was asked if Rose Householder was there and that Angeline wanted Rose to come out as "Angeline had something to say to her."

Mr. McGarry said that he told Wallen that Rose was not going out. Angeline went into the house and Wallen said that "she is my wife," and that he then said that "he was going to take her out of there and let her go to hell." The witness testified that the wife of Wallen was weeping when she entered his home.

Under cross-examination by O'Grady the witness testified that Rose Householder got milk at their home when her family lived in that neighborhood several years ago and that she has visited the home four or five times since moving away from that locality.

"You're not related to Rose, are you?" the witness was asked.

"I'm not married," he said.

The witness said that he was Ogle's first cousin. He testified that Rose Householder had told him that she feared Wallen was going to shoot her, and when this remark was made to him Wallen was then standing on the porch of the McGarry home. Rose was very nervous, and I told Wallen I wat not going to let any one talk to her except the prosecuting attorney and the sheriff. She left for Kensington with her brother, Paul, the next morning, taking the 9 o'clock train from Salineville, and at Kensington got a bus and went to Lisbon.

The witness declared that Paul Lagara, a brother of Rose's said that Wallen had picked his wife from the floor of the Ogle home by the ears, and that Paul had said to him, "Wallen did the shooting."

He said that he had not been at the Ogle home for six months, and that when he was there last he saw a "target gun" hanging on the wall. He related that Rose and her brother, Paul, had left their home the next morning and that Ogle had lived in the house where he was shot for about a month.

Miss McGarry Testifies.

Miss Mary Jane McGarry, a sister of the preceding witness, testified she was 58 years of age. She said under direct examination that she and Rodney Ogle had been school mates in their youth, and that Ogle had last lived about one and one-half miles from their home. She declared that Rose and her brother arrived at their home at 9:05 o'clock the night of Feb. 6 and that Rose was excited. She related Rose said she had been at the Ogle home and had "told us what had happened."

"Angeline and Wallen came to our house about 10 o'clock," Miss McGarry continued, "and Wallen wanted to know if Rose was there. Wallen said Angeline wanted to talk to Rose. I told Rose Angeline was at the door but she would not go out. Wallen said there had been a little trouble, and I said if there had been a little trouble it would blow over by morning. Angeline then went into the house crying, and when Angeline didn't come out Wallen said, 'to hell with her.'"

Cross-examined by O'Grady, she testified that Rose last visited them on May 30. She related that Sheriff Wright and Deputy Kindsvatter called at their home and they had talked with Paul, and that Deputy Kindsvatter had given Rose money to pay her train fare from Salineville to Kensington, and also that of her brother, Paul, and the bus fare from Kensington to Lisbon. Miss McGarry said that she did not attend the funeral of Ogle, but that her broher had advised her that "Rose was there." She also testified that Rose had told her that she and her brother and run from the kitchen door of the Ogle home just before the shooting.

State Rests Case.

Sheriff Wright was recalled by the state at this time and testified that the automatic revolver he had obtained from Wallen the night Ogle was shot had a magazine in it and that the magazine was loaded with five shells. The magazine was then introduced as a state exhibit.

At this point all exhibits previously introduced during testimony by the state, including the blood-stained shirt taken from the body of Ogle, were put in the record. Counsel for the defense objected to the introduction of the shirt.

The state then rested its case.

It was 3:15 o'clock when E. R. Davis, stepfather of Wallen, was placed on the stand by the defense as its first witness. Examined by O'Grady, he testified that he had resided in East Liverpool and Wellsville, and is employed as an interior decorator. He said that in 1923 he was engaged by Joe Hannum to paint

CHICAGO "CLEAN-UP LAWYER" MAY GO TO CANTON

MAYOR SEEKS ROACH'S AID IN MAZER QUIZ

Inquiry Into Police Role in Mellett Plot Launched.

TRAIL HIGHER-UP

Fourth Man Indicted is Given Immunity Bath.

CANTON, O., March 11.—Possibility that Joseph R. Roach, Chicago "clean-up attorney," might be recalled to Canton to aid Mayor Stanford M. Swarts' investigation into Louis Mazer's allegations regarding a police official, in connection with the Don R. Mellett murder, loomed here today.

Mazer was the third man indicted for the murder of Mellett, Canton publisher, here last July. His trial was originally scheduled for March 16, but he has now been promised immunity for having turned state's evidence.

In his story, made public last Tuesday, Mazer said he and Floyd Streitenberger, former Canton detective, and fourth man indicted for alleged complicity in the crime, had obtained Mellett's home address from a present member of the Canton police force.

Roach was brought here shortly after the murder, by Mayor Swarts and the Canton Daily News. He obtained evidence which resulted in an affidavit charging Mazer with murder.

On this action, it is said, the entire plot now unfolding, is hinged.

Immediately following the filing of the affidavit against Mazer, Chief of Police S. A. Lengel and Detective Streitenberger were ousted, among others, from service, and several detectives were demoted for associating with criminals, and incompetency.

Speaks To His Family.

Several hours before his death Frick rallied and was able to speak a few words to members of his family. He used the breath that his friends forced in and out of his wasted lungs to whisper words of good cheer to those he loved.

"Don't worry, Mom," he said to his mother. "I've got a fighting chance."

His father said that as soon as he got well they would have a party for him.

"Shall we invite Miss Martin, the nurse?" asked his father, trying to control his voice.

"Sure thing," said Frick cheerfully. Those were his last words.

Frick had been in ill health most of his life, it was learned. Several years ago he went to Colorado and lived in the mountains, but believing he had regained his health, he returned to his home. Until forced to give up his studies on account of his health he was a student at Northwestern university.

the kitchen to heat a nursing bottle for Lillian, the baby.

The coal fire in the range was only flickering so Clara awakened her father to help her. Stevenson poured kerosene from a can into the stove.

An explosion followed which shook the house. The clothing of Stevenson and Clara caught fire. Each tried to help the other but became excited when the kitchen burst into flames.

Stevenson attempted to go up-stairs and warn his family but collapsed. Clara said she finally succeeded in getting up the stairs.

The entire house soon was afire. Clara leaped from a window and was found unconscious.

Meantime, Mrs. Stevenson tried to carry her two youngest children down stairs. She fell on the stairway, dropping both children. She was unable to relate how she escaped.

William, Jr., the third survivor, jumped from a window.

the Canton club, who announced an inter-city meeting of the Sixth division to be held at Canton on April 26.

Announce Broadcasting Plans.

Fred Witter, Canton, chairman of the state publicity committee, discussed plans for "putting Kiwanis on the map," through newspaper stories, radio programs, etc. Clyde Stouch, "pep-maker" for the Steubenville club, led in the singing of "Sweet Adeline."

Frank Judge, Salineville, lieutenant-governor of the Eighth division, which includes Columbiana county announced that plans were under way for a radio entertainment to be broadcast within the near future by the several clubs in his division, at which International Trustee R. C. Heddleston would be the speaker.

Heddleston, in introducing District Governor Smith, declared that the East Liverpool club was the "grandfather club of the local district."

"Wellsville and Salineville are our children, Carrollton is our grandchild," said Heddleston.

"When Kiwanis comes into your town, into my town, it makes itself known," Smith said. "It makes the gears mesh more evenly, work more smoothly and more harmoniously. We have produced something which never before existed.

"Kiwanis reaches its objectives by mass formation. When we come into Kiwanis we have a prospective that is upward. It lifts one from the foothills to the heights of usefulness. It shows us the community's needs. It introduces us to each other in a closer and a more friendly way.

"When Kiwanis comes to town it will soon achieve renown. We must answer the call to serve and to build."

A program of dancing and cards followed. The grand march was led by Attorney Walter B. Hill and Miss Louise Thompson. Sayre's Premier Syncopators were in charge of the music.

Mrs. Smith, wife of the district governor, received a decorated twin tea set, a product of the Hall China company. Other attendance prizes furnished by members of the club were awarded the following: Miss Ann Allison, Miss Nan Thompson, Mrs. Fred Witter, Mrs. Robert Douglass, Miss Christine Laughlin, Mrs. Clyde Larkins, Mrs. Frank Conklin, Miss Margaret Ann Blake, Mrs. Samuel Larkins, Mrs. A. CANTON TROOPS REPULSED IN SUNKIANG PUSH

Long Expected Battle in Yishing Sector Under Way.

RUSSIANS AID

General Chang Tsung Chang Will Direct Defense.

SHANGHAI, March 11.—The Cantonese have opened a drive against Sunkiang and have been forced back in their first sally.

The long expected battle in the Yishing sector for Sunkiang and also in the Taiping Chen region of Anhwei now appears to be in full progress, with all reports here indicating that the Cantonese have had to give some ground.

The first Nationalist thrust against Sunkiang was thwarted when sentinels spotted 30 boatloads of Nationalists troops, dressed as civilians, preceding to the city. The Shantung forces opened a heavy fire and the Nationalists were forced to retire.

Heavy fighting continues in the Chusan Yishing sector where the Nationalists are receiving reinforcements, including many Russian detachments. A major engagement looms on this front.

General Chang Tsung Chang has arrived at Peng Fu and established headquarters, planning to personally direct the defense against the Cantonese.

Decision Reserved In Suit Over $160 Spent for Whisky

Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today reserved his decision in the civil action instituted by Thomas McDonough, West Fourth street, against William Smith, Ravine street, and William Ward to recover $160 which he is alleged to have advanced upon a note executed September 25, 1926.

Smith and Ward admitted having received the money, the check being cashed in Pittsburgh. They testified that they had purchased two cases of wiskey and two cases of gin with the money, the whisky costing $50 per case and the gin $25 per case.

Enroute to East Liverpool Ward said the liquor was stored in a barn belonging to a woman by the name of Smith on the Midland-Ohioville road. When they returned for it the liquor had been stolen, he claimed.

Wallen to Testify.

cutor Brookes, Davis said he told Ogle that he didn't think he (Ogle) would hurt anybody, although the witness said, "I was a little afraid of him."

Mrs. Irene Davis, mother of the preceding witness, residing in Apple alley, East Liverpool, said that she was in Lisbon, February 14, when the grand jury was in session, and that she knew Rose Householder. Mrs. Davis declared that Rose told Angeline that Wallen had shot Ogle, but that Rose did not see it.

Angeline Wallen, 20, wife of the defendant, took the stand at 10:15 a. m. and was questioned by Attorney Crawford. Assistant Prosecutor Bauknecht cross-examined her for an hour and 30 minutes.

She said that they had lived on the Hannum farm off and on during the last three years; that she was a sister of Rosie Householder; that her mother died 10 months ago and that she formerly lived in Salineville. She said she had known Ogle for 12 years and that Ogle moved into the house where he was shot about January 20, last.

Mrs. Wallen said her brother, Paul came to them from Kensington in February, and that he went to work on the MacNeal farm, but quit on February 6.

Mrs. Wallen testified that Wallen had been at the Ogle home during the day of the shooting and that he and Ogle had been drinking beer; that when she arrived there were nine bottles left out of six gallons and that she saw a quart can of malt. She said she stayed there about two hours and that one light was burning in the kitchen, with a small grate fire in the sitting room.

"My sister jumped me about not keeping Paul, and I began to cry. When Wallen came back with a mandolin, she was in the sitting room, crying, and Wallen came into the room and shook her by the right arm and tried to make her tell him what the trouble was.

The witness then said that Ogle interfered and said, "None of that;" that he struck Wallen twice and that Wallen struck him back. She said Ogle told them to get out.

Sister Urged Separation, She Said

Rose and Paul, she said, then left the living room.

Wallen then went out into the kitchen to pick up a paper of tobacco and a carbide lamp from a table when Ogle came at him with a shotgun, the witness swore. Then Wallen shot him twice, she said. She said that she and Wallen left the home and went to McGarry's house to see if Rosie were there, but did not talk to her. Later she and her husband went to Hannum's and she went to bed.

The witness testified that Rodney Ogle, a son, now residing in Lisbon, and his wife, and aunt, went out to the Ogle home the next day and that she saw a lot of stuff burning in the yard, and that a crock, with mash in it, and broken bottles were scattered about.

She declared that Ogle had guns on the wall, including a shotgun, rifle, two pistols and a hunting knife.

Mrs. Wallen said that her husband asked Sheriff Wright when the latter visited the Hannum home the night of the shooting if he had been talking to Ogle, and that Sheriff Wright replied, "Ogle is through talking."

She also said that her sister, Rose, "wanted me to leave Wallen and tell me to forget about him as I would be better off without him."

Four Shots Were Fired.

Mrs. Wallen said that she did not light any match the night of the shooting and denied that she urged her husband not to commit suicide.

She declared there were four shots fired that night and that her husband had said to Ogle, "My God, don't shoot!" when he saw Ogle with the gun. She testified that the two men were friendly before that.

At this point Bauknecht took the witness, and she said that she married Wallen February 12, 1923, when she was 16 and that she has never left her husband.

She said there was no music or dancing at the Ogle home the evening of the shooting. Bauknecht read from a record of testimony given before the February grand jury.

YELLOW CREEK MEET PLANNED

Engineers to Consider Relocation of River Road.

Conference of federal and state engineers with Jefferson and Columbiana county commissioners concerning the relocating of the river road at Yellow creek and the construction of a traffic span that will carry automobile travel away from traction and railroad tracks was scheduled today at Yellow creek.

The conference will open with a dinner served at the children's home, followed by a trip over the road and a study of plans.

W. A. Wilbur, federal engineer, who is in the county studying the grade crossing situation in the vicinity of Rayland, will be present at the meeting as will W. C. Fawcett, state locating engineer, under whose direction the plans would be changed if they are changed.

Other engineers will be Ed Stingle, state division engineer, Jefferson county; Fred Swinford, state division engineer, Columbiana county; Harvey Brown, state resident engineer, this county, and Floyd Kirk, state resident engineer, Columbiana county.

Another road meeting for the county is planned for next Thursday when all county and township road officials will gather at their annual road conferences, wil be addressed by engineers and other experts, and will discuss local road problems.

a large sign on the side of the coal tipple reading the "North Branch Coal Co.," and that when he was so engaged, Ogle was working on the top level of the tipple and Wallen on the lower level. He said that it appeared to him that Wallen was directing the work on the tipple, and that he had shouted up to Ogle to come down and bring with him a hatchet and some spikes.

"Ogle said to me' I'd like to take this hatchet and knock his damn brains out,'" Davis swore.

"The next day I looked down from where I was painting," Davis continued, "and saw Ogle shake his finger at Wallen who was near him, heard him say to Wallen, 'Don't you ever cross my path again or I'll kill you.'"

Ogle Threatened Wallen.

The witness said that after he had been working at the tipple for about a week, Ogle met him and inquired if Wallen was a stepson. Davis said that he replied he was, and that Ogle then said to him; You'd better get him out of here or you'll find him dead some of these days."

Davis then testified that a little while later, while passing the Ogle barn, he saw a rifle sticking from a crack, and that when he went into the barn and Ogle saw him, he pulled the gun from the crack, dropped it to the floor, attempted to cover it up and began to smile. At that time Wallen was about 300 feet away.

"I informed Wallen what happened," Davis declared, "and I said to him that he'd better be careful. Ogle always talked of Wallen being around and said that as he (Ogle) had been there before Wallen he ought to be made superintendent of the mine. Ogle was always quarrelsome."

Brookes cross-examined Davis, who said that he had married his wife in Butler county, Ohio, and that Wallen had been sent to the reform school from Hamilton.

Joseph Hannum Witness.

Joseph Hannum, when questioned by Attorney S. W. Crawford, said he resided in Yellow Creek township, about half way between Salineville and Salisbury, and that he had been engaged in the coal business during the last six to eight years. He testified that Wallen and his wife had made their home with him.

He said that Wallen had left the home before noon on Feb. 6, but that his wife had remained there, until evening. He said that Wallen had returned to his home before dark and that he had asked where his wife was. Hannum testified that he told Wallen he did not know, and that Wallen replied he would go down the road to meet her.

He testified that later he heard three shots.

Hannum testified that he had known Ogle for about 20 years, and that he had bought coal under five acres of the Ogle land; also that Ogle had worked for him several years ago. "Ogle was quarrelsome with me," Hannum mtestified, "and he refused to deed me property I had bought and paid for."

He said Wallen had carried a revolver during part of the winter.

He testified that he had employed Ogle as superintendent of his mine when it was first opened, and that when Ogle quit "the job stopped."

He said that Wallen had been employed about his coal property, farm and home since last fall.

Under cross-examination by Brookes, Hannum testified that Wallen had said to him that he had shot Ogle. Hannum said that he did not go to the Ogle house the night of the shooting. "He had made threats against me and I was afraid he would shoot."

"Didn't you say to Rose, 'The damn old man ought to have been killed long ago?" the witness was asked.

"Yes, sir."

George L. Davis, of East Liverpool, then told that he saw Rose Householder in the lobby of the court house during the last session of the grand jury.

CHICAGO "CLEAN-UP LAWYER" MAY GO TO CANTON

MAYOR SEEKS ROACH'S AID IN MAZER QUIZ

Inquiry Into Police Role in Mellett Plot Launched.

TRAIL HIGHER-UP

Fourth Man Indicted is Given Immunity Bath.

CANTON, O., March 11.—Possibility that Joseph R. Roach, Chicago "clean-up attorney," might be recalled to Canton to aid Mayor Stanford M. Swarts' investigation into Louis Mazer's allegations regarding a police official, in connection with the Don R. Mellett murder, loomed here today.

Mazer was the third man indicted for the murder of Mellett, Canton publisher, here last July. His trial was originally scheduled for March 16, but he has now been promised immunity for having turned state's evidence.

In his story, made public last Tuesday, Mazer said he and Floyd Streitenberger, former Canton detective, and fourth man indicted for alleged complicity in the crime, had obtained Mellett's home address from a present member of the Canton police force.

Roach was brought here shortly after the murder, by Mayor Swarts and the Canton Daily News. He obtained evidence which resulted in an affidavit charging Mazer with murder.

On this action, it is said, the entire plot now unfolding, is hinged.

Immediately following the filing of the affidavit against Mazer, Chief of Police S. A. Lengel and Detective Streitenberger were ousted, among others, from service, and several detectives were demoted for associating with criminals, and incompetency.

"Living Dead Man" Dies

Speaks To His Family.

Several hours before his death Frick rallied and was able to speak a few words to members of his family. He used the breath that his friends forced in and out of his wasted lungs to whisper words of good cheer to those he loved.

"Don't worry, Mom," he said to his mother. "I've got a fighting chance."

His father said that as soon as he got well they would have a party for him.

"Shall we invite Miss Martin, the nurse?" asked his father, trying to control his voice.

"Sure thing," said Frick cheerfully.

Those were his last words.

Frick had been in ill health most of his life, it was learned. Several years ago he went to Colorado and lived in the mountains, but believing he had regained his health, he returned to his home. Until forced to give up his studies on account of his health he was a student at Northwestern university.

the kitchen to heat a nursing bottle for Lillian, the baby.

The coal fire in the range was only flickering so Clara awakened her father to help her. Stevenson poured kerosene from a can into the stove.

An explosion followed which shook the house. The clothing of Stevenson and Clara caught fire. Each tried to help the other but became excited when the kitchen burst into flames.

Stevenson attempted to go up-stairs and warn his family but collapsed Clara said she finally succeeded in getting up the stairs.

The entire house soon was afire. Clara leaped from a window and was found unconscious.

Meantime, Mrs. Stevenson tried to carry her two youngest children down stairs. She fell on the stairway, dropping both children. She was unable to relate how she escaped.

William, Jr., the third survivor, jumped from a window.

the Canton club, who announced an inter-city meeting of the Sixth division to be held at Canton on April 26.

Announce Broadcasting Plans.

Fred Witter, Canton, chairman of the state publicity committee, discussed plans for "putting Kiwanis on the map," through newspaper stories, radio programs, etc. Clyde Stouch, "pep-maker" for the Steubenville club, led in the singing of "Sweet Adeline."

Frank Judge, Salineville, lieutenant-governor of the Eighth division, which includes Columbiana county announced that plans were under way for a radio entertainment to be broadcast within the near future by the several clubs in his division, at which International Trustee R. C. Heddleston would be the speaker.

Heddleston, in introducing District Governor Smith, declared that the East Liverpool club was the "grandfather club of the local district."

"Wellsville and Salineville are our children, Carrollton is our grandchild," said Heddleston.

"When Kiwanis comes into your town, into my town, it makes itself known," Smith said. "It makes the gears mesh more evenly, work more smoothly and more harmoniously We have produced something which never before existed.

"Kiwanis reaches its objectives by mass formation. When we come into Kiwanis we have a prospective that is upward. It lifts one from the foothills to the heights of usefulness. It shows us the community's needs. It introduces us to each other in a closer and a more friendly way.

"When Kiwanis comes to town it will soon achieve renown. We must answer the call to serve and to build."

A program of dancing and cards followed. The grand march was led by Attorney Walter B. Hill and Miss Louise Thompson. Sayre's Premier Syncopators were in charge of the music.

Mrs. Smith, wife of the district governor, received a decorated twin tea set, a product of the Hall China company. Other attendance prizes furnished by members of the club were awarded the following: Miss Ann Allison, Miss Nan Thompson, Mrs. Fred Witter, Mrs. Robert Douglass, Miss Christine Laughlin, Mrs. Clyde Larkins, Mrs. Frank Conklin, Miss Margaret Ann Blake, Mrs. Samuel Larkins, Mrs. A. E. Harris, Mrs. C. W. Stouch, Mrs. John Golden, Mrs. L. E. Weaver, Mrs. Frank Polling, Mrs. Carl McCutcheon, Mrs. A. E. Frosch, Mrs Frank Judge Jr., Mrs. Clarence Cline, Mrs. Elizabeth Haldeman, Miss Ruth Heddleston and Mrs. John Morton.

Suspected "Clubber" Arrested.

CLEVELAND, March 11. — Police have arrested a man suspected of being the "clubber," who has robbed several women here during the last three weeks. A bunch of keys which were in a purse belonging to one of his victims, was found in the man's possession.

CANTON TROOPS REPULSED IN SUNKIANG PUSH

Long Expected Battle in Yishing Sector Under Way.

RUSSIANS AID

General Chang Tsung Chang Will Direct Defense.

SHANGHAI, March 11.—The Cantonese have opened a drive against Sunkiang and have been forced back in their first sally.

The long expected battle in the Yishing sector for Sunkiang and also in the Taiping Chen region of Anhwei now appears to be in full progress, with all reports here indicating that the Cantonese have had to give some ground.

The first Nationalist thrust against Sunkiang was thwarted when sentinels spotted 30 boatloads of Nationalists troops, dressed as civilians, preceding to the city. The Shantung forces opened a heavy fire and the Nationalists were forced to retire.

Heavy fighting continues in the Chusan Yishing sector where the Nationalists are receiving reinforcements, including many Russian detachments. A major engagement looms on this front.

General Chang Tsung Chang has arrived at Peng Fu and established headquarters, planning to personally direct the defense against the Cantonese.

Decision Reserved In Suit Over $160 Spent for Whisky

Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today reserved his decision in the civil action instituted by Thomas McDonough, West Fourth street, against William Smith, Ravine street, and William Ward to recover $160 which he is alleged to have advanced upon a note executed September 25, 1926.

Smith and Ward admitted having received the money, the check being cashed in Pittsburgh. They testified that they had purchased two cases of wiskey and two cases of gin with the money, the whisky costing $50 per case and the gin $25 per case.

Enroute to East Liverpool Ward said the liquor was stored in a barn belonging to a woman by the name of Smith on the Midland-Ohioville road. When they returned for it the liquor had been stolen, he claimed.

Wallen to Testify.

cutor Brookes, Davis said he told Ogle that he didn't think he (Ogle) would hurt anybody, although the witness said, "I was a little afraid of him."

Mrs. Irene Davis, mother of the preceding witness, residing in Apple alley, East Liverpool, said that she was in Lisbon, February 14, when the grand jury was in session and that she knew Rose Householder. Mrs. Davis declared that Rose told Angeline that Wallen had shot Ogle, but that Rose did not see it.

Angeline Wallen, 20, wife of the defendant, took the stand at 10:15 a. m. and was questioned by Attorney Crawford. Assistant Prosecutor Bauknecht cross-examined her for an hour and 30 minutes.

She said that they had lived on the Hannum farm off and on during the last three years; that she was a sister of Rosie Householder; that her mother died 10 months ago and that she formerly lived in Salineville. She said she had known Ogle for 12 years and that Ogle moved into the house where he was shot about January 20, last.

Mrs. Wallen said her brother, Paul came to them from Kensington in February, and that he went to work on the MacNeal farm, but quit on February 6.

Mrs. Wallen testified that Wallen had been at the Ogle home during the day of the shooting and that he and Ogle had been drinking beer; that when she arrived there were nine bottles left out of six gallons and that she saw a quart can of malt. She said she stayed there about two hours and that one light was burning in the kitchen, with a small grate fire in the sitting room.

"My sister jumped me about not keeping Paul, and I began to cry. When Wallen came back with a mandolin, she was in the sitting room, crying, and Wallen came into the room and shook her by the right arm and tried to make her tell him what the trouble was.

The witness then said that Ogle interfered and said, "None of that;" that he struck Wallen twice and that Wallen struck him back. She said Ogle told them to get out.

Sister Urged Separation, She Said

Rose and Paul, she said, then left the living room.

Wallen then went out into the kitchen to pick up a paper of tobacco and a carbide lamp from a table when Ogle came at him with a shotgun, the witness swore. Then Wallen shot him twice, she said. She said that she and Wallen left the home and went to Joe Garry's house to see if Rosie were there, but did not talk to her. Later she and her husband went to Hannum's and she went to bed.

The witness testified that Rodney Ogle, a son, now residing in Lisbon, and his wife, and aunt, went out to the Ogle home the next day and that she saw a lot of stuff burning in the yard, and that a crock, with mash in it, and broken bottles were scattered about.

She declared that Ogle had guns on the wall, including a shotgun, rifle, two pistols and a hunting knife.

Mrs. Wallen said that her husband asked Sheriff Wright when the latter visited the Hannum home the night of the shooting if he had been talking to Ogle, and that Sheriff Wright replied, "Ogle is through talking."

She also said that her sister, Rose, "wanted me to leave Wallen and tell me to forget about him as I would be better off without him."

Four Shots Were Fired.

Mrs. Wallen said that she did not light any match the night of the shooting and denied that she urged her husband not to commit suicide.

She declared there were four shots fired that night and that her husband had said to Ogle, "My God, don't shoot!" when he saw Ogle with the gun. She testified that the two men were friendly before that.

At this point Bauknecht took the witness, and she said that she married Wallen February 12, 1923, when she was 16 and that she has never left her husband.

She said there was no music or dancing at the Ogle home the evening of the shooting. Bauknecht read from a record of testimony given before the February grand jury.

Wallen Defense Scores

a large sign on the side of the coal tipple reading the "North Branch Coal Co.," and that when he was so engaged, Ogle was working on the top level of the tipple and Wallen on the lower level. He said that it appeared to him that Wallen was directing the work on the tipple, and that he had shouted up to Ogle to come down and bring with him a hatchet and some spikes.

"Ogle said to me' I'd like to take this hatchet and knock his damn brains out,'" Davis swore.

"The next day I looked down from where I was painting," Davis continued, "and saw Ogle shake his finger at Wallen who was near him, heard him say to Wallen, 'Don't you ever cross my path again or I'll kill you.'"

Ogle Threatened Wallen.

The witness said that after he had been working at the tipple for about a week, Ogle met him and inquired if Wallen was a stepson. Davis said that he replied he was, and that Ogle then said to him; You'd better get him out of here or you'll find him dead some of these days."

Davis then testified that a little while later, while passing the Ogle barn, he saw a rifle sticking from a crack, and that when he went into the barn and Ogle saw him, he pulled the gun from the crack, dropped it to the floor, attempted to cover it up and began to smile. At that time Wallen was about 300 feet away.

"I informed Wallen what happened," Davis declared, "and I said to him that he'd better be careful. Ogle always talked of Wallen being around and said that as he (Ogle) had been there before Wallen he ought to be made superintendent of the mine. Ogle was always quarrelsome."

Brookes cross-examined Davis, who said that he had married his wife in Butler county, Ohio, and that Wallen had been sent to the reform school from Hamilton.

Joseph Hannum Witness.

Joseph Hannum, when questioned by Attorney S. W. Crawford, said he resided in Yellow Creek township, about half way between Salineville and Salisbury, and that he had been engaged in the coal business during the last six to eight years. He testified that Wallen and his wife had made their home with him.

He said that Wallen had left the home before noon on Feb. 6, but that his wife had remained there, until evening. He said that Wallen had returned to his home before dark and that he had asked where his wife was. Hannum testified that he told Wallen he did not know, and that Wallen replied he would go down the road to meet her.

He testified that later he heard three shots.

Hannum testified that he had known Ogle for about 20 years, and that he had bought coal under five acres of the Ogle land; also that Ogle had worked for him several years ago. "Ogle was quarrelsome with me," Hannum mtestified, "and he refused to deed me property I had bought and paid for."

He said Wallen had carried a revolver during part of the winter.

He testified that he had employed Ogle as superintendent of his mine when it was first opened, and that when Ogle quit "the job stopped."

He said that Wallen had been employed about his coal property, farm and home since last fall.

Under cross-examination by Brookes, Hannum testified that Wallen had said to him that he had shot Ogle. Hannum said that he did not go to the Ogle house the night of the shooting. "He had made threats against me and I was afraid he would shoot."

"Didn't you say to Rose, 'The damn old man ought to have been killed long ago?" the witness was asked.

"Yes, sir."

George L. Davis, of East Liverpool, then told that he saw Rose Householder in the lobby of the court house during the last session of the grand jury.

BARTOLA FACES MURDER COUNT

Mill Worker Indicted for Slaying of Dr. Deigo Delfino.

Nick Bartola, 32, Follansbee mill worker, was indicted by the Brooke county grand jury Wednesday in connection with the slaying of Dr. Deigo Delfino, Follansbee-Steubenville physician, whose bullet-riddled body was found in his automobile parked along the Steubenville-Follansbee highway last December.

Bartola, arrested at Columbus, three weeks after the crime and identified as the last man seen with the physician before he was killed, will be tried next month on a first degree murder indictment returned against him by the grand jury sitting at Wellsburg.

Although Brooke county officials are divulging none of the information they hold against Bartola, it is said that the trial will bring out the fact that he has been identified by the physician's housekeeper as the man who came to the doctor's office at dusk on the evening he was murdered and rode with him in the Defino automobile in the direction of Steubenville. Five hours later the bullet-riddled body was found, the engine of the doctor's automobile still running and the headlights still burning.

Although authorities have made nothing public concerning the case they hold against Bartola or what information was given to the indicting jurors, it is reported that Bartola had made a threat upon Dr. Defino's life after Bartola's child died following an illness. Dr. Defino had been attending the child during its illness. Following the murder Bartola disappeared and was traced to Ohio.

TWO INJURED IN GAS BLAST

Gas explosion in the cellar of the residence of Daniel Ferrari, Weirton, Wednesday night resulted in injuries to both Ferrari and his wife and considerable damage to the dwelling. Ferrari, with an oil lamp in his hand, opened the cellar door, and had taken but four steps down the stairway, when the explosion occurred. A leak in the gas line had filled the cellar with gas, the leak of which was unknown to Ferrari.

The explosion threw Mrs. Ferrari against a window, inflicting several cuts about her face and head. Ferrari was burned about the hands and face in the fire that followed, also receiving injuries about the body when knocked to the floor of the cellar. Windows in the house were broken, while considerable damage was done the right side of the dwelling. The loss to the home and contents has not been estimated. The Weirton fire department answered the call, and assisted in extinguishing the blaze which was confined to the cellar of the home.

STATE SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 11.—The state board of education began a special session here today, called by Governor Gore, to sift charges of malfeasence in office of Herbert K. Cantrell, superintendent of Mingo county schools.

The outcome of the hearing probably will determine what further action the state tax commissioner will take against Mingo county school officials in reference to charges of misuse of public school funds.

At the present session the board of education also was expected to take up the matter of adoption of textbooks for the next five years.

WORKMEN'S LAW BEING STUDIED

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 11.—Thorough analysis of the West Virginia workmen's compensation law, and a comparison of its terms with those of similar laws in other states was the program outlined here today for the joint legislative committee, which met for a preliminary session this morning, previously to beginning its probe.

All members of the committee named by the legislature were present.

Candy Causes Head Bruises.

Many in Berlin are nursing bruised heads and scowling at those who dare to wheeze about "Did you ever feel a chocolate drop?" A candy manufacturer employed an aviator to fly over the city and drop from his machine chocolate drops bearing his advertisement. Just when he felt that his idea was making an impression, the police received so many reports of hearts bruised by the confections that they stopped the scheme.

Girl bandits may stir curiosity for a day or two but they must not expect to become permanent pets.

Post-War Children Heavier.

That children born in 1920 were found to be at the age of five, on an average, an inch taller and a pound heavier than the normal pre-war child of the same age, is the report made recently by the medical department of the board of education of London. This increase in height and weight was most noticeable among slum children, and similar improvement was found in other tots, said the report.

Says Cats Are In Heaven.

"I feel sure there are cats in heaven, especially black cats," said Prebendiary Carlile, founder of the Church Army in England, during the celebration of his eightieth birthday in London recently. Every member of the staff at headquarters was present, and the chief was in a happy mood. He made his comment on the cat when some one attempted to put a black feline out of the room.

For some strange and wholly unaccountable reason the Chinese people seem to want to run their own country.—Zanesville Signal.

Post-War Children Heavier.

That children born in 1920 were found to be at the age of five, on an average, an inch taller and a pound heavier than the normal pre-war child of the same age, is the report made recently by the medical department of the board of education of London. This increase in height and weight was most noticeable among slum children, and similar improvement was found in other tots, said the report.

Says Cats Are in Heaven.

"I feel sure there are cats in heaven, especially black cats," said Prebendiary Carlile, founder of the Church Army in England, during the celebration of his eightieth birthday in London recently. Every member of the staff at headquarters was present, and the chief was in a happy mood. He made his comment on the cat when some one attempted to put a black feline out of the room.

C. W. Davis Named President Of City Industrial Circuit

Cline Drops Reins After Two Good Seasons As Leader

1927 Campaign to be Launched Saturday, May 7, With Contests Carded at Chester, Newell and Columbian Park; Player Trades Loom.

Charles W. "Heimie" Davis, local sporting goods dealer, and one-time amateur performer of no little distinction himself, will head the City Industrial Baseball League as president for the season of 1927.

Davis was elected to the post by league managers at a meeting last night in the chamber of commerce rooms.

He succeeds Clarence C. Cline, who, because of business reasons, found it necessary to resign after two successful administrations as directing head of the diamond organization.

Ex-President Cline launched preliminary arrangements for the present campaign, keeping things moving until his successor could be named. His retirement was accepted with regret by team owners and managers.

Davis, the new league head, brings to the circuit a wealth of experience and knowledge in the national pastime. "Heimie" was for years a leading catcher of the one-time famed Elks' baseball club and other diamond aggregations representing the city

The 1927 season will be opened on Saturday, May 7, with three contests: Wellsville at Chester; K. T. K. at Victory Motor (Columbian park); and Turk-Nash at Laughlin (Newell)

The first half will run until July 3 and the second half will get under way on July 11, continuing until Labor day following which the respective winners of the first and second sections will clash in another of the locally famous "baby world's series."

Several prospective trades are said to be in the offing which may involve all of the clubs in the league although no deals have been completed.

Ruth Hurts Leg.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 11.—Babe Ruth, who injured his leg in the Yankees' game against the Reds, will be in shape to play again in a few days. The Yanks won the ball game, 8 to 5, as Pipgras, Moore and Beall allowed only three hits.

Red Sox at Work.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 11.—The Boston Red Sox today are going through their final paces in preparation for the first contest of the season with the New Orleans Pelicans tomorrow.

Collins' Knee Bruised.

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 11.—Eddie Collins, the A's veteran captain, despite a bruised knee continues to join the practice drills and will be in the lineup against the Phils. Cobb and Wheat and other high price veterans also will play. Connie Mack added another rookie to his payroll yesterday when Jud Waller, husky Decatur college Texas student, reported, seeking a berth in the outfield. Cobb and Wheat continue to work out in the morning and afternoon drills. The Georgia peach after a strenuous workout gave the young Mackmen some pointers on batting yesterday.

Schalk Feels Happy.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 11.—Manager Ray Schalk of the White Sox was happy today over the manner in which his proteges performed in a seven-inning ball game here yesterday. Schalk divided his troupe into the "Blues" and "Whites," one team wearing the blue spangled road uniforms and the other the white garb used at home. The Whites won, 5 to 3, Schalk did the catching for the Blues.

Regulars, Yans Play Again.

PASOS ROUBLES, Cal., March 11.—Regulars and Yanigans were to play their second game this afternoon, at the Pirate camp, the youngsters suffering a 10 to 4 defeat in the initial game. Roy Mahaffey and Guy Morrison will pitch for the regulars today, and Lee Meadows and Johnny Morrison will be on the mound for the Yanigans.

College Athletics Not Run for Public, Says Bethany Prexy

BETHANY, W. Va., March 11.—In discussing college athletics before the Bethany college student body yesterday, Dr. Cloyd Goodnight, president, emphatically stated that he did not believe that it is now or ever was the business of college athletics to entertain the public.

Athletics are meant to serve the students in a way that will give them growth and development and should never be permitted to become a parade like a prize horse at the county fair," he asserted.

With definite aims and a careful program Bethany college is interested in athletics and is anxious to promote and maintain them in every possible way."

MIDLAND LOSES TO MORRY FIVE

The Midland Collegians dropped a 37-24 decision to the Pittsburgh Morrys, Central league champions, in a game last night at Midland, the contest bringing out the biggest crowd of the season.

Benedict and Campbell were the Midland scoring stars, the former getting three field goals and two fouls and the latter four double deckers. Midland will play the Damascus team of the Columbiana county league Monday night at Midland.

Referee—Mike Cloran.

Play Braves Today.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 11.—The Cardinals were here today for the return with the Boston Braves to even matters for their defeat.

Jess Haines, Reinhart and Dyer are scheduled to do the mound duty.

Ready For Big Series.

SARASOTA, Fla., March 11.—Having downed Buffalo, 7 to 6, the New York Giants today are ready for the big series with Washington. The Giants almost booted the game away after getting off to a six-run lead.

M. E.'s AND M. P.'s WIN LOOP GAMES

The Methodists defeated the United Presbyterians, 46 to 33, and the Methodist Protestants won from the Christians, 51 to 32, in Sunday School league games last night on the M. P. floor.

Lutherans will play the Christians and the Baptists will tackle the Presbyterians in games Saturday at the "Y."

Mostil Out of Danger.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 11.—Johnny Mostil, star center fielder of the Chicago White Sox, who slashed himself with a razor in a suicide attempt here Tuesday, was today pronounced practically out of danger by his physicians. There is still a slight possibility of blood poison from his many wounds, physicians say, but all danger of pneumonia has passed.

Errors Beat Phils.

BRADENTON, Fla., March 11.—Losing their first exhibition game to Washington, 6 to 3, the Phillies were out today for the scalp of the Athletics. The Phils' six errors, four of them attributed to Fresco Thompson, the new second baseman, gave the game to the Senators. He and Al Nixon were the heaviest hitters among the Phils, getting two each.

Robins Win One.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 11.—The Brooklyn Dodgers have found a club they can beat—the University of Florida nine. With Babe Herman smacking a single, a double, a triple and a homer the Dodgers whitewashed the collegians, 12 to 0.

Carnegie Gridiron Star Will Address Sunday Club Here

Lloyd E. Yoder, of Salem, recognized as the greatest lineman in the history of Carnegie Tech football and considered by a large number of experts as of All-American calibre in their selections at the close of last season, will address members of the Sunday Afternoon club at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday.

Yoder's gridiron achievements are too well known to need any further embellishing. His work in the Tech-Notre Dame game, particularly, ranked him as one of the foremost linesmen of the country.

His performance in not only this game but others on the season's schedule won him the captaincy of the Eastern team which played the Western Stars in the annual charity game at San Francisco on New Year's day.

Fight Results

AT CHICAGO—Joe Simonich, of Butte, Mont., won decision over Pete Latzo, world welterweight champion, ten rounds. Latzo's title was not at stake.

George Courtney of New York won decision over Al Webster of Montana, ten rounds.

Haakon Hanson of Norway won decision over Patsy Rocco, six rounds.

AT McKEESPORT, PA.—Joe Lagray of Johnston, Pa., knocked out Georgie Meehan of Farrell, Pa., in the second round.

AT MACON, GA.—W. L. (Young) Stribling knocked out Eddie Civel of Kentucky in the second round.

M. P. LASSIES WIN CAGE TILT

The M. P. girls defeated the Christians of Wellsville on the M. P. floor Wednesday night, 40 to 22. Finney, of the locals, was the high scorer with 12 field goals, while Thompson was the chief performer for the visitors.

JUNIOR TEAMS IN TOURNEY

HARVEY J. PRICE, Y. M. C. A. boys' director, today announced plans for the second annual Y. M. C. A. junior basketball tournament which will be launched Monday, March 21, at the "Y" gym.

The tourney will bring together teams in Chester, Newell, Wellsville and East Liverpool of the ages of 14 to 17 years.

Entries are expected from the following squads:

Wellsville—Buccaneers, Juniors and Centrals; Chester — Reserves and Methodist Episcopals, Newell—Junior High; East Liverpool — Tigers, Buckeyes, West End Rinkeydinks, McKinley Rinkeydinks, "Y" Silents, M. P. Sunday school class, M. E. Scouts, Roamers, "Y" Juniors, Orchard Grove Sunday school class, East End Uniques, All Stars, Continuation School and Omars.

A meeting of all managers and captains desiring to enter will be held Monday night, March 14, at the Y. M. C. A. to discuss plans for the tournament and to make arrangements for entry fees, trophies, officials and by-laws.

Any other teams in the district not mentioned above, Price announces, may enter by sending representatives to the meeting Monday.

Several prospective trades are said to be in the offing which may involve all of the clubs in the league although no deals have been completed.

Ruth Hurts Leg.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 11.—Babe Ruth, who injured his leg in the Yankees' game against the Reds, will be in shape to play again in a few days. The Yanks won the ball game, 8 to 5, as Pipgras, Moore and Beall allowed only three hits.

Red Sox at Work.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 11.—The Boston Red Sox today are going through their final paces in preparation for the first contest of the season with the New Orleans Pelicans tomorrow.

Collins' Knee Bruised.

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 11.—Eddie Collins, the A's veteran captain, despite a bruised knee continues to join the practice drills and will be in the lineup against the Phils. Cobb and Wheat and other high price veterans also will play. Connie Mack added another rookie to his payroll yesterday when Jud Waller, husky Decatur college Texas student, reported, seeking a berth in the outfield. Cobb and Wheat continue to work out in the morning and afternoon drills. The Georgia peach after a strenuous workout gave the young Mackmen some pointers on batting yesterday.

Schalk Feels Happy.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 11.—Manager Ray Schalk of the White Sox was happy today over the manner in which his proteges performed in a seven-inning ball game here yesterday. Schalk divided his troupe into the "Blues" and "Whites," one team wearing the blue spangled road uniforms and the other the white garb used at home. The Whites won, 5 to 3, Schalk did the catching for the Blues.

Regulars, Yans Play Again.

PASOS ROUBLES, Cal., March 11.—Regulars and Yanigans were to play their second game this afternoon, at the Pirate camp, the youngsters suffering a 10 to 4 defeat in the initial game. Roy Mahaffey and Guy Morrison will pitch for the regulars today, and Lee Meadows and Johnny Morrison will be on the mound for the Yanigans.

College Athletics Not Run for Public, Says Bethany Prexy

BETHANY, W. Va., March 11.—In discussing college athletics before the Bethany college student body yesterday, Dr. Cloyd Goodnight, president, emphatically stated that he did not believe that it is now or ever was the business of college athletics to entertain the public.

Athletics are meant to serve the students in a way that will give them growth and development and should never be permitted to become a parade like a prize horse at the county fair," he asserted.

With definite aims and a careful program Bethany college is interested in athletics and is anxious to promote and maintain them in every possible way."

MIDLAND LOSES TO MORRY FIVE

The Midland Collegians dropped a 37-24 decision to the Pittsburgh Morrys, Central league champions, in a game last night at Midland, the contest bringing out the biggest crowd of the season.

Benedict and Campbell were the Midland scoring stars, the former getting three field goals and two fouls and the latter four double deckers. Midland will play the Damascus team of the Columbiana county league Monday night at Midland.

Play Braves Today.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 11.—The Cardinals were here today for the return with the Boston Braves to even matters for their defeat.

Jess Haines, Reinhart and Dyer are scheduled to do the mound duty.

Ready For Big Series.

SARASOTA, Fla., March 11.—Having downed Buffalo, 7 to 6, the New York Giants today are ready for the big series with Washington. The Giants almost booted the game away after getting off to a six-run lead.

M. E.'s AND M. P.'s WIN LOOP GAMES

The Methodists defeated the United Presbyterians, 46 to 33, and the Methodist Protestants won from the Christians, 51 to 32, in Sunday School league games last night on the M. P. floor.

Lutherans will play the Christians and the Baptists will tackle the Presbyterians in games Saturday at the "Y."

Mostil Out of Danger.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 11.—Johnny Mostil, star center fielder of the Chicago White Sox, who slashed himself with a razor in a suicide attempt here Tuesday, was today pronounced practically out of danger by his physicians. There is still a slight possibility of blood poison from his many wounds, physicians say, but all danger of pueumonia has passed.

Errors Beat Phils.

BRADENTON, Fla., March 11.—Losing their first exhibition game to Washington, 6 to 3, the Phillies were out today for the scalp of the Athletics. The Phils' six errors, four of them attributed to Fresco Thompson, the new second baseman, gave the game to the Senators. He and Al Nixon were the heaviest hitters among the Phils, getting two each.

Robins Win One.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 11.—The Brooklyn Dodgers have found a club they can beat—the University of Florida nine. With Babe Herman smacking a single, a double, a triple and a homer the Dodgers whitewashed the collegians, 12 to 0.

Carnegie Gridiron Star Will Address Sunday Club Here

Lloyd E. Yoder, of Salem, recognized as the greatest lineman in the history of Carnegie Tech football and considered by a large number of experts as of All-American calibre in their selections at the close of last season, will address members of the Sunday Afternoon club at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday.

Yoder's gridiron achievements are too well known to need any further embellishing. His work in the Tech-Notre Dame game, particularly, ranked him as one of the foremost linesmen of the country.

His performance in not only this game but others on the season's schedule won him the captaincy of the Eastern team which played the Western Stars in the annual charity game at San Francisco on New Year's day.

Fight Results

AT CHICAGO—Joe Simonich, of Butte, Mont., won decision over Pete Latzo, world welterweight champion, ten rounds. Latzo's title was not at stake.

George Courtney of New York won decision over Al Webster of Montana, ten rounds.

Haakon Hanson of Norway won decision over Patsy Rocco, six rounds.

AT McKEESPORT, PA.—Joe Lagray of Johnston, Pa., knocked out Georgie Meehan of Farrell, Pa., in the second round.

AT MACON, GA.—W. L. (Young) Stribling knocked out Eddie Civel of Kentucky in the second round.

M. P. LASSIES WIN CAGE TILT

The M. P. girls defeated the Christians of Wellsville on the M. P. floor Wednesday night, 40 to 22. Finney, of the locals, was the high scorer with 12 field goals, while Thompson was the chief performer for the visitors.

JUNIOR TEAMS IN TOURNEY

HARVEY J. PRICE, Y. M. C. A. boys' director, today announced plans for the second annual Y. M. C. A. junior basketball tournament which will be launched Monday, March 21, at the "Y" gym.

The tourney will bring together teams in Chester, Newell, Wellsville and East Liverpool of the ages of 14 to 17 years.

Entries are expected from the following squads:

Wellsville—Buccaneers, Juniors and Centrals; Chester — Reserves and Methodist Episcopals, Newell—Junior High; East Liverpool — Tigers Buckeyes, West End Rinkeydinks, Mc Kinley Rinkeydinks, "Y" Silents, M P. Sunday school class, M. E. Scouts Roamers, "Y" Juniors, Orchard Grove Sunday school class, East End Uniques, All Stars, Continuation School and Omars.

A meeting of all managers and captains desiring to enter will be held Monday night, March 14, at the Y M C. A. to discuss plans for the tournament and to make arrangements for entry fees, trophies, officials and by-laws.

Any other teams in the district not mentioned above, Price announces, may enter by sending representatives to the meeting Monday.

SALINEVILLE, CONQUERORS OF COLUMBIANA, FACE ELKS TONIGHT

"Ban" Disappointed As Braves Warm Up

Which is Taken by Experts to Mean That Boston Entry is Liable to Finish High This Year.

By Davis J. Walsh.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 1.—To a man up a tree who doesn't expect to come down until the whites of their eyes turn black, the Boston Braves apparently are always disappointing to the boy friend, Mr. David J. Bancroft, and all I can say is that if they only will do it again this year Boston may wake up unconscious some morning from the shock of finding itself in the first division. The Braves tossed off a tenth-inning decision to the Cleveland Indians yesterday.

This is highly encouraging. In 1923, they couldn't go wrong in the training camp and couldn't go right in the league race. The performance was a great moral victory, which is something you are careful to put out with the cat before closing up for the night.

The Braves, having lacked a real punch, were just a streaky ball club in other years, a prey to the whims of their pitchers. It may be that this condition will be altered by more pitching and less whimsicality this year; also by the possibility of additional punch being added by Lance Richmond, picked up from Milwaukee, and Jack Fournier, picked up from the odd-lot mart.

Jack still can hit them and will play an occasional first base, which is about the best way he does it. Dick Burrus, the Hatteras, N. C., gentleman, will occupy the position most of the time in spite of his 1926 slump. It seems that he was a sick man last year and the fact of the matter is that he really looks the part of a good ball player down here. In consequence, the general punch of the outfit should benefit accordingly.

Richbourg lives at Crestview, Fla., and he wouldn't have far to go if he was going, but he isn't. Getting two to three hits per diem, he has clinched his place in right field and will range the regular outfield with Jimmy Welch and Ed Brown. The Oakland, California, specimen has improved so much that he has taken the center field job away from Brown.

The latter can go a mile and get them but the trouble is that it takes him so long to carry the ball back. He shakes hands very nicely with his throwing arm. Anyhow, left field, it is figured, will make the throw less binding. As for Richbourg he always has been a hitter since that distant day he caught McGraw's eye as the third baseman of a college team in Florida.

Speaking of third basemen the Braves have two and neither is a cold choice. Eddie Moore, ex-Pirate, has been shifted over to the position he played in the Southern Association and, with his fine arm, he looks like a million. But Andy High, the other candidate, drove in more runs than any man on the club in 1926 and it is understood that they intend to count runs again this year. High is one of those men who slowed up everywhere except in driving the ball through

Mr. Bancroft, himself and in person, will play shortstop, which automatically ends that argument, if any. Walter Gautreau and Herb Thomas, from Providence via Jacksonville, are holding a two-man vendetta around second base. They like Thomas down here but Gautreau is a smart fighting fielder, gets on a lot and is likely to take the marbles in spite of his inadequate arm.

Lots of Pitchers.

The pitchers are plentiful and most of them are good—when the spirit moves. Bancroft thinks Larry Benton is the best right-hander in the league. Joe Genewich is another man who could find a home anywhere in either major league. Heran, the left-hander, showed us a great curve ball in 1926 and doesn't look as though he can miss; Harold Goldsmith, up from Providence, pitched three great games against league leading teams last September; Foster Edwards, Dartmouth man from Minneapolis, also turned in three fine performances without a run being earned.

Then, there is also Arthur Mills, from Pittsfield via Utica, of whom every one in camp is expecting great things; Kyle Graham, a very fair right-hander; Bob Smith, the pitcher-shortstop who likes to face the Pirates; Charley Robertson—no hit Charley of Chicago—and the inevitable George Mogridge. George is only 37 and ought to be developing right soon.

Johnny Cooney, last year's regular, has just undergone an operation on his arm in a Chicago hospital. They said the operation was successful, which may or may not mean that John still has the arm.

The regular catchers, Gibson and Taylor, are adequate. In addition, Francis Hogan, Somerville, Mass., recruit, is giving a good old college try at the matter of trying to beat Oscar Simer out of the warmup job.

LAUGHLIN WINS FROM CERAMICS

The Laughlin Reserves defeated the Ceramic All Stars, 31 to 23, in a game Wednesday night on the Laughlin floor, the contest going one period overtime. The Goldens starred for the Laughlins while Howell and Staley were the chief performers for the losers. Tonight the Reserves will play on the Laughlin floor while the first team plays in the preliminary to the Elks-Salineville tilt.

Single Men Accept Defi of Benedicts For Court Battle

Married men who spend their evenings, if any, at Smith News stand, recently issued a challenge to the single men for a basketball game or something.

Unable to find any of the married men at large last night, the unmarried men issued a public announcement today to the effect that they would accept the challenge of the benedicts, providing first, though, that the married men procure written permission from their wives to take part in the combat.

The date will be fixed on some night when all the members of the married men's team will be allowed out at once.

LATZO TRIMMED BY SIMONICH

CHICAGO, March 11.—Pete Latzo, welterweight champion of the world, thanked his lucky stars today that he did not wear his crown when he walked into the ring last night for his ten round bout with Joe Simonich of Butte, Mont.

Pete entered, cocky and full of confidence. But before the show was over he was trying to figue out whether this lad from the wide open spaces was a human being or a mountain cougar in disguise.

Joe slapped Pete with everything in the catalog of fistiana. But he could not knock him out. That much must be said in favor of Pete. The bout was at catchweights and Latzo's title was not at stake.

Pete showed little to indicate to the 5,000 fans who paid upwards of $10,000 to see the mill, that he was a great champion. Simonich won eight of the ten rounds, one was even and one went to Pete by a shade. It was the tenth, Latzo's best round.

George Courtney of New York, outpointed Al Webster, a Montana middleweight, in the ten round semi-wind up. Haakon Hansen, Norwegian middleweight, won the decision over Patsy Rocco in a six-round preliminary.

BENNETT, RECHT WIN CUE GAMES

H. Bennett defeated B. Severs, 25 to 17, and J. Recht won from Small, 25 to 13, in last night's three cushion matches at the Academy.

Bergner and Webb are scheduled for tonight.

Want Baseball Game.

The New Cumberland Hoscow Giants baseball club will be in the field again this year with a stronger team than ever. The Giants would like to arrange games for the season and want to hear from teams in the East Liverpool district, Chester, Newell, Weirton and New Cumberland. Write Route 4, Box 25, New Cumberland, W. Va.

Reds Face Gaston, Ballou.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 11.—Manager Howley will call upon Gaston and Ballou to work on the mound against the Cincinnati Reds here this afternoon.

Antlers Will Have Difficult Task In Trimming Visitors

Cartwright's Crew, Improving as Season Wanes, Confident of Handing Dose of Defeat to Lodge Passers Here; Lippe in Lineup.

Tom Cartwright's Salineville county league basketball team, inspired by a victory over the Columbiana Boosters in one of the most thrilling cage events of the current campaign at Salineville, will tackle the East Liverpool Elks tonight at the high school and the contest sizes up as no walkaway for the present league leaders.

Salineville side-tracked Columbiana by a one-point margin, but one point was as good as 100 and the Boosters, consequently, dropped back a notch in the race.

Prior to that disappointing event, disappointing to Columbiana, the Boosters had enjoyed a deadlock with the East Liverpool lodgemen for top honors in the circuit. Now the Elks are out in front, alone, and will have to lick Salineville tonight to stay there.

Cartwright's squad really performed a favor for the Elks in disposing of Columbiana, but it's certain they'll extend no quarter in their battle here tonight. Salineville has yet to obtain a decision over the Potters and this will be the fourth battle between the two teams this season.

Tonight's visitors have been coming along at a fast gait in the second half of the season and although they have lost more than they've won, the victories for the opposing teams were not easy. The Elks won at Salineville in their first game of the second half, but they were hustled to do it.

Over-confidence may have ruined Columbiana and it may not. But the fact remains that Salineville made field goals, and it's a cinch nobody can make field goals but the team itself.

"Take-it-easy" Nate Lippe, after an absence from the lineup of a couple of weeks, will return tonight and will execute his duties at forward.

With Center Johnson, who also manages the team, playing in brilliant form, the Lisbon Scholastics defeated the Salem Mullins Body quint last night at Salem. The final tally was 40 to 35.

Johnson eased in eight field goals and five fouls for a total of 21 points.

"qualities of endurance once undreamed-of in a car of the thousand dollar class"

In completing its now-historic 100,000-mile treadmill run in less than six months without the failure of any vital part, the Greater Oakland Six displayed qualities of endurance once undreamed-of in a car of the thousand dollar class!

Yet, dramatic as was this publicly conducted test, it only re-proved what thousands upon thousands of owners already know: that the Greater Oakland Six is winning and holding good will——not so much by the superlative beauty of its Fisher Bodies, nor by the marked advantages of Oakland's advanced engineering, but by long life and dependability that have been demonstrated under every conceivable condition of use!

This cherished reputation for stamina is not of overnight creation. It has been built up by faithful adherence to extraordinary standards of precision and quality. In the great Oakland plants there are employed countless practices which once were exclusive to the manufacture of a few of the world's costliest cars. All Oakland piston pin bushings, for example, are diamond bored to an accuracy of three ten-thousandths of an inch. All Oakland connecting rods are matched both for weight and center of gravity. All rotating parts of the car, from crankshaft to the rear axle, are balanced as a unit.

And as a result, all over America the Greater Oakland Six is establishing levels of owner satisfaction that previously have never been reached by any other car of comparable price!

Oakland Six, $1025 to $1295. The New and Finer Pontiac Six—at New Low Prices—$775 to $975. Bodies by Fisher. All prices at factory. Easy to pay on the General Motors Time Payment Plan.

But Andy High, the other candidate, drove in more runs than any man on the club in 1926 and it is understood that they intend to count runs again this year. High is one of those men who slowed up everywhere except in driving the ball through.

Mr. Bancroft, himself and in person, will play shortstop, which automatically ends that argument, if any. Walter Gautreau and Herb Thomas, from Providence via Jacksonville, are holding a two-man vendetta around second base. They like Thomas down here but Gautreau is a smart fighting fielder, gets on a lot and is likely to take the marbles in spite of his inadequate arm.

Lots of Pitchers.

The pitchers are plentiful and most of them are good—when the spirit moves. Bancroft thinks Larry Benton is the best right-hander in the league. Joe Genewich is another man who could find a home anywhere in either major league. Heran, the left-hander, showed us a great curve ball in 1926 and doesn't look as though he can miss; Harold Goldsmith, up from Providence, pitched three great games against league leading teams last September; Foster Edwards, Dartmouth man from Minneapolis, also turned in three fine performances without a run being earned.

Then, there is also Arthur Mills, from Pittsfield via Utica, of whom every one in camp is expecting great things; Kyle Graham, a very fair right-hander; Bob Smith, the pitcher-shortstop who likes to face the Pirates; Charley Robertson—no hit Charley of Chicago—and the inevitable George Mogridge. George is only 37 and ought to be developing right soon.

Johnny Cooney, last year's regular, has just undergone an operation on his arm in a Chicago hospital. They said the operation was successful, which may or may not mean that John still has the arm.

The regular catchers, Gibson and Taylor, are adequate. In addition, Francis Hogan, Somerville, Mass., recruit, is giving a good old college try at the matter of trying to beat Oscar Simer out of the warmup job.

LAUGHLIN WINS FROM CERAMICS

The Laughlin Reserves defeated the Ceramic All Stars, 31 to 23, in a game Wednesday night on the Laughlin floor, the contest going one period overtime. The Goldens starred for the Laughlins while Howell and Staley were the chief performers for the losers. Tonight the Reserves will play on the Laughlin floor while the first team plays in the preliminary to the Elks-Salineville tilt.

Single Men Accept Defi of Benedicts For Court Battle

Married men who spend their evenings, if any, at Smith News stand, recently issued a challenge to the single men for a basketball game or something.

Unable to find any of the married men at large last night, the unmarried men issued a public announcement today to the effect that they would accept the challenge of the benedicts, providing first, though, that the married men procure written permission from their wives to take part in the combat.

The date will be fixed on some night when all the members of the married men's team will be allowed out at once.

LATZO TRIMMED BY SIMONICH

CHICAGO, March 11.—Pete Latzo, welterweight champion of the world, thanked his lucky stars today that he did not wear his crown when he walked into the ring last night for his ten round bout with Joe Simonich of Butte, Mont.

Pete entered, cocky and full of confidence. But before the show was over he was trying to figue out whether this lad from the wide open spaces was a human being or a mountain cougar in disguise.

Joe slapped Pete with everything in the catalog of fistiana. But he could not knock him out. That much must be said in favor of Pete. The bout was at catchweights and Latzo's title was not at stake.

Pete showed little to indicate to the 5,000 fans who paid upwards of $10,000 to see the mill, that he was a great champion. Simonich won eight of the ten rounds, one was even and one went to Pete by a shade. It was the tenth, Latzo's best round.

George Courtney of New York, outpointed Al Webster, a Montana middleweight, in the ten round semi-wind up. Haakon Hansen, Norwegian middleweight, won the decision over Patsy Rocco in a six-round preliminary.

BENNETT, RECHT WIN CUE GAMES

H. Bennett defeated B. Severs, 25 to 17, and J. Recht won from Small, 25 to 13, in last night's three cushion matches at the Academy.

Bergner and Webb are scheduled for tonight.

Want Baseball Game.

The New Cumberland Hoscow Giants baseball club will be in the field again this year with a stronger team than ever. The Giants would like to arrange games for the season and want to hear from teams in the East Liverpool district, Chester, Newell, Weirton and New Cumberland. Write Route 4, Box 25, New Cumberland, W. Va.

Reds Face Gaston, Ballou.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 11.—Manager Howley will call upon Gaston and Ballou to work on the mound against the Cincinnati Reds here this afternoon.

Antlers Will Have Difficult Task In Trimming Visitors

Cartwright's Crew, Improving as Season Wanes, Confident of Handing Dose of Defeat to Lodge Passers Here; Lippe in Lineup.

Tom Cartwright's Salineville county league basketball team, inspired by a victory over the Columbiana Boosters in one of the most thrilling cage events of the current campaign at Salineville, will tackle the East Liverpool Elks tonight at the high school and the contest sizes up as no walkaway for the present league leaders.

Salineville side-tracked Columbiana by a one-point margin, but one point was as good as 100 and the Boosters, consequently, dropped back a notch in the race.

Prior to that disappointing event, disappointing to Columbiana, the Boosters had enjoyed a deadlock with the East Liverpool lodgemen for top honors in the circuit. Now the Elks are out in front, alone, and will have to lick Salineville tonight to stay there.

Cartwright's squad really performed a favor for the Elks in disposing of Columbiana, but it's certain they'll extend no quarter in their battle here tonight. Salineville has yet to obtain a decision over the Potters and this will be the fourth battle between the two teams this season.

Tonight's visitors have been coming along at a fast gait in the second half of the season and although they have lost more than they've won, the victories for the opposing teams were not easy. The Elks won at Salineville in their first game of the second half, but they were hustled to do it.

Over-confidence may have ruined Columbiana and it may not. But the fact remains that Salineville made field goals, and it's a cinch nobody can make field goals but the team itself.

"Take it easy" Nate Lippe, after an absence from the lineup of a couple of weeks, will return tonight and will execute his duties at forward.

With Center Johnson, who also manages the team, playing in brilliant form, the Lisbon Scholastics defeated the Salem Mullins Body quint last night at Salem. The final tally was 40 to 35.

Johnson eased in eight field goals and five fouls for a total of 21 points.

"qualities of endurance once undreamed-of in a car of the thousand dollar class"

In completing its now-historic 100,000-mile treadmill run in less than six months without the failure of any vital part, the Greater Oakland Six displayed qualities of endurance once undreamed-of in a car of the thousand dollar class!

Yet, dramatic as was this publicly conducted test, it only re-proved what thousands upon thousands of owners already know: that the Greater Oakland Six is winning and holding good will——not so much by the superlative beauty of its Fisher Bodies, nor by the marked advantages of Oakland's advanced engineering, but by long life and dependability that have been demonstrated under every conceivable condition of use!

This cherished reputation for stamina is not of overnight creation. It has been built up by faithful adherence to extraordinary standards of precision and quality. In the great Oakland plants there are employed countless practices which once were exclusive to the manufacture of a few of the world's costliest cars. All Oakland piston pin bushings, for example, are diamond bored to an accuracy of three ten-thousandths of an inch. All Oakland connecting rods are matched both for weight and center of gravity. All rotating parts of the car, from crankshaft to the rear axle, are balanced as a unit.

And as a result, all over America the Greater Oakland Six is establishing levels of owner satisfaction that previously have never been reached by any other car of comparable price!

Oakland Six, $1025 to $1295. The New and Finer Pontiac Six—at New Low Prices—$775 to $975. Bodies by Fisher. All prices at factory. Easy to pay on the General Motors Time Payment Plan.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART

"STRENGTH OF HORSE" NEEDED BY SENATORS, WINDUP PROVES

WASHINGTON, March 11.—For such a windup as marked the closing days of the 69th congress a senator needs the strength of a horse.

In that congress at the windup nearly every evening, one session of 30½ hours straightaway, another one of 27 hours and a few minutes without a break, and in between times the leaders of the fight had to slog up on preparation of the speeches they expected to deliver as soon as the fireworks started in again.

Plenty of senators didn't get more than two or three hours of sleep out of any 24 for ten days before adjournment, and that isn't taking into consideration the days and nights when they didn't get any slep at all.

Senator Reed of Missouri says he managed to put in just 40 minutes of slumber between 11 o'clock on the morning of March 2 and a trifle after 12 on the morning of March 4.

He was very short on sleep to begin with, at that, and dozed off right in his seat in the senate chamber, though the rafters were ringing with an address George Moses of New Hampshire was delivering at the time. Much Jim Reed cared! Yet when, those 40 minutes up, his friends dragged him onto his feet again for a fresh oratorical whirl, he fell instantly and automatically into parliamentary fighting position once more, just as a game scrapper does in the ring long after, by good rights, he ought to be down and out.

Senator Reed of Pennsylvania never slept a wink but he's nearly 20 years younger than the Missourian, a man of 65, but tougher than whalebone just the same.

Senators Joe Robinson, Pat Harrison, Walsh of Massachusetts, McNary and Shortridge were others, besides Moses and the two Reeds, who got mighty little, if any rest.

It was surprising how most of the veterans stood the gaff. A hard-boiled generation, they looked fresher, on an average, at the contest's end, than the rank and file of their juniors.

Jim Reed even had the pep to give out a belligerent interview, declaring his slush fund committee will go on investigating all summer, though the senate did refuse to vote an extension of its tenure. On the other hand "young Bob" LaFollette, his most devoted committee associate, who has all his father's spirit, but not his constitution, gave out and had to go home sick.

The senate was dopier at its final session than immediately following the longer one which preceded it.

Its 37-hour stretch was concluded with an 8½-hour adournment. Now 8½ hours isn't enough to make up for so much lost sleep. Quite a few senators, unwilling to waste even the necessary time to get to and from hotels, turned in on sofas or tables in their quarters in the scenate office building and slept frankly in their underwear.

There were some pretty bleary eyes and unshorn chins at 8:30 a. m.

The house of representatives had been keeping respectable hours and was feeling fine.

After adjournment it held a concert.

The senators would have been welcome if they'd cared to attend, but, "To hades with concerts" was the popular refrain at the north end of the Capitol, as Vice President Dawes' gavel fell. "Us for the hay."

It's reported in the hotel lobbies that some senators are sleeping yet

Campaign Progressing.

COLUMBUS, O.—General headquarters here for the national campaign of the Presbyterian church, to raise $15,000,000 for pensions for its aged or disabled ministers and missionaries today announced $9,200,000 has been pledged, with campaigns from Illinois to California still to come.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

To Neutralize Acidity and Fermentation. Prevents Indigestion, Sour Gassy Stomach.

People who suffer from indigestion usually have tried pepsin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and know these things will not cure their trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up to chronic dyspepsia, just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate or milk, but pure Bisurated Magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powder or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or four compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulency, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat. You can enjoy your meals without a fear of indigestion.

WEHNER SUES WARD COMPANY

Asks $200 Damages as Result of Auto Accident.

Francis J. Wehner, of the Ceramic Motor company, West Fifth street, has filed suit in municipal court, seeking $200 damages from the Ward Baking company, whose local representative resides at 822 Avondale street, as a result of an auto-truck crash on Todd avenue, Warren, on August 16, last.

Wehner alleges that he had sounded his horn twice when the driver, without a signal of any kind, swerved his truck to the left of the road, causing the front end of the Wehner car to crash into the rear left side of the truck.

The radiator, fenders and front end of the Studebaker machine were damaged.

The action was filed by Cochran and Crawford, counsel for the plaintiff.

The Salem Tool company of Salem seeks to collect $1,062.58 from Oscar H. Felton of Chester. The amount is due, it is claimed, for iron castings, wood patterns, metal patterns, steel and labor. The action was filed by Attorney Charles Boyd.

In spite of a strong, public feeling that the "Buy British Goods" campaign should be encouraged, officials of Durban, South Africa, have just placed the order for telephone equipment with a German concern.

Belfast, Ireland, is paying each week $250,000 for unemployment, $125,000 for old-age and $50,000 for widows and orphans' pensions.

WILLARD MACK HERE MARCH 16

Author-player Heads Cast of "Honor be Damned!"

With the exception of Clyde Fitch and Henrik Ibsen, Willard Mack had more plays being played in New York City at one time this winter than any other author in the history of the American stage.

Some years ago, Clyde Fitch had four of his plays on the boards at one time in New York. Last year Henrik Ibsen had five plays advertised simultaneously on Broadway. Last December, Willard Mack had four of his plays running at one time and he played in one of them, "Lily Sue." They were "Fanny," "The Noose," "Lily Sue" and "The Hangman's House," all good solid dramas.

His newest play, "Honor Be Damned," will be the offering at the Ceramic on March 16, with the distinguished author-player himself by arrangement of David Belasco in the leading role. He is supported by a splendid cast headed by William Courtleigh, who will be remembered for the many cameo-cut characterizations he has contributed to the American gallery of famous histrionic personages. There is also Ruth King, an actress of sterling ability; Ethel Grey Terry, Beatrice Banyard and Lizzie McCall, who comprise the female contingent, with Huron L. Blyden, Carl Gerard, Harry English, George Cleveland, Thomas F. Tracey and Harry Jovner prominently mentioned among the men on the program.

"Honor Be Damned!" is said to be basically the best constructed play ever written by this wizard of melodrama and is founded upon the events which surrounded the career of a well-known criminal attorney who was the guardian, pal and adviser of more political gangsters and professional crooks than any other devotee of Blackstone who ever faced a jury. Needless to state that Mack plays the attorney, and reports indicate that he will register the biggest hit of his life in this most exacting role. Courtleigh plays the political boss, and those who remember his big triumph in "So This Is Politics" can readily surmise what to expect from his performance.

40 Mongolian Camels Join Indiana Circus; Arrive in Good Shape

PERU, Indiana—Forty camels which arrived direct from Mongolia are the latest addition to the winter circus quarters here.

The camels came on express cars from New York. They were unloaded and tethered around a shadowy bonfire near the Wabash freight depot here, giving the place the appearance of an Arabian scene.

The animals were escorted from their native land by dusky attendants who got them here in fine condition.

Nearly all type composing machines now used in Germany were made in this country.

Says Toes Are Passing Out.

"Toes are getting obsolete nowadays," said Dr. Foster Coates a well-known specialist, in giving evidence in the recorder's court of Belfast, Ireland, recently. He added that big toes of many people, and some other terminal members of the feet of others were deformed. Toes are like the appendix, he said, for some people were better without them. The case was in connection with the ruling on a workman's compensation for injuries received when a box fell on his toes.

Absolute peace is no doubt wearisome, even to those persons who admit they are pacifists and are accordingly opposed to war.—Zanesville Signal.

It costs more money to live, perhaps, but not more labor.—Mansfield Journal.

It tastes so good so rich and smooth
and the tender bran is so valuable

Most little children, doctors say, should have a certain amount of tender roughage—and the bran covering of the oat is especially good for them because it is so tender.

That is why Mother's Oats has the approval of child health specialists who urge the importance of the natural whole grains. Vitamins and minerals known to be necessary for growth are liberally supplied by a bowl of Mother's Oats and milk—and an abundance of the tissue-forming protein of which children often fail to get enough.

Let your growing children have this healthful growth food often. See how they love its rich whole-grain flavor—see how they appreciate its extra smoothness that comes from the fifty years of experience of its careful millers.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with the Aunt Jemima coupons that bring you silverware, tuners articles, and many other fine furnishings for your home.

PERU, Indiana—Forty camels which arrived direct from Mongolia are the latest addition to the winter circus quarters here.

The camels came on express cars from New York. They were unloaded and tethered around a shadowy bonfire near the Wabash freight depot here, giving the place the appearance of an Arabian scene.

The animals were escorted from their native land by dusky attendants who get them here in fine condition.

Nearly all type composing machines now used in Germany were made in this country.

Says Toes Are Passing Out.

"Toes are getting obsolete nowadays," said Dr. Foster Coates a well-known specialist, in giving evidence in the recorder's court of Belfast, Ireland, recently. He added that big toes of many people, and some other terminal members of the feet of others were deformed. Toes are like the appendix, he said, for some people were better without them. The case was in connection with the ruling on a workman's compensation for injuries received when a box fell on his toes.

Absolute peace is no doubt wearisome, even to those persons who admit they are pacifists and are accordingly opposed to war.—Zanesville Signal.

It costs more money to live, perhaps, but not more labor.—Mansfield Journal.

It tastes so good so rich and smooth
and the tender bran is so valuable

Most little children, doctors say, should have a certain amount of tender roughage—and the bran covering of the oat is especially good for them because it is so tender.

That is why Mother's Oats has the approval of child health specialists who urge the importance of the natural whole grains. Vitamins and minerals known to be necessary for growth are liberally supplied by a bowl of Mother's Oats and milk—and an abundance of the tissue-forming protein of which children often fail to get enough.

Let your growing children have this healthful growth food often. See how they love its rich whole-grain flavor—see how they appreciate its extra smoothness that comes from the fifty years of experience of its careful millers.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with the Aunt Jemima coupons that bring you silverware, toilet articles, and many other fine furnishings for your home.

RECORD CROWD AT OPENING OF NASH DISPLAY

New Body Designs Make Instant Hit at Auto Show.

EUROPEAN LINES

Awarding of Free Set of Tires to Feature Saturday Closing.

The New Nash Ambassador and Cavalier, with their French type roofs and forward sweeping backs have been an outstanding attraction at the big automobile show held in the Turk-Nash sales room, in the Sturgis building, which opened last night. Crowds which literally jammed the Nash display rooms were outspoken in their enthusiasm for these newest Nash creations. On all sides the new Nash body conception is being referred to as the most striking development in the history of American closed car craftsmanship and it is freely prophesied that it would exert a profound influence upon the whole future trend of enclosed car body design in this country.

As a matter of fact this new Nash design really inaugurates America's rise to the heights long held by the great body designers of Europe whose conceptions have always been regarded as authentic. Now, under the leadership of Nash, this country may be expected to reverse oldtime traditions and establish itself as the world center of motor car style.

It will probably be only a question of months before other large motor car manufacturers will be developing models that pursue the general lines Nash has now inaugurated in the Ambassador and Cavalier.

Of particular interest is the manner in which Nash body artists have treated the roofline and the rear of the body. Their graceful contours and perfect symmetry though strongly suggestive of the French mode are entirely original with Nash. And the "town car" effect at the front is also a decided Nash innovation that immediately captured the admiration of show visitors.

Visitors were entertained throughout the show last night by the DeMar Miller orchestra. They will also be on hand for the remaining two days of the display which closes Saturday night.

A feature of the closing will be the drawing for the free set of tires to be awarded the person holding the lucky ticket. Tickets are distributed to all attending the show.

Gas, Heartburn, Discomfort ARE Serious! Here's an Old-fashioned Treatment that Keeps You Fit

GAS, heartburn, discomfort after meals—Nature's way of telling you there's something wrong. Dillingham's Plant Juice will help you to feel well and BE well again.

Mrs. Lillian Bitting of 419 Max St., Allentown, Pa., says: "My appetite was so poor I did not care whether I ate or not. Gas caused severe pains, my nerves were upset and robbed me of many a night's sleep. I felt dull, listless, and weak. Since taking Plant Juice, pains and distress are gone. My nerves are calm and steady, and my sleep is sound and unbroken."

Plant Juice is a pleasant-tasting remedy, made only from herbs and plants. Naturally, without griping, it cleanses and tones up your system. Give this fine old remedy a chance to do you some real good. Ask your druggist for the original

Nash Leads the World in Motor Car Value

A Luxurious Car at Low Cost

Now Nash takes the style lead of the $1000 field with the introduction of this superb new De Luxe Light Six 4-Door Sedan.

Finished in lustrous lacquer that is toned an exquisite shade of blue, this beautiful new Nash model constitutes an example of value-giving at its price that is unparalleled in this field.

The seat upholstery is of the genuine Chase Velmo Mohair Velvet; there's a motometer atop the graceful winged radiator cap; the steering wheel is of genuine Circassian walnut; and there are bumpers in front and bumperettes at the rear.

Both the headlamps and cowl lights are patterned in the smart bullet-type of design; and a decorative note is achieved in the interior with the walnut finished instrument board and window ledges.

4-wheel brakes and 5 disc wheels are included in its standard equipment and the car possesses the superlative performance ability of a 7-bearing motor—the world's smoothest type.

PASTOR REWRITES "LOVE, HONOR, "OBEY PART OF MARRIAGE CEREMONY

BEAUMONT, Tex.—It used to be "until death do us part." Now it is "as long as this union shall last."

Believing that the traditional phrase used in marriage ceremonies deliberately places men and women in a position that later may cause one or both to violate their marriage oaths or tell a lie, Rev. Aubrey Hess, pastor of the First Congregational church, here, has rewritten the words he uses in ceremonies.

There might be a divorce or a separation, Rev. Hess says, either of which would result in a violation of the oath if the old phrase were used.

Instead of the world "love, honor and obey," Hess uses "to love, forgive for, to make a home for and to remain clean, true and spotless."

Activities of Fake Curio Dealers Curbed In South Africa

CAPE TOWN. — South Africa is probably the first country in the world to protect its visitors from dishonest curio sellers.

Since the American tourist ships first began to visit the country and hundreds of their passengers made the trip "up-country," the Government has realized that to allow people to carry "fakes" as curios away with them would be bad business. Now the different Chambers of Commerce have been asked to collect genuine curios from the native territories and sell them to tourists.

Americans are developing a large drainage and water-supply project in Greece.

Becomes a Poet

Miss Elizabeth McCann of Zanesville, O., was a stenographer when she felt the urge to write poetry. It wouldn't down. She came to the College of Women of Western Reserve University, Cleveland. And now her poetry is appearing regularly in "The Sun Dial," the college magazine. What's more, it's predicted Miss McCann's name soon will be known in a larger field.

TOMORROW-DO A FULL DAY'S WORK

Be Ambitious! Keep Looking and Feeling Young! Be Healthy, Happy!

If constipated, bilious, or you suffer from sour, gassy stomach, feel irritable, have no energy and hate to get up in the morning, by all means try simple sensible "VINCO." A pleasant chocolate coated tablet made of herbs, roots and barks (no dope). Does not gripe or sicken.

"VINCO" works day or night — always the same—always effective. Regulates, does not purge, but tones the bowels and intestines.

Lay aside nasty salts, dangerous calomel or harsh physics. Get a 25c box of simple, sensible "VINCO." Take a tablet tonight! Feel fine tomorrow! Do a full day's work! Keep looking and feeling young!

TEETH IN RELATION TO HEALTH

CANDY VS. GOOD TOOTH FOODS

(Editor's note—The following is the sixth of a series of articles on various phases of dentistry prepared by a representative of the East Liverpool-Wellsville Dental society).

Candy has been used as a reward so long for doing things that grown up folks as well as children have forgotten that candy is a food; but don't misunderstand, it is never to be given in the place of food, which is too often done, and never should be eaten between meals. That is the time, however, when most of it is eaten and in substituting for the food that would be eaten at the next meal the child does not get the proper nourishment that he should have.

Candy contains sugar, and that part of it is all right, but the child as well as the adult needs many other foods than sugar. We would not think of giving a bowl of toast and milk as a reward to the child because that is part of his regular meal. We give him a bit of chocolate, and supper time finds him without any desire to eat. All his troubles are lightened with candy. When he weeps or suffers pain he is fed a piece of candy. Then when the doctor examines him and finds him undernourished and underweight, his teeth in bad condition and his digestion poor, he decides to put him on a diet. This could have been prevented had candy been considered a food and given to the child with the meal instead of between meals as a reward to have the child do what we want him to do.

Candy eaten with or immediately after meals does no damage to the appetite and may induce a child who has not a very big appetite to take a little more food because he fancies its flavor. As a flavor, sugar enables us to give a child the pleasaure of some sweet, and as long as it is wisely used, need not be withheld from the diet altogether.

Candy harms the teeth also by adhering to their surfaces, the saliva making a syrup of it which gets into the grooves of the teeth and leaves a sticky layer on which the bacteria of decay will grow.

To eat sweets and avoid decay the teeth need to be brushed very thoroughly immediately after eating. When cavities are present they should be filled since the tooth brush cannot clean cavities thoroughly. The use of slightly acid foods as the last article to be eaten in a meal is beneficial. The acid removes these sticky particles and has a stimulating effect upon the salivary glands so that the free flow of saliva following quickly neutralizes the acid.

In the light of modern studies in nutrition, one is inclined to think of certain foods as tooth foods We are beginning to know at any rate, that faulty development of the teeth in infants and older children, defects in eruption of teeth and decay of the teeth are associated with the lack of certain essential ingredients in the diet.

The development during very early life of a sound set of teeth is most important. Foods best for tooth development at this age are: Milk—a quart a day—some to drink, some on cereal, some for soups, some for simple desserts as custards, junkets, etc. Leafy vegetables, especially the tender varieties, as spinach, and beet tops, are favored. All other easily digested vegetables, properly cooked can be introduced gradually. Use some fruit, raw or cooked, daily. Whole grain cereals, hard whole wheat or whole rye bread are good for chewing and exercising the teeth and jaws. Eggs, not more than one daily, are preferable to meat. Restrict the sweets in the diet, especially white sugar in any form. It is best to obtain sweets from natural sources such as figs, dates, raisins, honey and maple syrup.

Proper care, daily cleaning and regular visits to the dentist will help to keep the temporary teeth in good condition until they are replaced by the permanent set. The use of proper food with the emphasis on mastication (thoroughly chewing the food) also affects the health of the temporary teeth and provides building materials for the continuous development of the permanent set.

Remember children and older ones, too, that a chocolate bar or lump of sugar can never give you a beautiful set of teeth, or help you to keep the good teeth you already have, if you insist on eating it at the time when you should be eating wholesome foods, fruits, and vegetables that contain mineral salts for good teeth.

Most of the big jobs are held by men who do not give a darn how women dress.—Greenville Advocate.

NERVOUS PEOPLE ARE HALF FED

When you know you have nerves, something is wrong. A well nourished, healthy body should never even know that nerves exist, except for the sensation of feeling. But when your nerves jangle, when you jump at noises, or when you cannot sleep, it is Nature's way of calling for help.

Crying for Food

And it is almost always a safe bet that your nerves are crying for proper food. Your body is not supplying what is needed for the harmony of health. Chances are that the catarrh you have noticed in nose and throat has spread to the stomach Then, no matter how much you eat your system does not get the right nourishment. How can it, with the lining of your stomach inflamed and congested?

Because your muscles demand it, the nerves are put on half rations. They let you know it, too. What you need then is to get rid of the catarrh. Thousands have done that with World's Tonic. Not only is it recommended for catarrh, but it tones up the digestion, restores the balance in all processes, and builds you up. When that is done, you can forget you have nerves.

World's Tonic is sold by Carnahan's also Brannon, Wellsville and all other good druggists. (213).

OUR MENUS ARE UPSIDE DOWN, SAYS ENGLISH DENTAL EXPERT

BOSTON.—American dinner menus are upside down. They begin with fruit and end with starchy, sugary desserts. They should finish with apples, oranges, or nuts; and start off with a dish of potatoes and a taste of sweets, if the tteth of the nation are to be preserved.

Dr. J. Sims Wallace, British dental expert, after studying Yankee teeth, has decided that the dentists on this side of the water are first-rate but the cooks are poor. He is positive that if the housewives would listen to him, their dentists' bills would be cut to less than half.

His rules for not having to go to the dentists are simple enough: Finish every meal with a cleansing food like fresh fruit, nuts, raw vegetables, crusts of bread, meat, fish, or bacon; and begin it with any starchy or sugary dish. If you must have sweets, Chocolate, or biscuits, eat them only at meal times and follow them by a cleanser. Chew your food well and breathe through your nose.

Dr. Wallace, who is a member of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons in London, has experimented with his theories on English children and has had fine results. He has collected statistics of the decay of teeth in children of five, both before and after the war. By the increase from 5 per cent in 1914 to 48 per cent in 1919 of children with perfect teeth, he proves that in time of war, when sugar and milk are scarce, teeth are healthier.

This dentist-doctor is not an advocate of milk babies. He thinks that at eight or nine months, when their teeth begin to appear, infants should immediately be given solids like toasted bread and butter. Their milk should be decreased, and cleansing foods should be given after the milk, as soon as the child is old enough. At two years of age, a baby should have three meals a day (soup to nuts is the proper order), just as his parents have. Eating between meals and drinking during them should be discouraged.

A Rockefeller Wins

John Rockefeller Prentice, 22-year-old grandson of John D. Rockefeller, who is working his way through Yale university after having been suspended in 1920 for "cutting classes," has just been elected to the Phi Betta Kappa society. After his suspension, Prentice started to work and in five years returned with the money he had saved and re-entered the university.

"THE WORKINGMAN'S FRIEND"

OUR MENUS ARE UPSIDE DOWN, SAYS ENGLISH DENTAL EXPERT

BOSTON.—American dinner menus are upside down. They begin with fruit and end with starchy, sugary desserts. They should finish with apples, oranges, or nuts; and start off with a dish of potatoes and a taste of sweets, if the tteth of the nation are to be preserved.

Dr. J. Sims Wallace, British dental expert, after studying Yankee teeth, has decided that the dentists on this side of the water are first-rate but the cooks are poor. He is positive that if the housewives would listen to him, their dentists' bills would be cut to less than half.

His rules for not having to go to the dentists are simple enough: Finish every meal with a cleansing food like fresh fruit, nuts, raw vegetables, crusts of bread, meat, fish, or bacon; and begin it with any starchy or sugary dish. If you must have sweets, Chocolate, or biscuits, eat them only at meal times and follow them by a cleanser. Chew your food well and breathe through your nose.

Dr. Wallace, who is a member of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons in London, has experimented with his theories on English children and has had fine results. He has collected statistics of the decay of teeth in children of five, both before and after the war. By the increase from 5 per cent in 1914 to 48 per cent in 1919 of children with perfect teeth, he proves that in time of war, when sugar and milk are scarce, teeth are healthier.

This dentist-doctor is not an advocate of milk babies. He thinks that at eight or nine months, when their teeth begin to appear, infants should immediately be given solids like toasted bread and butter. Their milk should be decreased, and cleansing foods should be given after the milk, as soon as the child is old enough. At two years of age, a baby should have three meals a day (soup to nuts is the proper order), just as his parents have. Eating between meals and drinking during them should be discouraged.

A Rockefeller Wins

John Rockefeller Prentice, 22-year-old grandson of John D. Rockefeller, who is working his way through Yale university after having been suspended in 1920 for "cutting classes," has just been elected to the Phi Betta Kappa society. After his suspension, Prentice started to work and in five years returned with the money he had saved and re-entered the university.

"THE WORKINGMAN'S FRIEND"

The Little White Hag

By Francis Beeding

©BY LITTLE, BROWN and CO. RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER SIXTY-ONE.

It was the voice of the man from London who had taken so prominent a part in the discussion at the chalet.

Without further words, I grappled with him. We fought savagely in the pitch darkness, entangled with the bush into which we had fallen, confused and panting. He got a grip on my collar, but in the struggle it gave way, and he tore a great piece of it with a rending sound. I was baffled by the darkness, unable to judge the exact whereabouts of my opponent, but as my collar went I found him, and my arms closed about his knees. He crashed again heavily, ripping the coat still more in his fall, and it flashed across my mind incongruously, as I heard it tear, that after all it wasn't my coat, though I was sorry for its owner, whoever he might be. I held on grimly, though my opponent kicked and struggled furiously, and a moment later lights were flashing round us. Somebody stampeded heavily past me; the man I was holding gave a groan; then came a voice in French:

"Keep still or I fire."

There was a sharp metallic click followed by another oath in English. Then a hand was laid on my shoulder, and the welcome tones of a gendarme fell upon my ear.

"It's all right, Monsieur. We've got him, thanks to you."

I loosened my grip and stood up. The light of a torch held by one of the gendarmes showed me a group of three persons, consisting of the Commissioner, the prisoner and one of the detectives, who had clapped the handcuffs on him and was holding him by the arm.

"C'est vous, alors?" said the Commissioner. "Well done, Monsieur. Are you hurt?"

"No, thanks," I replied. "Where are the others?"

"We've got them in the cave," he said, and picking up the whistle hanging from his neck by a cord, he blew a long blast.

I went down and groped for the pistol which after some search I found close to the remains of the bush.

Meanwhile the Commissioner turned to the gendarme, saying in French:

"Take the prisoner to the road, Jean. And shoot if he tries to escape."

I looked at the Englishman. His face was sullen, but he had ceased to protest.

"Do you understand what he says?" I asked. "You'd better go quietly."

"My God!" he exclaimed, staring at me in amazement. "It's the mad patient from Doctor Kuntz's Home."

"En route," said the gendarme beside him, taking his arm and leading him away.

He went like one dazed, as I followed the Commissioner.

"Where are Mr. Claypole and the Center?" I inquired.

"Come to the caves," said the Commissioner. "My men have got them I think. The gang were on the lookout and fired on me before I reached the cave."

"Did they hit anybody?"

"I don't think so," he replied.

We had by this time arrived at the caves. They were two small openings in the side of the ravine, some four feet high and screened by bushes. Outside stood a number of persons whom I could not distinguish in the darkness. The Commissioner flashed his torch upon them.

"Who have you there, Sergeant?" he rapped out.

A burly gendarme in plain clothes moved up as we approached.

"Two men, Monsieur le Commissioner," he replied briskly, "the Japanese and another, nationality at present unknown, but he is not a Swiss."

"Is that all?"

"Oui, Monsieur le Commissaire," said the gendarme. "There was no one else."

I looked quickly toward the prisoners, and my heart sank.

In the light of the Commissioner's torch I could see two men. One was a little Japanese, whom I recognized as one of the Center's innumerable servants, the other was a short, thickset man whom I could not remember to have seen.

The Center was not there.

"Is there no one else?" I said urgently to the Commissioner. "Who brought these men to the caves? Where is Finckelstein?"

The unknown prisoner, overhearing my words, burst in a loud laugh.

"D'sappointed, are you? Not quite so clever as you thought," he said. "You set a trap to catch an eagle and you have caught a crow, in the person of your humble servant." And, drawing himself up to his full height, he bowed as gracefully as his handcuffed wrists would allow.

"What can this mean?" I cried in dismay. "Surely the Center must be here."

The prisoner looked me up and down.

"So," he said, "it's the mad patient. Quite bright for a police officer. It's unfortunate that you missed the big game, and I suspect that Mr. Finckelstein, for whom you seem to be so anxious, will be put to considerable inconvenience for this night's work."

I turned to the Commissioner.

"Claypole has somehow failed."

"Evidently," he replied grimly. "We have, as the prisoner says, captured only the smaller fry. We will make sure of them, anyway.'

He blew three more blasts on his whistle, and in a few moments there came from the undergrowth sounds of crackling, and then there appeared in front of us some half-dozen police officers in a variety of plain clothes.

The Commissioner questioned them rapidly. They replied to the effect that they had watched the caves since midday and that no one except the persons already captured had come here. I listened to their tale with increasingly anxiety. At its conclusion the Commissioner turned to me.

"You recognize the prisoners?"

"Yes," I answered dully. "They are members of the Ring."

"Well, that's better than nothing," said the Commissioner. "They seem to be a pretty desperate lot."

His eyes, as he spoke, rested on one of the gendarmes who was standing with a white, strained face and a loose, swinging right arm.

IS THERE NO RELIEF FROM SKIN TORTURE?

Must I Continue to Suffer the Unbearable Itching?

Are you one of those unfortunates who are going through life suffering with a skin disease, making you uncomfortable, making you less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep? You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S. S. S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in many forms of skin disease. Thousands of letter of gratitude prove its worth.

"I feel so happy for what S. S. S. has done for me that I want others to know about it. I suffered twenty long years from eczema. At times the itching was unbearable. During that time, I used all kinds of salves without receiving any real benefit. After taking six bottles of S. S. S, I was cured of this dreadful disease. I recommend S. S. S. to anyone suffering from eczema, because I cannot praise it enough for what it has done for me." Cleophas Forte, Soldiers and Sailors Home, Quincy, Ill.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

DENNY SCORES ANOTHER HIT

Comedy of New Type is Offering at Ceramic.

If you were a real English "Sir"—

And you wanted to meet a girl and couldn't do it unless you posed as someone else—

And you attended a house party under false colors and then discovered that someone else had arrived using your title—

If you proposed to the lady of your heart and then found that a woman claiming to be your wife had arrived—

That would seem to be about enough trouble and excitement for one evening, wouldn't it?

But that ain't half of what happens to Reginald Denny in "The Cheerful Fraud," the hilarious Universal farce comedy which came to the Ceramic theatre last night.

That "The Cheerful Fraud" is the best thing Denny has done since "What Happened to Jones" is the consensus of opinion of those who witnessed the picture last night.

It is a comedy of a new type, with clever situations, fast moving comedy and an unexpected turning of plot at entirely unsuspected moments, and it leaves nothing to be desired in the way of entertainment.

Gertrude Olmstead, who played opposite the farce comedy star in "California Straight Ahead" again has the feminine lead. Otis Harlan, Gertrude Astor, Emily Fitzroy, Charles Gerrard and others are in prominent supporting roles.

"The Cheerful Fraud" was directed by William A. Seiter, the brilliant young director who has done such splendid work on Denny's last five productions.

Fish Producers Assail Resolution Of Game Officials

SANDUSKY.—Fish producers meeting here are taking exceptions to the resolution of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania and Canadian game officials interest of closed season on white fish after November 15. They declare white fish do not leave Canadian waters until late in the fall and that closed season proposed would work to the detriment of United States fishermen. CHAPTER SIXTY-ONE.

It was the voice of the man from London who had taken so prominent a part in the discussion at the chalet.

Without further words, I grappled with him. We fought savagely in the pitch darkness, entangled with the bush into which we had fallen, confused and panting. He got a grip on my collar, but in the struggle it gave way, and he tore a great piece of it with a rending sound. I was baffled by the darkness, unable to judge the exact whereabouts of my opponent, but as my collar went I found him, and my arms closed about his knees. He crashed again heavily, ripping the coat still more in his fall, and it flashed across my mind incongruously, as I heard it tear, that after all it wasn't my coat, though I was sorry for its owner, whoever he might be. I he'd on grimly, though my opponent kicked and struggled furiously, and a moment later lights were flashing round us. Somebody stampeded heavily past me; the man I was holding gave a groan; then came a voice in French:

"Keep still or I fire."

There was a sharp metallic click followed by another oath in English. Then a hand was laid on my shoulder, and the welcome tones of a gendarme fell upon my ear.

"It's all right, Monsieur. We've got him, thanks to you."

I loosened my grip and stood up. The light of a torch held by one of the gendarmes showed me a group of three persons, consisting of the Commissioner, the prisoner and one of the detectives, who had clapped the handcuffs on him and was holding him by the arm.

"C'est vous, alors?" said the Commissioner. "Well done, Monsieur. Are you hurt?"

"No, thanks," I replied. "Where are the others?"

"We've got them in the cave," he said, and picking up the whistle hanging from his neck by a cord, he blew a long blast.

I went down and groped for the pistol which after some search I found close to the remains of the bush.

Meanwhile the Commissioner turned to the gendarme, saying in French:

"Take the prisoner to the road, Jean. And shoot if he tries to escape."

I looked at the Englishman. His face was sullen, but he had ceased to protest.

"Do you understand what he says?" I asked. "You'd better go quietly."

"My God!" he exclaimed, staring at me in amazement. "It's the mad patient from Doctor Kuntz's Home."

"En route," said the gendarme beside him, taking his arm and leading him away.

He went like one dazed, as I followed the Commissioner.

"Where are Mr. Claypole and the Center?" I inquired.

"Come to the caves," said the Commissioner. "My men have got them I think. The gang were on the lookout and fired on me before I reached the cave."

"Did they hit anybody?"

"I don't think so," he replied.

We had by this time arrived at the caves. They were two small openings in the side of the ravine, some four feet high and screened by bushes. Outside stood a number of persons whom I could not distinguish in the darkness. The Commissioner flashed his torch upon them.

"Who have you there, Sergeant?" he rapped out.

A burly gendarme in plain clothes moved up as we approached.

"Two men, Monsieur le Commissioner," he replied briskly, "the Japanese and another, nationality at present unknown, but he is not a Swiss."

"Is that all?"

"Oui, Monsieur le Commissaire," said the gendarme. "There was no one else."

I looked quickly toward the prisoners, and my heart sank.

In the light of the Commissioner's torch I could see two men. One was a little Japanese, whom I recognized as one of the Center's innumerable servants, the other was a short, thickset man whom I could not remember to have seen.

The Center was not there.

"Is there no one else?" I said urgently to the Commissioner. "Who brought these men to the caves? Where is Finckelstein?"

The unknown prisoner, overhearing my words, burst in a loud laugh.

"D'sappointed, are you? Not quite so clever as you thought," he said. "You set a trap to catch an eagle and you have caught a crow, in the person of your humble servant." And, drawing himself up to his full height, he bowed as gracefully as his handcuffed wrists would allow.

"What can this mean?" I cried in dismay. "Surely the Center must be here."

The prisoner looked me up and down.

"So," he said, "it's the mad patient. Quite bright for a police officer. It's unfortunate that you missed the big game, and I suspect that Mr. Finckelstein, for whom you seem to be so anxious, will be put to considerable inconvenience for this night's work."

I turned to the Commissioner.

"Claypole has somehow failed."

"Evidently," he replied grimly. "We have, as the prisoner says, captured only the smaller fry. We will make sure of them, anyway."

He blew three more blasts on his whistle, and in a few moments there came from the undergrowth sounds of crackling, and then there appeared in front of us some half-dozen police officers in a variety of plain clothes.

The Commissioner questioned them rapidly. They replied to the effect that they had watched the caves since midday and that no one except the persons already captured had come here. I listened to their tale with increasingly anxiety. At its conclusion the Commissioner turned to me.

"You recognize the prisoners?"

"Yes," I answered dully. "They are members of the Ring."

"Well, that's better than nothing," said the Commissioner. "They seem to be a pretty desperate lot."

His eyes, as he spoke, rested on one of the gendarmes who was standing with a white, strained face and a loose, swinging right arm.

IS THERE NO RELIEF FROM SKIN TORTURE?

Must I Continue to Suffer the Unbearable Itching?

Are you one of those unfortunates who are going through life suffering with a skin disease, making you uncomfortable, making you less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep? You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S. S. S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in many forms of skin disease. Thousands of letter of gratitude prove its worth.

"I feel so happy for what S. S. S. has done for me that I want others to know about it. I suffered twenty long years from eczema. At times the itching was unbearable. During that time, I used all kinds of salves without receiving any real benefit. After taking six bottles of S. S. S., I was cured of this dreadful disease. I recommend S. S. S. to anyone suffering from eczema, because I cannot praise it enough for what it has done for me." Cleophas Forte, Soldiers and Sailors Homt, Quincy, Ill.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

TAX AIMED AT TOBACCO DEALERS

Retail dealers in all forms of tobacco would pay an increased tax on all forms of tobacco and tobacco products for the benefit of the elementary public schools of the state, according to the provisions of a bill introduced in the lower house at Charleston by Delegate Knabenshue.

The measure provides that the tax shall be one cent for each 10 cents or fractional part thereof of the retail selling price of all smoking and chewing tobacco, cigars, cigarettes, cheroots and snuff made of tobacco or any substitute thereof.

I'm Most Grateful Every Month

Here's glorious news for long suffering womankind! To every woman who periodically has suffered pain. Menstruation need no longer be painful. And it is science that is speaking.

Specialists have developed a tiny tablet called midol. It's a simple thing, utterly harmless to a girl of fourteen, but it brings relief in five to seven minutes. And is effective twelve hours or longer!

Midol is NOT a narcotic. It has no effect whatever on heart or nervous system. It acts directly on those organs affected by menstruation. They function normally, as they should, but the pain is banished. Complete relief—yes, perfect comfort—follows midol.

Your druggist has midol for 50 cents, in a slim aluminum box to tuck in your purse.

DRESS REHEARSAL FOR MINSTREL

Dress rehearsal for the minstrel show to be given by the employes of the Homer Laughlin China company Monday night in the Ceramic theatre will be held Sunday afternoon on the stage of the theatre.

Members of the cast will hold the final rehearsal tonight in the Eagles auditorium, East Liverpool. Number of special features will be introduced in addition to the minstrel performance.

Take Bar Examination.

Twenty-five applicants underwent an examination yesterday at Charleston for licenses to practice law in West Virginia. Names of the successful candidates will be made public after the rating board has passed upon their examination papers.

School Savings Report.

Newell school children saved $60.36 last month according to a report issued yesterday by the school savings department of the Potters Savings and Loan company, East Liverpool. The average for each room was $6.03.

Essay Contest Planned.

Three outside judges will select the winners in the annual contest open to the school students of Hancock county. District papers will be graded by the local school officials who will present their choices to the judges. Winners will be announced at the county spelling bee to be held in Chester on Friday, April 15.

To Improve Ball Field

Newell baseball playing field will shortly be put into shape for the season. Officers of the club plan to make some needed improvements to the outfield especially center field where the ground is uneven in places.

Good News For Skinny Folks

Increase Your Weight 10 or 15 Pounds

When you are underweight, it is the surest sign that the food you eat does not give you the nourishment you need to be strong and healthy and full of vitality. Put some good solid flesh on your bones, nourish the tissues properly and you will feel like a fighting cock.

Nothing acts so quickly and surely to correct the nutritive processes as a scientific digestive stimulant. Science tells us that stimulation of the digestive organs supplies the nourishment our bodies must have to grow healthy and to have the power to resist disease and to fight the breaking down of the life forces.

A remarkable stimulant-tonic has been devised for just such conditions as these. It is delightfully palatable and is prepared by an old Virginia concern in business for nearly a century. Druggists and physicians have come to know this stimulant as "Old Monticello Tonic." Get a bottle today from your druggist, take a small wineglass full before your next meal—see how much better you eat, feel the glow of stimulated functions throughout the body. A few days' treatment will bring a quick change in run-down conditions and overcome lack of energy.

Coughs Stopped Almost Instantly

A famous physician's prescription called Thoxine relieves the most stubborn coughs that otherwise would hang on for weeks. Acts on new theory, relieves the inflammation and irritation which is almost always the cause of the cough, and stops it like magic. Thoxine is equally good for sore throat for which purpos it is far superior to gargles. Contains no dope, chloroform or harmful drugs. Once used you will never be without it. Pleasant taste and safe for children. Remember one swallow stops night coughs or sore throat within 15 minutes or money back. 35, 60c and $1.00. At all druggists.

RIN-TIN-TIN IN THRILLER

"Hills of Kentucky," Screen Success, at American.

Stars may come and stars may go but Rin-Tin-Tin goes on forever turning out pictures for Warner Brothers that hit a high standard of excellence. None better, however, in the whole Rin-Tin-Tin repertoire than "Hills of Kentucky," which is now showing at the American theatre.

Here is a tight, sound melodrama, with enough thrills to keep every kid on edge, enough romance to touch the heart of every grown up lady, and enough of Rin-Tin-Tin to please anyone who has ever loved a dog.

Against beautiful outdoor backgrounds unfolds a tale of a puppy who is cast out from his home in a period of human starvation and who becomes the leader of a pack of dogs who ravage the countryside. Rin-Tin-Tin plays this dog, known in harrowing legend as "The Grey Ghost."

To two mountain towns comes a school teacher (Dorothy Dawn) with her little crippled brother (Billy Kent Schaeffer). There a young mountaineer (Jason Robards) falls in love with her. His half brother, a treacherous man of bull strength, played by Tom Santschi, smashes in to break up the romance.

The story of these lives becomes entangled with that of "The Grey Ghost" in a series of engrossing episodes, full of surprises. The picture has been directed with fine imagination by Howard Bretherton.

Six hundred square miles of sugar and rice lands in Japan are to be irrigated at a cost of nearly $4,000,000.

D'DN'T THINK 2 BOTTLES COULD MAKE BIG CHANGE

He Feels Good Instead Of Bad Since Using Redwood's Tepee Tonic.

M. Bano, traveling salesman for the Hammermill Paper Co., who resides at 163 Hiler St., Erie, Penna., says: "I've only taken two bottles of Redwood's Tepee Tonic and I didn't think such a small amount of medicine could make such a big change in me.

Redwood.

"When I started I was "all in" and feeling badly. I had dyspepsia and after every meal would be troubled with sour stomach and heartburn. I am on the road a good deal and while in Cleveland, O., a friend told me about Tepee Herb Tonic.

"It proved very good and now I am not troubled with indigestion. It regulated my bowels and improved my nerves. I sleep more soundly than I did and can do more work and not feel so tired."

Tepee Herb Tonic is sold and recommended by Carnahan's Drug Store and by well stocked drug stores everywhere.

TAX AIMED AT TOBACCO DEALERS

Retail dealers in all forms of tobacco would pay an increased tax on all forms of tobacco and tobacco products for the benefit of the elementary public schools of the state, according to the provisions of a bill introduced in the lower house at Charleston by Delegate Knabenshue.

The measure provides that the tax shall be one cent for each 10 cents or fractional part thereof of the retail selling price of all smoking and chewing tobacco, cigars, cigarettes, cheroots and snuff made of tobacco or any substitute thereof.

I'm Most Grateful Every Month

Here's glorious news for long suffering womankind! To every woman who periodically has suffered pain. Menstruation need no longer be painful. And it is Science that is speaking.

Specialists have developed a tiny tablet called midol. It's a simple thing, utterly harmless to a girl of fourteen, but it brings relief in five to seven minutes. And is effective twelve hours or longer!

Midol is NOT a narcotic. It has no effect whatever on heart or nervous system. It acts directly on those organs affected by menstruation. They function normally, as they should, but the pain is banished. Complete relief—yes, perfect comfort—follows midol.

Your druggist has midol for 50 cents. In a slim aluminum box to tuck in your purse.

DRESS REHEARSAL FOR MINSTREL

Dress rehearsal for the minstrel show to be given by the employes of the Homer Laughlin China company Monday night in the Ceramic theatre will be held Sunday afternoon on the stage of the theatre.

Members of the cast will hold the final rehearsal tonight in the Eagles auditorium, East Liverpool. Number of special features will be introduced in addition to the minstrel performance.

Take Bar Examination.

Twenty-five applicants underwent an examination yesterday at Charleston for licenses to practice law in West Virginia. Names of the successful candidates will be made public after the rating board has passed upon their examination papers.

School Savings Report.

Newell school children saved $60.36 last month according to a report issued yesterday by the school savings department of the Potters Savings and Loan company, East Liverpool. The average for each room was $6.03.

Essay Contest Planned.

Three outside judges will select the winners in the annual contest open to the school students of Hancock county. District papers will be graded by the local school officials who will present their choices to the judges. Winners will be announced at the county spelling bee to be held in Chester on Friday, April 15.

To Improve Ball Field

Newell baseball playing field will shortly be put into shape for the season. Officers of the club plan to make some needed improvements to the outfield especially center field where the ground is uneven in places.

Good News For Skinny Folks

Increase Your Weight 10 or 15 Pounds

When you are underweight, it is the surest sign that the food you eat does not give you the nourishment you need to be strong and healthy and full of vitality. Put some good solid flesh on your bones, nourish the tissues properly and you will feel like a fighting cock.

Nothing acts so quickly and surely to correct the nutritive processes as a scientific digestive stimulant. Science tells us that stimulation of the digestive organs supplies the nourishment our bodies must have to grow healthy and to have the power to resist disease and to fight the breaking down of the life forces.

A remarkable stimulant-tonic has been devised for just such conditions as these. It is delightfully palatable and is prepared by an old Virginia concern in business for nearly a century. Druggists and physicians have come to know this stimulant as "Old Monticello Tonic." Get a bottle today from your druggist, take a small wineglass full before your next meal—see how much better you eat, feel the glow of stimulated functions throughout the body. A few days' treatment will bring a quick change in run-down conditions and overcome lack of energy.

Coughs Stopped Almost Instantly

A famous physician's prescription called Thoxine relieves the most stubborn coughs that otherwise would hang on for weeks. Acts on new theory, relieves the inflammation and irritation which is almost always the cause of the cough, and stops it like magic. Thoxine is equally good for sore throat for which purpose it is far superior to gargles. Contains no dope, chloroform or harmful drugs. Once used you will never be without it. Pleasant taste and safe for children. Remember one swallow stops night coughs or sore throat within 15 minutes or money back. 35, 60c and $1.00. At all druggists.

RIN-TIN-TIN IN THRILLER

"Hills of Kentucky," Screen Success, at American.

Stars may come and stars may go but Rin-Tin-Tin goes on forever turning out pictures for Warner Brothers that hit a high standard of excellence. None better, however, in the whole Rin-Tin-Tin repertoire than "Hills of Kentucky," which is now showing at the American theatre.

Here is a tight, sound melodrama, with enough thrills to keep every kid on edge, enough romance to touch the heart of every grown up lady, and enough of Rin-Tin-Tin to please anyone who has ever loved a dog.

Against beautiful outdoor backgrounds unfolds a tale of a puppy who is cast out from his home in a period of human starvation and who becomes the leader of a pack of dogs who ravage the countryside. Rin-Tin-Tin plays this dog, known in harrowing legend as "The Grey Ghost."

To the mountain towns comes a school teacher (Dorothy Dawn) with her little crippled brother (Billy Kent Schaeffer). There a young mountaineer (Jason Robards) falls in love with her. His half brother, a treacherous man of bull strength, played by Tom Santschi, smashes in to break up the romance.

The story of these lives becomes entangled with that of "The Grey Ghost" in a series of engrossing episodes, full of surprises. The picture has been directed with fine imagination by Howard Bretherton.

Six hundred square miles of sugar and rice lands in Japan are to be irrigated at a cost of nearly $4,000,000.

D'DN'T THINK 2 BOTTLES COULD MAKE BIG CHANGE

He Feels Good Instead Of Bad Since Using Redwood's Tepee Tonic.

M. Bano, traveling salesman for the Hammermill Paper Co., who resides at 163 Hiler St., Erie, Penna., says: "I've only taken two bottles of Redwood's Tepee Tonic and I didn't think such a small amount of medicine could make such a big change in me.

Redwood.

"When I started I was "all in" and feeling badly. I had dyspepsia and after every meal would be troubled with sour stomach and heartburn. I am on the road a good deal and while in Cleveland, O., a friend told me about Tepee Herb Tonic.

"It proved very good and now I am not troubled with indigestion. It regulated my bowels and improved my nerves. I sleep more soundly than I did and can do more work and not feel so tired."

Tepee Herb Tonic is sold and recommended by Carnahan's Drug Store and by well stocked drug stores everywhere.

Dear Friends:

Speaking of watches, a man came into the store yesterday and said he wanted a watch that would keep time. Struck me kind of funny, because that's what a watch is for.

However, his old one had gone on a strike and had refused to tick a tick.

The boss sold him a new one for $40.00. It was a dandy. And I heard the boss tell him when he went out, "If that watch isn't keeping good time in ten years, bring it back and I'll make it right."

Sounds fair enough, doesn't it?

TICK.

P. S. And say he will make you a very liberal allowance on any kind of an old sick watch you may bring in.

Don't Risk Pneumonia By Neglecting a Cold

A cough or cold may only make you feel miserable today. But when you begin to feel "achy" and feverish, with a tightness in your chest, congestion is reaching your bronchial tubes —and these tubes lead directly into your lungs!

Quickly and unfailingly Ayer's Cherry Pectoral stops a cough and drives out the cold.

Hospital-Proved Medicine — not just a "cough syrup"! This medication penetrates through and through the irritated membranes—and is then absorbed into the blood itself. That is how its healing powers are carried to very part of your system.

If you are catching cold; if you have a "head cold;" if your chest is tight; if you have a cough — even if bronchitis has developed — Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! It has relieved more coughs and colds than any other medicine in the world.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is used by hospital clinics and leading physicians. Pleasant, safe and effective for children and grown people. At all druggists, 60c; twice as much $1.00. c51b

Illinois Estate Claims Finally Determined By Irish Courts

DUBLIN. — The nephews and nieces of Joseph Veagle, of Rathfryland, County Down, have been declared heirs-at-law to one-third of the estate of Jefferson Doyle, who died intestate in Farmer County, Illinois, in February, 1923, leaving an estate worth between $250,000 and $300,000.

Jefferson Doyle, who was born at Hilltown, County Down, eloped as an apprentice with his master's daughter and, sailing to the United States settled in Illinois and prospered there.

Legal fights over his estate has lasted for four years and involved 60 law courts with commissions on four continents. Originally there were over 500 claimants to the estate.

WALLEN CASE NEARS JURORS

Today

The Dinosaur's Party.
Gold in the Mountains.
A 4,000-Mile Hope.
Studying Mummies.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

MRS. HENRY FAIRFIELD OSBORN entertained friends at the museum of natural history, in honor of the Tyrannossaurus, in Dinosaur hall.

That monster is 47 feet long from his beak to the end of his tail, 18 feet high at the hips, 21 feet around the waist, with bones that weigh more than two tons.

He was a powerful animal, but couldn't last because he didn't have a brain big in proportion to the size of his body.

Civilization has developed a more powerful creature, which is the two-legged billionaire, able to control and command the work of 200,000,000 men for one day.

The billionaire will soon be numerous and the interesting question concerning him will be, "what about his brain?" Will it be big enough to keep him safe?

YOU read about a new mountain range discovered in Siberia, 1,000 miles long, 300 miles wide, peaks 11,000 feet high.

This range will be named for Lenin, whom the Russian people delight to honor, and that will annoy high finance.

But what of the mineral wealth that, undoubtedly, is hidden away in that gigantic mountain range? If gold, silver, copper should be discovered in quantities, it would soften the heart of high finance, always practical, willing to listen to a good argument.

THE British, developing an air force, where we talk and save money, are about to attempt the longest non-stop flight, 4,000 miles, from London to Karachi in western India.

What does President Coolidge, responsible for the safety of this nation in case of war, think about our comic opera flying force? How does he think the long successful flights by Italians, Englishmen, Germans, Russians and Japanese compare with our failures?

The President will be interested in an address to the Paris Union of Commerce and Industry by Andre Michelin, who says that every nation in Europe is developing gas warfare, and that "a city as large as Paris" (ten times as large as Washington, D. C.) could easily be asphyxiated by gas bombardment from a flying fleet.

THE learned Dr. Sack of Heidelberg university, studying thousands of Egyptian mummies, finds that high living killed off rich Egyptians as it kills off rich Americans now.

Foolish eating, lack of exercise, especially lack of deep breathing, have through the centuries been skimming the scum off the boiling pot of civilization.

Mummies of the fifth dynasty show signs of tuberculosis, affecting the spine, and gout, swelling the joints. Cancer did not come in until the Byzantine era.

FIFTY THOUSAND Japanese are homeless as result of earthquake, tidal waves and fire. Many corpses line the ruins. Many were burned, others crushed. The Japanese government announces that it requests no assistance and can take care of its problems. A brave people.

E. SALINEVILLE MINER'S FATE MAY BE KNOWN LATE SATURDAY

Alleged Slayer of Rodney Ogle Will Testify.

DEFENSE SCORES

Attack Made Upon Testimony of Mrs. Rose Householder.

Roy Wallen, 33, East Salineville coal miner, on trial in common pleas court, Lisbon, for first degree murder in the death of Rodney Ogle, 57, also a miner, may know his fate before tomorrow night.

He was expected to take the stand in his own defense this afternoon.

Indications at noon were that the case would reach the jury early tomorrow.

Call Rebuttal Witnesses.

The state will call several rebuttal witnesses after Wallen, who claims that he shot Ogle in self-defense, tells his story of the fatal quarrel that followed an alleged beer party in the Ogle home on Feb. 6, last.

Arguments of Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes and his assistant, John E. Bauknecht, for the state, and Attorneys W. A. O'Grady, of Wellsville, and S. W. Crawford, of East Liverpool, for the defense, probably will be started, if not completed, late today.

The purported quarrelsome nature of Ogle, which was brought out in yesterday afternoon's testimony before Judge William F. Duncan, was reiterated today as Wallen sought to substantiate his defense that he shot after the latter had fired a rifle bullet at him.

Prisoner's Wife on Stand.

Mrs. Angeline Wallen, wife of the prisoner; A. J. Ware, of Wellsville; E. R. Davis, Wallen's stepfather; Mrs. Irene Davis, the latter's wife, and Benjamin Rahter, of Wellsville, were among the witnesses called by the defense during the morning session.

The defense, questioning Rahter, turned its guns on the damaging evidence given for the state yesterday by Mrs. Rose Householder, Kensington, sister-in-law of Wallen. Rahter declared that Mrs. Householder's reputation for veracity was poor.

Rahter was on the stand when the noon recess was declared.

A. J. Ware Testifies.

A. J. Ware, a contractor, and a former section foreman on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh road, having charge of right of way near "Ogle's cut," was the first witness called today by the defense. Examined by Attorney Crawford, he declared that Ogle, who had worked for him on the section on two different occasions, was a good citizen and a peaceable man. There was no cross-examination.

The defense recalled E. R. Davis, stepfather of the defendant and he said that in November, last, he drove out to the Hannum farm to visit Wallen. He testified he saw Ogle standing outside his home with a bottle of beer in his hand and that Ogle had said to him, "You had better take Wallen away or I'll work on him."

Davis said that Ogle had a knife in his hand and that he put it against Davis and twisted the point around his shirt, and that Davis pushed him away. Davis declared that he had told Wallen about Ogle's threat.

At this point the court instructed the jury to disregard the testimony of Davis, given Thursday afternoon, wherein Davis said Ogle pointed a shotgun through the crack of a barn.

ILLINOIS' "LIVING DEAD MAN" DIES

57 COMRADES DEFEATED AFTER 108-HOUR BATTLE TO SAVE ALFRED FRICK

Tragedy in Hearts is Written on Faces of 57 Tight-lipped Men as Death is Victor in Tense Human Drama in Which Evanston Lad Had Chief Role.

KEPT PARALYSIS VICTIM ALIVE SINCE SUNDAY BY PRESSING WALLS OF CHEST

Grief of Friends Who Labored Day and Night, in Teams of Two, and in 15-minute Relays, in Hope That Life Would Win, is Tragic as End Comes.

By Gene Hoffman.

EVANSTON, Ill., March 11.—Fifty-seven tight-lipped men were back on the job at Illinois Public Service company today—the tragedy in their hearts written on every face. Alfred Frick, their buddy, the man for whom each had given his full time and energy since last Sunday morning in an effort to save his life, will sit among them no more. The tense human drama closed with death the victor.

Frick, who had come to be known as the "living dead man," died at St. Francis hospital last night at 10:10 o'clock after his 57 fellow workers had kept him alive 108 hours by pressing the walls of his chest to give him the breath of life.

Death came quietly. Shortly before the end, the brave youth—he was only 22—looked up at his father and mother and smiled, a faint smile that seemed to say "farewell." He was too weak to talk. A moment later he lapsed into a coma and did not regain consciousness.

Victim of Landry's Paralysis.

But tragic as was his death, even more tragic was the grief of his friends—that crew of loyal men who had labored day and night, in teams of two, and in 15-minute relays, in the hope that life would win. Many of the men, unashamed, broke down and wept. The two who were on duty when Dr. H. H. Conley pronounced the patient dead, refused to quit the task, hoping against hope that they could revive the spark of life.

Young Frick was stricken early last Sunday with Landry's paralysis, a very rare disease. It cut off the nerve supply to the diaphragm and chest walls, causing the lungs to collapse. Breathing stopped. Technically, the youth was "dead." But it was found that by pressing the sides of his chest, bellow fashion, artificial respiration could be induced.

He was thus kept alive and a hurried call sent out for volunteers to help in the strenuous physical work of pressing his sides. Fifty-seven men with whom he worked answered the call. They organized teams and began the long battle with death, working in 15-minute relays.

Specialists Were Pessimistic.

Physicians hoped that if the patient could be kept alive long enough the paralysis might lift and normal work of the lungs be resumed.

Hour after hour the brave "comrade crew" worked, hoping that their efforts would restore their friend to health. Even the pessimistic views of the specialists who watched the case with interest, could not discourage them. Frick's life was in their hands. Medical science had done its best and failed. But they would pull him through. That was the spirit of the "comrade crew." And thus their grief may be understood.

Physicians, who could do nothing but check on the patient's condition and direct the efforts of the "breathing crew," felt all along that young Frick was doomed. What few records of Landry's paralysis cases they could find argued against a favorable prognosis.

One Freighter Sunk, Another Damaged In Crash In Fog

Members of Crew of Lost Vessel Leap Into Water With Life Preservers—Most of Them Rescued.

NEW YORK, March 11.—One freighter was sunk and another badly damaged today in a bow-on collision in the fog near Robbins Reef, off Greenville, N. J.

Members of the crew of the sunken vessel leaped into the water with life preservers. Most of them were rescued by tugboats but it was reported several men were drifting in the fog.

The freighter which sunk was the El Sol, of the Southern Pacific line, bound from Galveston to New York with cargo of cotton.

The other vessel is the Sao City of the American Diamond line, bound for Antwerp.

The El Sol carried a crew of 46. Captain Knoels was in command. It was reported there were several passengers on one of the freighters.

KIWANIANS AND GUESTS FROM SEVEN CITIES ATTEND DINNER-DANCE HERE

District Governor Howard S. Smith, Dayton, Makes Address at Country Club Party.

Kiwanians and their wives from Wellsville, Salineville, Carrollton, Canton and Steubenville attended the dinner-dance given by the East Liverpool club at the Country club last evening, in honor of District Governor and Mrs. Howard S. Smith, of Dayton. Places were laid for 110 guests.

Charles W. Hendershot, first vice-president, presided. Musical selections were rendered by the Glee club, composed of Kurt Bergner, Kenneth Smith, John Golden, Robert Laughlin, Dr. C. R. Larkins, Robert Douglass, Wilbur Glenn and Cyril Taylor. Claire Chambers was the accompanist.

Secretary Carl E. Gruber read a postcard from Dr. W. A. Hobbs, club president, written from the north coast of Africa, where he stopped about three weeks ago. Earl Reese rendered a vocal solo with Mr. Chambers as his accompanist.

Brief talks were made by Frank Polling, Mansfield, a past district governor, who brought greetings from the Mansfield club; Roy Henderson, president of the Carrollton club; W. R. McDonald, president of the Wellsville club, and Frank Conklin, president of

COUNCILMEN FAIL TO ACT UPON ALLEY OBSTRUCTION BAN REPEALER

Defer Decision on Proposal Which is Aftermath of Suit Pending in Common Pleas Court.

City council, at a special meeting last night, failed to act upon an ordinance, prepared by Solon Otto Kommell, which, if enacted, would have repealed legislation adopted last June prohibiting the erection of stairways, and buildings or other wise obstructions in sidewalks, streets, alleys or other public thoroughfares.

The repealer was an aftermath of a suit pending in common pleas court, restraining the city from removing a shed covering a stage entrance stairway to the American theatre in Crook alley. Judge W. F. Duncan is expected to render a decision on a permanent injunction sought by the theatre operators against Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore.

Councilman Hayes declared that he would not vote for the repealer until the court ruled. Solon W. H. Kelly expressed the opinion that the ordinance was good legislation. The same views were outlined by Councilmen Thomas Farrall and L. M. Poole.

Councilman Kommell, who with Solons Hughes and Goodballet, called the meeting, did not speak on the measure.

11 CHILDREN AND KIN ARE TRAPPED WHEN FLAMES RAGE

Nine Persons Die in Pennsylvania, Six in New Jersey.

HOMES SWEPT

One Blaze Follows Use of Kerosene in Stove.

SALTSBURG, Pa., March 11.—Nine persons were burned to death when fire of undetermined origin destroyed the home of Clarence Marsh, in Tunnelton, near here, today.

The dead: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Marsh and their five children. Mrs. Harry Montgomery and one child.

Only one occupant of the house, a frame structure, escaped with his life. He was Harry Montgomery, whose wife and child perished in the flames. Montgomery leaped from a window.

Tragedy Follows Funeral.

The fire is believed to have started shortly after 1 a. m. When discovered it had gained such headway that it was impossible for neighbors to attempt to rescue the victims, trapped behind curtains of fire.

Less than twelve hours before the Marshs had attended the funeral of Marsh's sister-in-law. They returned to their home late last night.

While authorities could not ascertain definitely the cause of the fire, because of the charred condition of the ruins, they believe an overheated stove may have been responsible.

Neighbors, burrowing through blackened ruins when the latter had cooled sufficiently for exploration, found two bodies. Both were burned beyond recognition. Searchers are still hunting the seven other victims.

BROWN'S MILLS, N. J., March 11.—William Stevenson, laborer, and five of his seven children were burned to death early today when their home here was destroyed by fire which followed an explosion when Stevenson poured kerosene into the kitchen stove.

Clara Stevenson, 20, is expected to die from injuries received when she jumped from a second story window. She is in the hospital with two broken hips.

Mrs. Rebecca Stevenson, the mother, together with William Stevenson Jr., 15, escaped, but Mrs. Stevenson, numbed by the tragedy, could not remember how she got out.

The children burned to death were Ernest, 11, Shinn, 12, Alfred, 9, Mildred, 6, and Lillian, one month old.

It was necessary for firemen to use long poles to extricate the bodies from the burning embers.

Girl Tells Story of Fire.

Clara, from her hospital bed, told the story of the fire. She said she arose early this morning and went to

Prescott Funeral Services in Home At 2 p. m. Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida May Prescott, widow of Charles H. Prescott, who died Wednesday, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the home, Globe street, East End, in charge of Rev. George C. Westlake, pastor of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Friends may view the body tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Cleveland "Lifer," Who Slew Unfaithful Wife, is Pardoned

COLUMBUS, O., March 11.—On condition that he "faithfully care for his ten children and abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors," Frank Buccire, 58, Cleveland laborer, was pardoned today by Governor Vic Donahey from the Ohio penitentiary where he was serving a life sentence. Buccire was convicted, in September, 1923, of murdering his wife.

Claiming Buccire had killed an "unfaithful wife during a moment of extreme provocation," Warden P. E. Thomas, of the penitentiary, and Price Russell and Daniel W. Williams, members of the state clemency board, recommended executive clemency for the prisoner.

Judge Walter Mamahon, Cleveland, who tried the case, and Assistant Prosecutor H. E. Parsons, Cuyahoga county, recommended that Buccire's sentence be commuted to manslaughter.

$4,000 BLAZE IN WESTFIELD

Family Flees When Fire Destroys J. O. Smith Home.

An investigation was under way today into the cause of the mysterious fire which destroyed the six-room residence of James O. Smith, in Westfield, three miles north of her along the Y. & O. railroad. The loss is estimated at approximately $4,000 partly covered by insurance.

Smith, who is employed at the Chester tin mill, his wife and two small children were asleep when the fire started. Robert Ross, who lives in the Westfield district, returning to his home about 11 o'clock, discovered the blaze and awakened the family.

Smith found the stairway cut off by flames, but escaped fom the house through an upstairs' window, carrying his two children with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are residing temporarily with relatives in Chester.

Ohioan is Found Dead.

CINCINNATI, O., March 11.—William J. Sanderson, 65, former member of the Ohio legislature and one time deputy United State marshal for the southern district of Ohio, was found dead in his home here today. Death was due to natural causes.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE VAN FOSSAN PREDICTS GASOLINE TAX WILL BE INCREASED TO THREE CENTS

The Ohio legislature will increase the gasoline tax from two to three cents a gallon at its present session, State Representative W. H. Van Fossan, Lisbon, who is spending the week-end at his home, predicted today.

Van Fossan, who conferred with East Liverpool friends, is a member of the house tax committee. A caucus session to consider the proposed increase in the gasoline tax was held at Columbus this week, and while no action was taken it was the consensus of opinion that additional revenue must be obtained or road construction will suffer from the lack of funds. Action on the gasoline tax boost proposal will be taken next week, Van Fossan said.

The proposed mortgage tax is now before a committee. Proposed increases in the corporation and excise taxes are also being considered, but are meeting with opposition on the part of manufacturers who assert that industries and big business is being driven ouside Ohio because of the burden of taxation.

Emmons Resolution Killed.

The tax program, Van Fossan said, will begin to take definite shape within the next 10 days.

The resolution, framed by Representative R. W. Emmons of East Rochester, providing for a $25,000,000 bond issue for grade crossing elimination, is believed to have been killed this week when the house highway committee, by a vote of 12 to 4, postponed consideration. It is doubtful if the measure is reported out of committee at this session of the legislators, observers claim.

The Columbiana county legislator will return to Columbus Suuday evening.

Senate in Session.

COLUMBUS, O., March 11.—With the house members enjoying their week-end recess, the Ohio senate will hold a brief session here today.

Speaker O. C. Gray, of the house, today is expected to announce the names of the members comprising the special house committee of eight, authorized at the recent caucus of house Republicans to agree upon a legislative financial program and to report at a caucus Monday of the majority house members.

Before adjourning for the week late Thursday, the house passed six bills and adopted the Kumler joint resolution, already adopted by the senate, memorializing congress to reapportion the membership of the national house of representatives, at Washington, D. C., in accordance with the 1920 census.

The bills passed by the house, all of which now go to the senate, include: By Sullivan, including manufacturers, as well as dealers, under the laws regulating sales of foodstuffs for cattle and poultry; the Burkhardt bill, providing for the process of garnisheeing an executor, guardian, trustees or any person acting in a judiciary capacity; the Claybourne bill author-

Swiss Authorities Place Drastic Ban On Public Dances

GENEVA, Switzerland — Declaring that continuous dancing is harmful to the human constitution and morals, authorities of the Canton of Tessin have prohibited public dances with the exception of the first three months of the year.

Even during these months boys and girls under 16 are not allowed to dance in public dance halls and cannot enter as spectators unless accompanied by their parents.

FRENCH SALVATION ARMY LASSIES TO SERVE DOUGHNUTS TO VETS

PHILADELPHIA.—The Champ Elysees, as most popular thoroughfare will be lined with French Salvation Army Lassies serving doughnuts and coffee as in the days of the A. E. F., when the Legionaire go to Paris this September for their annual convention. "Flags" also will be served by numerous K. of C.'s, Y. M. C. A., Red Cross representatives and other welfare workers that endeared themselves to the "doughboys" during the hectic days of 1917 and 1918.

The work of the welfare workers of the war days is to be done all over again, James J. Deighan, the French convention officer for this state, announces.

The Legionaires will be away for a month or longer and wherever it is possible the welfare organizations that carried on virtually under the guns of the enemy will be on hand to aid "vets," their wives and children in viewing the spots where the dough boys were billeted in war days.

Pennsylvania, Deighan says, is leading the country in the number of reservations for the Legion pilgrimage to France in September.

The New Binner Side-Clasp Girdle

Wear the corset that suits your figure. You will find it easily if you wear Binner garments.

After all, the main question to be asked about a corset is—"Is it suitable for my figure?"

It is so easy to be pretty. Almost anyone with a little cleverness can be called good-looking. But style makes one woman stand out above all others in a large gathering — it makes her distinctive.

The secret of style is correct corseting — the poise and carriage you get from Binner corsets. These exquisite corsets may be had in a variety of beautiful fabrics.

The new model girdle has a side closing which makes it very desirable. It properly moulds the figure into the accepted mode of today and is especially designed for the average figure type. In fancy brocade and plain satin. Flesh only. Priced from $3.00 to $8.50. In 10, 12 and 14 inch lengths. Raised over diaphragm—well boned.

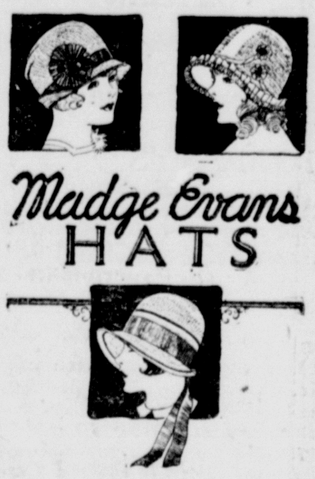
Madge Evans Hats For Little Ladies.



Every Miss is an important person and should learn the art of selecting the very best hat that is exactly suited to her.

Wearing a pretty hat is only part of the joy of owning it — equally as pleasurable as wearing it is her selection of it.

Before she makes her selection she must understand many things that are necessary to make her happy with her purchase—the many things a well-dressed girl should know when she goes with Mother on that all-important shopping trip—the day she has set aside for the buying of the new hat for the coming season.

She should know the art of selecting the hat which is best suited for her—the hat which, in shape, color and trimming is exactly right.

It is not an easy task—so many things to be thought of. To buy a hat is like framing a picture—an ugly frame spoils the picture just as a charming face can be spoiled by an unbecoming hat. Just as you study the picture, you must study your own face and color of your hair.

The three hats pictured here are among the new Madge Evans styles designed for Spring. There are many, many more and we are sure that every little Miss will be able to select a hat for Spring.

Sizes for girls from 4 to 14 years. In navy and all the new light shades of blue, greens, tans, red, rose and every desirable shade. Smartly trimmed, just as small girls hats should be trimmed.

Priced from $4.00 to $6.00.

All the whims and fancies of the mode are found in the new coats. Fashion allows them to express every whim and fancy as they go on their way to capture feminine admiration.

Beginning with severe Sports styles they end in elaborate dressy affairs.

Whether you require a Junior, Little Woman's, Misses', Woman's, Short Stout or Stylish Stout size, we can fit you in the model most suited for your figure.

The new coats are of Kasha, Satin, Faille, Charmeen, Twill-bloom, Jorella, Kashedda, Fancy Mixtures and Plaids.

All the favored shades for Spring, including tans, greys, greens, blues, black, etc.—or these shades charmingly combined in plaids and mixtures.

Some are severely tailored, without fur. Others are attractively trimmed with squirrel, fox, ermine, American broadtail, fitch, calf, twin beaver and mole.

All nicely lined and finished.

Priced from $16.75 to $125.00

Chic Spring Coats For Miss 6-to-14.

Such delightful Coats for Miss 6-to-14—it is difficult to choose. Shall she take the boyish double-breasted affair or the more dressy model? Here's one with a bit of stitching. There's one with fur. Such lovely materials—soft, light and warm—lined to match or contrast.

Fashioned of Kasha, charmeen, novelty plaids and mixtures.

And such colors—rich blues, deep red, green, warm tans, navy and copper.

These are the coats that both Dad and Mother will approve of—Dad of the price and Mother of the quality. And the Miss herself will be more than satisfied with the styles. Priced from $7.50 to $27.50.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, MARCH 11, 1927.

Venerable Jurist

Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, "dean" of the United States supreme court, on his 86th birthday finds himself laden with national honors, richly deserved.

By general consent, this elderly gentleman, son of the original Oliver Wendell Holmes, and no less beloved than his famous father, is rated as the foremost living American jurist. And this not on the basis of past work, done in middle life, but on the solid basis of the work he is still doing. It seems to be the literal truth that Justice Holmes' prime of life is now. No other member of the supreme court, it is said, does more work or better work. No other seems to have the facility of this octogenarian in digesting a difficult case and writing his opinion.

When asked recently when he expected to resign, he replied: "Not until the Almighty himself requests it."

The Almighty is evidently reluctant to part with so useful a servant.

Old Age Annuities

A bill for old age pensions on a national scale has passed the Canadian House of Commons. Meanwhile a comprehensive plan for take care of the country's aged on a more self-respecting basis is being worked out by the minister of labor.

The latter plan counts on paying perhaps one dollar a day for the rest of his life to every worker who reaches the age of 65 years. The fund would be suppled by regular contributions from the worker, the employer, the national government and the provincial government, amounting respectively to 9, 9, 5 and 5 cents a week in the case of a worker starting at the age of 22 years, and naturally rising if the start is made later in life. These small payments might be increased to any desired amount in order to increase the old-age payments above the basic dollar a day.

Some such legislation seems likely to be adopted in Canada before long. It would be regarded as pretty radical in this country. And perhaps it isn't needed so much here.

If our present prosperity continues, surely there should be little difficulty on the part of any normal American in accumulating, during his working life, enough to take care of his old age by established methods of individual savings and investment. Personal thrift is to be encouraged more than philanthropic legislation. Those who cannot or will not save, however, must always be taken care of somehow.

Newspapers In High Scholls

"Any teacher who sees a student with one of these tabloid newspapers will tear up the newspaper and hand the boy a cake of soap. The student will then proceed to wash his hands at the nearest lavatory."

That was the recent decree of the principal of a high school in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Without at all approving of the tabloids for school or home or any other consumption, an interested outsider nevertheless wonders whether the principal has chosen the wisest method of eliminating them from his school, where he is said to have noticed "several" students looking at them. Keeping the pupils so busy with interesting and legitimate occupations that they have no time or inclination for tabloids might seem a better psychological approach than the soap and hand-washing method. Also teaching them to read the regular newspapers, stimulating discussion of important news, using decent papers as supplementary reading for certain courses, should held to create a taste for the right sort of newspapers and a distaste for the obnoxious sort.

Non-music

A young American musician, who has grown up in France, returns to his native land for a brief visit, with queer music in hs pocket and queer ideas in his head. He is described as "a revolutionary composer and a futurist," and the music, if that is the right word, suits the description.

His masterpiece is called "Ballet Mechanique," or "Mechanical Ballad," and is said to make use of player panos, bells, loud-speakers, xylophones and "almost everything except static and the kitchen stove."

"I have not invented new instruments in music," the composer explains, "but what I have tried to do is to utilize the sounds which are frequent about the average American any day in the year."

Heaven protect us from such sounds! What we want to hear is precisely the opposite.

Evidently what the senate needs is some way to filibuster against a filibuster.

Europe is said to be arming again, "for peace." That's what Europe was arming for back in 1913.

There is some dispute as to when winter is over. Probably when the income tax report is filled out.

Some of the folks experimenting with telepathy overlook the fact that before you can read a mind, there must be a mind to read.

A quorum wasn't the only thing the senate needed in those last days.

The Terrible Tempered Mr. Bang— By Fontaine Fox

My Favorite Stories
By IRVIN S. COBB

AN APOLOGY WITH A STINGER

In the latter years of his life Henry James, the American novelist, lived in England. He had a country-house in one of the southern counties. A self-made millionaire bought an adjoining place. The latter was not a particularly attractive neighbor. Starting from humble beginnings, he had made his fortune as a manufacturer of jams, jellies and condiments. But, having been made a knight and having turned country-gentleman, he strove to make the fashionable world forget he ever had been in trade. It was reported that he grew red in the face if fruit were mentioned in his presence.

This person was touchy regarding the dignities of his newest and his present position. He posted trespass signs in conspicuous places on the walls of his private park One day he wrote James a rather curt note stating that James' servants in going to and from the nearby village, were given to crossing a corner of his grounds, and demanding that the pactice cease forthwith.

In reply, the novelist sent a courteous note of apology reading as follows:

My Dear Sir:

I deeply grieved to learn from you that certain of my employees have been invading your preserves. I assure you the offense shall not be repeated.

Yours regretfully,
"Henry James.

"P. S. I beg your pardon for using the word preserves."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 11.—Thoughts while strolling: Broadway theatrical booking agents who hail each other with "Hello Baby!" Charles Winninger, who is in another hit. Harry Richman. Always looking tired. Night clubbing would likely do that.

Kin Hubbard is right—the only way to cross a street these days is with a cow. Must take a lot of finger callousing to play a harp. The Black Bottom dance is about dead. Foolish gyrating anyway. Too much magnificance and too few seats in the movies.

Whatever became of the fellows who hailed a waiter with, "Hey Pop!" Colorful pastry windows. With a frosted telegram on a birthday cake. And flowers with candy petals. Radio Roxy. Batik and brass shops moving north. The soiled white poodles in the neighborhood of the Winter Garden.

And stage hands who wear sweaters and derbies. A fencing school. Nice place to get a dig. Acrobatic school announced "spring term." Ally up! A banjo autographed by celebrities in a pawn shop display. A doughnut and coffeee counter called The Little Ephiourus.

Never see a baby carriage anw more. Father always carries the baby. I never saw a womanly woman who wasn't popular. But flappers cannot realize it. Nor likely care. Why do street car barns have to be so unsightly? Two Central Office men. They have a tell tale look.

I'm tired of jokes about Chicago gunmen. And tabloid newspapers. Sixth Avenue delicatessen stores with their window cats, Valentino clerks and mirrored glitter. The taxi driver who wears a Tom Mix hat. More garages now night clubs with swell names.

Wonder what a skate sharpener does in the summer time. Painters are beginning to bring easels to Central Park. And the toy balloon women are back. About all that is left of winter is to hock the raccoon coat. The stroll is over.

Central Park has a quota of characters just as Fifth Avenue, Broadway and the Bowery. Under the wisteria arbor near 72nd street every pleasant afternoon may be found a pair of twins—elderly men with crisp mustaches, alike as two peas. In the same neighborhood are two ladies who come daily to feed the pigeons and squirrels. Each is on crutches. At the edge of the swan lake an aged man comes every agreeable morning after sun up to read from the Talmud. On the bridle path around 5 o'clock is the actor with the red vest as a part of his costume. Along the benches of the Mall may be found figures seen there year after year and there is the Japanese who visits the menagerie daily—a custom of his for five years. He seems entranced by the buffalo. Then there are the walkers around the gravel path of the reservoir promenade. There are the early morning walkers who used to be joined frequently by Andrew Carnegie, the noon walkers, mostly employes of 5th Avenue stores and those who walk at dusk. The latter are chiefly dog owners of the Central Park and upper 5th Avenue apartment houses. There are many, too, who enjoy moonlight walking—especially the romantically inclined.

Love making in Central Park is not all turtle dove cooing under the thin cool slice of a crescent moon. Recently I sat on a bench with my dog, admiring the beauty of a night. A pair of young lovers, hand in hand, strolled up and occupied a neighboring bench. There seemed to be many whispered confidences and finally her voice broke the stillness sharply with: "That's a lot of hay wire. You get a job and then you can talk about marriage."

Music critics are popularly supposed to be aesthetically high-brow with flowing ties and a poetic pallor. I know of one who is said to have gone tripping from the opera to the news room announcing he was "drunk with rhythm." Most of them I have noticed are about as red corpuscled and virile as prize fight writers—and almost as hard boiled. It is a blase crew often enjoying the material husks as much as the ordinary scribbler. A shining example is James Huncker.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Value of Playgrounds.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 11.—The number of play spaces or playgrounds necessary to meet the needs of children of different ages in a community is indicated by the statement that they are just as important as school buildings, and even more so. Hence the establishment of playgrounds should march abreast with or should parallel the establishment or reconstruction of school buildings.

An adequate playground for all the children of the community is an essential part of any modern school plant. For children above school age facilities in addition to the school playground are necessary.

Such are the views of Clark W. Hetherington, professor of physical education in New York university. The size of the playground, he says, is a more technical problem because it requires an understanding of the needs of children. The old criterion of 25 square feet per child, borrowed from the slums of London, is totally inadequate. The size of the playground must be considered and determined by its functions as a community play center for all the children of the community in their social play activities.

Moreover, the large amount of time naturally consumed in these activities to gain development demands a space that will accommodate if possible all the children of the school or community in organized play at one time.

The scientific method of determining the size of a playground for any given school or community, says Professor Hetherington, is to reduce the problem to units of space for unit numbers of children in specified activities in the spaces. The process is to divide the total number of children of the school or any group to be accommodated by the unit number of children of a unit space and multiply the results by the unit space. Thus for an elementary school of 500 the minimum requirement would be two and one half acres, but an adequate provision would be ten acres. For a high school of 500 children the minimum requirement would be five acres, but an adequate provision would be twenty acres.

Financial Problem Involved.

On this basis comparatively few city schools have adequate playgrounds, and many schools can never be so equipped because of the high value of the real estate that would have to be acquired. There is a financial problem involved and school and community budgets will have to change radically. In fact, the first essential change is in the viewpoint of those who make the budgets. A higher realization of the need for the organization of children's play activities will have to come before proper budgets can be secured, but it is believed that with the growing understanding by parents and teachers of the importance of play for the development, health, nad character discipline of children there will be a public opinion that will bring this about.

It is to be remembered that practically the whole and sole responsibility in determining whether children play as they should lies with the adults of the community. Adults must see that proper facilities are provided, and that ther are leaders to organize and direct the play. Children do not have the financial resources to secure equipment for their own play. Occasionally, a group of boys manages to get a sketchy outfit for a baseball nine—a ball, bat, and catcher's glove—through their own efforts, and then if they can find a vacant lot they are all set for healthful exercise and recreation. But when children's play is planned and arranged on anything like a comprehensive basis, adults must take hold of the work.

The playground as a community center for play means that large numbers of children of different ages and abilities are concentrated in one place, hence the difficulties in the organization of their play are too great for them to handle. Experience has proved that even college students, when in large numbers, do not have the skill or ability to organize their play activities effectively.

Children, when large numbers are brought together, must be classified according to age and ability. A program of activities must be arranged for the different groups that is adapted to the interests, strength, skill, and needs of each group, and the organization of this program calls for adult insight and technical skill. So, too, must there be adult supervision to insure safety and the avoidance of injury from accidents, as well as to see that the children do not over-indulge or specialize too much in any one interesting activity.

Questions of Manners and Morals.

The playground problem likewise involves questions of manners and morals. Children of good moral habits and who have been well reared are brought together in the community playground with others whose habits are not so good and whose manners are not all that is to be desired. All this is democratic, and may work out for the good of both classes of children, but it is necessary for the character education of the children and their moral safety that they be under able adult supervision.

"Play space in the youth of the generation now passing into old age was plentiful," says Prof. Hetherington. "Whatever was at fault in the play life of the older generation was due to lack of space. Play went on as before and always because of the everlasting natural urge and dynamic drive to action in child nature, and child nature, tradition, and adult example set the forms of the play. Children played at home and they played in convenient community centers of their own selection. Children not only played, they also worked with their parents, and the play and work was a great source of development and therefore of health.

"But times change. Since the childhood of this older generation, social changes due to an evolving, machine-controlled industrial civilization began to squeeze the educational juice out of child life. It destroyed the old home, it changed family customs even in the country, it built congested cities, and in these cities it eliminated spaces in which children could play. In time, child life, as expressed in vigorous outdoor play, broke down, and surveys showed that instead of playing, children were idling or engaged in worthless amusements."

This state of affairs aroused teachers and parents and in 1906, through the organization of the Playground and Recreation association of America, a systematic reconstruction of the play life of children was instituted. The significant thing about this playground movement, it is stated, is that it was conceived, promoted, financed, organized, and managed by adults. In a word, adults deliberately and with intention assumed the responsibility for an efficient organization of children's play and made it a responsibility of the community.

The big idea is to see that all the children of the community have equal opportunities for healthful play, and that they be given adult direction and supervision to the end that their activities will do them the most possible good.

A genius is often a fool who capitalizes his foolishness. — Coshocton Tribune.

Fat Broilers In Eight Weeks!

Just suppose you started with 500 chicks, costing about 20c a piece or $100.00. Your feed bill for eight weeks would be around $38.00—total cost $138.00.

Let us say 200 of the chicks are cockerels. Tuxedo-fed for eight weeks, they're now market broilers worth at least 80c each or $160.00! Eight weeks from the start and you clear a profit of $22.00 and still have 300 pullets that cost you nothing! Sure there's money in poultry if you feed Tuxedo after chicks are 48 hours old and stick to it all the way. If you haven't tried Tuxedo yet, start today. We recommend Tuxedo Feeds.

Mrs. Harold Dorsey entertained the members of the Would-be Bridge club Wednesday evening at her home in Ninth street. Two tables were in play. Trophies were awarded Mesdames Bert Brown and Kathryn Smith. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Bernice Hall.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Bernice Hall, Sixth street, Newell.

In the Mode And Out of the Ordinary

If a Woman's Hat is very new,
That's one thing in her favor,
If the Hat is Very Smart—
That is still another virtue,
If it is both very new and very smart,
IT DOUBTLESS MEANS

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy manifested during our recent bereavement in the death of our father and brother, George B. Lowry.

Especially do we thank Rev. K. J. Stewart, D. D., for his inspiring and comforting funeral service, the pianist and singers, all who sent flowers, and all who contributed in any manner to our comfort.

THE FAMILY.

THIS SCOURGE WAS DRAGGING HIM DOWN

ALL-BRAN gave him new lease on life when it checked constipation

No matter how chronic constipation has become—no one need give up hope of relief. Read Mr. Williams' cheery message:

"I am on the down-grade in life. Never had any sickness, but of late years have been troubled with constipation. Began to make up my mind that I was about done up. Have taken tablets, eaten fruits, etc., but did not get much help. Began to use your ALL-BRAN twice a day. Have gained 5 pounds. Feel like a fighting cock. Bowels are regular. You have certainly done a lot for humanity."

L. C. WILLIAMS
Rushville, N. Y.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend Kellogg's because it is 100% bran—100% effective.

Delicious with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Ready to eat. Fine in cooking. Sold and served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Recipes on package.

POLICE DOG, TRIED FOR MURDER, FOUND NOT GUILTY OF KILLING CAT

CANTON, N. Y.—Lona, the police-dog, cousin of the great Strongheart, owned by Miss Martha Sansom of the St. Lawrence University Athletic Staff, was tried for murder in Justice of the Peace Leon G. Grary's court. Lona was charged with killing a cat.

A plea of not guilty was entered by her owner, she was given a trial and found not guilty.

Complaint was entered with Frank Ellwood, town clark, by Mrs. Emma Smith of Pine street, that her black and white cat had been killed by a dog. Ellwood directed her to Justice Grary's who issued a warrant for Lona's arrest.

The hearing was for Miss Sansom to show cause why Lona should not pay the penalty for causing the cat's death. Mrs. Sansom testified that Tuesday the dog was with her in her home from the middle of the afternoon to 9 o'clock at night, and therefore had no chance to go hunting for cats.

Justice Grary ruled that the evidence against Lona was not sufficiently strong to warrant conviction and the prisoner was discharged.

Another way to become cheerful is to visit the country and observe the acres of grass you don't have to mow.

When the traffic officer shouts, "Where you goin'?" the diplomatic reply is: "You tell me."—Youngstown Vindicator.

FRENCH WINE TRADE HIT BY PROHIBITION

Champagne Makers Feel Loss of Sales in United States.

CANADIANS BUY

Exporters Insist They Have no Dealings With Bootleggers.

PARIS.—Three-fourth of the so-called French wines, champagnes and liquor distributed by American bootleggers are poor and sometimes harmful imitations.

Bootleggers prefer to handle liquids of strong alcoholic content because a little goes a long way in the fabrication of concoctions resembling slightly in taste and color many pre-war and pre-prohibition delicacies.

The American market is almost a total loss to French wine producers, nor are other markets taking sufficient additional supplies to make up the deficit.

Count Bertrand de Mun, member of the French Chamber of Deputies and creator and secretary of the French Wine Exporters' Commission, thus sizes up present conditions in the French wine industry in so far as America is concerned.

American Orders.

"Occasionally we have a big order from Canada, Mexico or the Bahamas, which we believe may be destined for the United States," says Count de Mun. "But the consignment is always paid for on delivery at Havre or Bordeaux where it goes from there doesn't interest us.

"French exporters have no dealings with American bootleggers. The bootleggers prefer to work through intermediaries, thus dividing the risk.

"I doubt if much of the French product ever enters the United States. Bootleggers' profits on stronger spirits are so much greater and their risks are less since the quantity can be less but still appreciable."

The champagne industry, in which the Count de Mun is particularly interested, since he is connected with the Veuve Cliquot Ponsardin Company, has been especially hard hit by prohibition. Before prohibition the United States took four and a half million bottles annually out of a total production of thirty million bottles.

The Count de Mun has only faint hopes that the prohibition amendment will ever be repealed. But he expects the Volstead Enforcement Act to be modified permitting the importation, sale and consumption of French wines.

France to Stay Wet.

"America will realize eventually that the prohibition experience is based upon formidable error," he declared. "The error is the prohibition of healthful products with those which are injurious and harmful. French wines, which have proved themselves beneficial over several centuries, eventually will be admitted."

Asked if he believed France would ever adopt prohibition the Count replied with an explosive, "Certainly not."

"France is a nation of old culture," he said, "which has always produced wine and has always known how to appreciate and consume the wines she produced. She does not suffer from the inconvenience of not knowing how to use wine.

"France knows perfectly well that the consumption of wine prevents alcoholism."

British Pastor Plans To Run Cabaret Club On Sunday Nights

WOLVERHAMPTON, Eng.—In an effort to mitigate the evil of thousands of young people parading the streets in the center of the town on Sunday evenings, the Rev. G. D. Walker, the pastor of the Wolverhampton Presbyterian church proposes to run a Sunday night club on cabaret lines in his church lecture hall.

Rev. Walker announced his plan at the local police court when over thirty young people were summoned for causing an obstruction on the sidewalks. He proposes to give a two-hour show, with a cafe-tar as a sideline for refreshment.

CHILD LOST REST AT NIGHT

Had Bad Case of Eczema. Healed by Cuticura.

"When my sister was a baby she had a very bad case of eczema. It broke out in little blisters on her head and arms. The blisters would break and water would come from them, causing the trouble to spread until it was just one sore eruption all over her head. Her hair fell out, and she lost her rest at night.

"My mother began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using two cakes of Soap and two boxes of Ointment my sister was healed." (Signed) Miss Flossie Brown, Rt. 4, Nashville, Ind.

Prevent pimples by daily use of Cuticura Soap, assisted by touches of Cuticura Ointment as needed to soothe and heal.

ROY WALLEN DEFENSE SCORES IN MURDER TRIAL

WITNESSES SAY SLAIN MAN WAS QUARRELSOME

Former Wellsville Man Tells of Alleged Threat.

KIN ON STAND

Rodney Ogle, it is Claimed, Hinted "I'll Kill You."

Defense witnesses in the trial of Roy Wallen, 33, coal miner, of East Salineville, charged with first degree murder in the death of Rodney Ogle, 57, also a miner, who was shot down in his home on Feb. 6 last, testified in common pleas court, Lisbon, late yesterday afternoon, that the slain man was quarrelsome and had made threats against the life of the defendant.

Joseph Hannum, owner of the North Branch Coal company's mine declared that he did not go to the Ogle house on the night of the fatal shooting "for fear he (Ogle) might rise up and kill me."

Wallen's stepfather, E. R. Davis, of Covington, Ky., but formerly of Wellsville and East Liverpool, swore that while painting a sign on the east of the East Salineville coal mine tipple in 1923, he caught Ogle pointing a gun through a crack in a barn. He also said that Ogle had said to him "You had better get him (meaning Wallen) out of here or you will find him dead some of these days."

George L. Davis, a brother of E. R. Davis, and employed as a street car conductor in East Liverpool, testified during a 10-minute stay on the witness stand that he saw Mrs. Rose Householder, Wallen's sister-in-law, who gave damaging testimony against the defendant yesterday morning, in the court house lobby talking with her sister when the grand jury, which indicted Wallen, was in session. He said, however, that he did not hear the conversation.

Sheriff on Witness Stand.

After D. F. Cobbs, of the county surveyor's office, had identified a floor plan of the Ogle home, which Judge William D. Duncan, of Findlay, presiding at the trial, permitted to be introduced in evidence over the objection of defense counsel, Sheriff George Wright was called to the witness chair.

"When Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter and I reached the Ogle home shortly after 12 o'clock the morning of Feb. 7 we found Ogle lying outside the door on the east side of his home with his hands lifted and backward from his head," Wright testified said under direct examination by Prosecutor Robert M. Brookes.

"Ogle was dead. A dog was lying between his outstretched legs. We went into the home and found a rifle and a shot gun on the floor, with the barrel of each pointing from the sitting room to the doorway leading into the kitchen."

Brookes took a rifle and a single-barrel shotgun to the witness stand, and these were identified by the witness as those taken from the Ogle home. They were introduced as exhibits of the state.

"Both the rifle and the shotgun had ben recently fired. We then went to the Hannum home, where we found Wallen and his wife and Hannum. When we knocked at the door, Wallen answered the summons, and I asked him what he knew about the shooting. Wallen said he 'did it.'"

Sheriff Wright then pulled from his outer coat pocket an automatic Colt revolver and two empty sheels and one loaded 25-calibre shell. The witness read into the record an identification of these shells by certain marks.

"This is the revolver or pistol Wallen said he used," Wright testified. "We took Wallen back to the Ogle home and Wallen said to us that 'Ogle fired a rifle over my head when he was standing between the stove and the table in the kitchen.' Wallen claimed all shots went into the kitchen, but the witness said that he could not observe any bullet marks in the wall of the kitchen." Deputy Kindsvatter and I examined the walls in the kitchen but we did not find any shot marks," Wright said.

The floor plan map that had been previously introduced was laid on the floor of the court room by Brookes, and the witness was asked to leave the witness stand and indicate on the plan where the rifle, shotgun and three shells were found.

As this inquiry was progressing Judge Duncan left the bench and stood in the centre aisle of the jury box.

Observed Bullet Holes in Floor.

"We later observed bullet holes in the floor of the sitting room of the Ogle home, and Wednesday we observed that one of these had been plugged with a substance resembling hair and dirt," Wright said. "When Deputy Kindsvatter and I first went into the Ogle home we saw four bottles of beer in the sitting room and a quart bottle containing about two inches of beer sitting on the kitchen table. These bottles were not there when the jury went to the home Wednesday. The home was as dirty Wednesday when the jury was there as it was the night we first entered it, but the bottles were missing.

"We saw the guns the first time we visited the house. I asked Wallen how long it had been since he had been in the Lisbon jail, and he asked me if I'd talked with Ogle. I said to Wallen that Ogle was dead. Wallen did not show any emotion.

"We took Wallen to the Ogle home and viewed the body which was still lying outside. We then went into the Ogle house, and remained there 10 or 15 minutes. We found the bullet holes in the floor of the sitting room when we visited the Ogle home at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the day after he was shot, but we picked up a loaded and an empty shell that night and found the other empty shell, the next day. We didn't disturb a thing the first time we went into the house. Marshall Roucks of Salineville was with us that Sunday night."

Spectator Faints.

Just as Sheriff Wright concluded his testimony, Mrs. John Clager of Jordonville, a suburb of Lisbon, a spectator, fainted and fell to the floor. She was picked up and carried to the court chamber in the rear of the court room. In about 30 minutes she was revived, and returned to the court room.

James McGarry, an aged bachelor residing some distance from the Ogle home, followed Sheriff Wright on the witness stand. He testified under examination by Defense Attorney W. A. O'Grady that Wallen came to his home the night of Feb. 6, shortly after 9 o'clock and was accompanied by his wife Angeline. Responding to a knock at the door, McGarry said he was asked if Rose Householder was there and that Angeline wanted Rose to come out as "Angeline had something to say to her."

Mr. McGarry said that he told Wallen that Rose was not going out. Angeline went into the house and Wallen said that "she is my wife," and that he then said that "he was going to take her out of there and let her go to hell." The witness testified that the wife of Wallen was weeping when she entered his home.

Under cross-examination by O'Grady the witness testified that Rose Householder got milk at their home when her family lived in that neighborhood several years ago and that she has visited the home four or five times since moving away from that locality.

"You're not related to Rose, are you?" the witness was asked.

"I'm not married," he said.

The witness said that he was Ogle's first cousin. He testified that Rose Householder had told him that she feared Wallen was going to shoot her, and when this remark was made to him Wallen was then standing on the porch of the McGarry home. Rose was very nervous, and I told Wallen I wat not going to let any one talk to her except the prosecuting attorney and the sheriff. She left for Kensington with her brother, Paul, the next morning, taking the 9 o'clock train from Salineville, and at Kensington got a bus and went to Lisbon.

The witness declared that Paul Lagara, a brother of Rose's said that Wallen had picked his wife from the floor of the Ogle home by the ears, and that Paul had said to him, "Wallen did the shooting."

He said that he had not been at the Ogle home for six months, and that when he was there last he saw a "target gun" hanging on the wall. He related that Rose and her brother, Paul, had left their home the next morning and that Ogle had lived in the house where he was shot for about a month.

Miss McGarry Testifies.

Miss Mary Jane McGarry, a sister of the preceding witness, testified she was 58 years of age. She said under direct examination that she and Rodney Ogle had been school mates in their youth, and that Ogle had last lived about one and one-half miles from their home. She declared that Rose and her brother arrived at their home at 9:05 o'clock the night of Feb. 6 and that Rose was excited. She related Rose said she had been at the Ogle home and had "told us what had happened."

"Angeline and Wallen came to our house about 10 o'clock," Miss McGarry continued, "and Wallen wanted to know if Rose was there. Wallen said Angeline wanted to talk to Rose. I told Rose Angeline was at the door but she would not go out. Wallen said there had been a little trouble, and I said if there had been a little trouble it would blow over by morning. Angeline then went into the house crying, and when Angeline didn't come out Wallen said, 'to hell with her.'"

Cross-examined by O'Grady, she testified that Rose last visited them on May 30. She related that Sheriff Wright and Deputy Kindsvatter called at their home and they had talked with Paul, and that Deputy Kindsvatter had given Rose money to pay her train fare from Salineville to Kensington, and also that of her brother, Paul, and the bus fare from Kensington to Lisbon. Miss McGarry said that she did not attend the funeral of Ogle, but that her broher had advised her that "Rose was there." She also testified that Rose had told her that she and her brother and run from the kitchen door of the Ogle home just before the shooting.

State Rests Case.

Sheriff Wright was recalled by the state at this time and testified that the automatic revolver he had obtained from Wallen the night Ogle was shot had a magazine in it and that the magazine was loaded with five shells. The magazine was then introduced as a state exhibit.

At this point all exhibits previously introduced during testimony by the state, including the blood-stained shirt taken from the body of Ogle, were put in the record. Counsel for the defense objected to the introduction of the shirt.

The state then rested its case.

It was 3:15 o'clock when E. R. Davis, stepfather of Wallen, was placed on the stand by the defense at its first witness. Examined by O'Grady, he testified that he had resided in East Liverpool and Wellsville, and is employed as an interior decorator. He said that in 1923 he was engaged by Joe Hannum to paint

CHICAGO "CLEAN-UP LAWYER" MAY GO TO CANTON

MAYOR SEEKS ROACH'S AID IN MAZER QUIZ

Inquiry Into Police Role in Mellett Plot Launched.

TRAIL HIGHER-UP

Fourth Man Indicted is Given Immunity Bath.

CANTON, O., March 11.—Possibility that Joseph R. Roach, Chicago "clean-up attorney," might be recalled to Canton to aid Mayor Stanford M. Swarts' investigation into Louis Mazer's allegations regarding a police official, in connection with the Don R. Mellett murder, loomed here today.

Mazer was the third man indicted for the murder of Mellett, Canton publisher, here last July. His trial was originally scheduled for March 16, but he has now been promised immunity for having turned state's evidence.

In his story, made public last Tuesday, Mazer said he and Floyd Streitenberger, former Canton detective, and fourth man indicted for alleged complicity in the crime, had obtained Mellett's home address from a present member of the Canton police force.

Roach was brought here shortly after the murder, by Mayor Swarts and the Canton Daily News. He obtained evidence which resulted in an affidavit charging Mazer with murder.

On this action, it is said, the entire plot now unfolding, is hinged.

Immediately following the filing of the affidavit against Mazer, Chief of Police S. A. Lengel and Detective Streitenberger were ousted, among others, from service, and several detectives were demoted for associating with criminals, and incompetency.

"Living Dead Man" Dies

Speaks To His Family.

Several hours before his death Frick rallied and was able to speak a few words to members of his family. He used the breath that his friends forced in and out of his wasted lungs to whisper words of good cheer to those he loved.

"Don't worry, Mom,' he said to his mother. "I've got a fighting chance."

His father said that as soon as he got well they would have a party for him.

"Shall we invite Miss Martin, the nurse?" asked his father, trying to control his voice.

"Sure thing," said Frick cheerfully. Those were his last words.

Frick had been in ill health most of his life, it was learned. Several years ago he went to Colorado and lived in the mountains, but believing he had regained his health, he returned to his home. Until forced to give up his studies on account of his health he was a student at Northwestern university.

the kitchen to heat a nursing bottle for Lillian, the baby.

The coal fire in the range was only flickering so Clara awakened her father to help her. Stevenson poured kerosene from a can into the stove.

An explosion followed which shook the house. The clothing of Stevenson and Clara caught fire. Each tried to help the other but became excited when the kitchen burst into flames.

Stevenson attempted to go up-stairs and warn his family but collapsed. Clara said she finally succeeded in getting up the stairs.

The entire house soon was afire. Clara leaped from a window and was found unconscious.

Meantime, Mrs. Stevenson tried to carry her two youngest children down stairs. She fell on the stairway, dropping both children. She was unable to relate how she escaped.

William, Jr., the third survivor, jumped from a window.

Kiwanians' Party

the Canton club, who announced an inter-city meeting of the Sixth division to be held at Canton on April 26.

Announce Broadcasting Plans.

Fred Witter, Canton, chairman of the state publicity committee, discussed plans for "putting Kiwanis on the map," through newspaper stories, radio programs, etc. Clyde Stouch, "pep-maker" for the Steubenville club, led in the singing of "Sweet Adeline."

Frank Judge, Salineville, lieutenant-governor of the Eighth division, which includes Columbiana county, announced that plans were under way for a radio entertainment to be broadcast within the near future by the several clubs in his division, at which International Trustee R. C. Heddleston would be the speaker.

Heddleston, in introducing District Governor Smith, declared that the East Liverpool club was the "grandfather club of the local district."

"Wellsville and Salineville are our children, Carrollton is our grandchild," said Heddleston.

"When Kiwanis comes into your town, into my town, it makes itself known," Smith said. "It makes the gears mesh more evenly, work more smoothly and more harmoniously We have produced something which never before existed.

"Kiwanis reaches its objectives by mass formation. When we come into Kiwanis we have a prospective that is upward. It lifts one from the foothills to the heights of usefulness. It shows us the community's needs. It introduces us to each other in a closer and a more friendly way.

"When Kiwanis comes to town it will soon achieve renown. We must answer the call to serve and to build."

A program of dancing and cards followed. The grand march was led by Attorney Walter B. Hill and Miss Louise Thompson. Sayre's Premier Syncopators were in charge of the music.

Mrs. Smith, wife of the district governor, received a decorated twin tea set, a product of the Hall China company. Other attendance prizes furnished by members of the club were awarded the following: Miss Ann Allison, Miss Nan Thompson, Mrs. Fred Witter, Mrs. Robert Douglass, Miss Christine Laughlin, Mrs. Clyde Larkins, Mrs. Frank Conklin, Miss Margaret Ann Blake, Mrs. Samuel Larkins, Mrs. A. E. Harris, Mrs. C. W. Stouch, Mrs. John Golden, Mrs. L. E. Weaver, Mrs. Frank Polling, Mrs. Carl McCutcheon, Mrs. A. E. Frosch, Mrs. Frank Judge Jr., Mrs. Clarence Cline, Mrs. Elizabeth Haldeman, Miss Ruth Heddleston and Mrs. John Morton.

Suspected "Clubber" Arrested.

CLEVELAND, March 11. — Police have arrested a man suspected of being the "clubber," who has robbed several women here during the last three weeks. A bunch of keys which were in a purse belonging to one of his victims, was found in the man's possession.

CANTON TROOPS REPULSED IN SUNKIANG PUSH

Long Expected Battle in Yishing Sector Under Way.

RUSSIANS AID

General Chang Tsung Chang Will Direct Defense.

SHANGHAI, March 11.—The Cantonese have opened a drive against Sunkiang and have been forced back in their first sally.

The long expected battle in the Yishing sector for Sunkiang and also in the Taiping Chen region of Anhwei now appears to be in full progress, with all reports here indicating that the Cantonese have had to give some ground.

The first Nationalist thrust against Sunkiang was thwarted when sentinels spotted 30 boatloads of Nationalists troops, dressed as civilians, preceding to the city. The Shantung forces opened a heavy fire and the Nationalists were forced to retire.

Heavy fighting continues in the Chusan Yishing sector where the Nationalists are receiving reinforcements, including many Russian detachments. A major engagement looms on this front.

General Chang Tsung Chang has arrived at Peng Fu and established headquarters, planning to personally direct the defense against the Cantonese.

Decision Reserved In Suit Over $160 Spent for Whisky

Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today reserved his decision in the civil action instituted by Thomas McDonough, West Fourth street, against William Smith, Ravine street, and William Ward to recover $160 which he is alleged to have advanced upon a note executed September 25, 1926.

Smith and Ward admitted having received the money, the check being cashed in Pittsburgh. They testified that they had purchased two cases of wiskey and two cases of gin with the money, the whisky costing $50 per case and the gin $25 per case.

Enroute to East Liverpool Ward said the liquor was stored in a barn belonging to a woman by the name of Smith on the Midland-Ohioville road. When they returned for it the liquor had been stolen, he claimed.

Wallen to Testify.

cutor Brookes. Davis said he told Ogle that he didn't think he (Ogle) would hurt anybody, although the witness said, "I was a little afraid of him."

Mrs. Irene Davis, mother of the preceding witness, residing in Apple alley, East Liverpool, said that she was in Lisbon, February 14, when the grand jury was in session and that she knew Rose Householder. Mrs. Davis declared that Rose told Angeline that Wallen had shot Ogle, but that Rose did not see it.

Angeline Wallen, 20, wife of the defendant, took the stand at 10:15 a. m. and was questioned by Attorney Crawford. Assistant Prosecutor Bauknecht cross-examined her for an hour and 30 minutes.

She said that they had lived on the Hannum farm off and on during the last three years; that she was a sister of Rosie Householder; that her mother died 10 months ago and that she formerly lived in Salineville. She said she had known Ogle for 12 years and that Ogle moved into the house where he was shot about January 20, last.

Mrs. Wallen said her brother, Paul came to them from Kensington in February, and that he went to work on the MacNeal farm, but quit on February 6.

Mrs. Wallen testified that Wallen had been at the Ogle home during the day of the shooting and that he and Ogle had been drinking beer; that when she arrived there were nine bottles left out of six gallons and that she saw a quart can of malt. She said she stayed there about two hours and that one light was burning in the kitchen, with a small grate fire in the sitting room.

"My sister jumped me about not keeping Paul, and I began to cry. When Wallen came back with a mandolin, she was in the sitting room, crying, and Wallen came into the room and shook her by the right arm and tried to make her tell him what the trouble was.

The witness then said that Ogle interfered and said, "None of that;" that he struck Wallen twice and that Wallen struck him back. She said Ogle told them to get out.

Sister Urged Separation, She Said

Rose and Paul, she said, then left the living room.

Wallen then went out into the kitchen to pick up a paper of tobacco and a carbide lamp from a table when Ogle came at him with a shotgun, the witness swore. Then Wallen shot him twice, she said. She said that she and Wallen left the home and went to Mc Garry's house to see if Rosie were there, but did not talk to her. Later she and her husband went to Hannum's and she went to bed.

The witness testified that Rodney Ogle, a son, now residing in Lisbon, and his wife, and aunt, went out to the Ogle home the next day and that she saw a lot of stuff burning in the yard, and that a crock, with mash in it, and broken bottles were scattered about.

She declared that Ogle had guns on the wall, including a shotgun, rifle, two pistols and a hunting knife.

Mrs. Wallen said that her husband asked Sheriff Wright when the latter visited the Hannum home the night of the shooting if he had been talking to Ogle, and that Sheriff Wright replied, "Ogle is through talking."

She also said that her sister, Rose, "wanted me to leave Wallen and tell me to forget about him as I would be better off without him."

Four Shots Were Fired.

Mrs. Wallen said that she did not light any match the night of the shooting and denied that she urged her husband not to commit suicide.

She declared there were four shots fired that night and that her husband had said to Ogle, "My God, don't shoot!" when he saw Ogle with the gun. She testified that the two men were friendly before that.

At this point Bauknecht took the witness, and she said that she married Wallen February 12, 1923, when she was 16 and that she has never left her husband.

She said there was no music or dancing at the Ogle home the evening of the shooting. Bauknecht read from a record of testimony given before the February grand jury.

Wallen Defense Scores

a large sign on the side of the coal tipple reading the "North Branch Coal Co.," and that when he was so engaged, Ogle was working on the top level of the tipple and Wallen on the lower level. He said that it appeared to him that Wallen was directing the work on the tipple, and that he had shouted up to Ogle to come down and bring with him a hatchet and some spikes.

"Ogle said to me' I'd like to take this hatchet and knock his damn brains out,'" Davis swore.

"The next day I looked down from where I was painting," Davis continued, "and saw Ogle shake his finger at Wallen who was near him, heard him say to Wallen, 'Don't you ever cross my path again or I'll kill you.'"

Ogle Threatened Wallen.

The witness said that after he had been working at the tipple for about a week, Ogle met him and inquired if Wallen was a stepson. Davis said that he replied he was, and that Ogle then said to him; You'd better get him out of here or you'll find him dead some of these days."

Davis then testified that a little while later, while passing the Ogle barn, he saw a rifle sticking from a crack, and that when he went into the barn and Ogle saw him, he pulled the gun from the crack, dropped it to the floor, attempted to cover it up and began to smile. At that time Wallen was about 300 feet away.

"I informed Wallen what happened," Davis declared, "and I said to him that he'd better be careful. Ogle always talked of Wallen being around and said that as he (Ogle) had been there before Wallen he ought to be made superintendent of the mine. Ogle was always quarrelsome."

Brookes cross-examined Davis, who said that he had married his wife in Butler county, Ohio, and that Wallen had been sent to the reform school from Hamilton.

Joseph Hannum Witness.

Joseph Hannum, when questioned by Attorney S. W. Crawford, said he resided in Yellow Creek township, about half way between Salineville and Salisbury, and that he had been engaged in the coal business during the last six to eight years. He testified that Wallen and his wife had made their home with him.

He said that Wallen had left the home before noon on Feb. 6, but that his wife had remained there, until evening. He said that Wallen had returned to his home before dark and that he had asked where his wife was. Hannum testified that he told Wallen he did not know, and that Wallen replied he would go down the road to meet her.

He testified that later he heard three shots.

Hannum testified that he had known Ogle for about 20 years, and that he had bought coal under five acres of the Ogle land; also that Ogle had worked for him several years ago. "Ogle was quarrelsome with me," Hannum mtestified, "and he refused to deed me property I had bought and paid for."

He said Wallen had carried a revolver during part of the winter.

He testified that he had employed Ogle as superintendent of his mine when it was first opened, and that when Ogle quit "the job stonped."

He said that Wallen had been employed about his coal property, farm and home since last fall.

Under cross-examination by Brookes, Hannum testified that Wallen had said to him that he had shot Ogle. Hannum said that he did not go to the Ogle house the night of the shooting. "He had made threats against me and I was afraid he would shoot."

"Didn't you say to Rose, 'The damn old man ought to have been killed long ago?" the witness was asked.

"Yes, sir."

George L. Davis, of East Liverpool, then told that he saw Rose Householder in the lobby of the court house during the last session of the grand jury.

BARTOLA FACES MURDER COUNT

Mill Worker Indicted for Slaying of Dr. Deigo Delfino.

Nick Bartola, 32, Follansbee mill worker, was indicted by the Brooke county grand jury Wednesday in connection with the slaying of Dr. Deigo Delfino, Follansbee-Steubenville physician, whose bullet-riddled body was found in his automobile parked along the Steubenville-Follansbee highway last December.

Bartola, arrested at Columbus, three weeks after the crime and identified as the last man seen with the physician before he was killed, will be tried next month on a first degree murder indictment returned against him by the grand jury sitting at Wellsburg.

Although Brooke county officials are divulging none of the information they hold against Bartola, it is said that the trial will bring out the fact that he has been identified by the physician's housekeeper as the man who came to the doctor's office at dusk on the evening he was murdered and rode with him in the Defino automobile in the direction of Steubenville. Five hours later the bullet-riddled body was found, the engine of the doctor's automobile still running and the headlights still burning.

Although authorities have made nothing public concerning the case they hold against Bartola or what information was given to the indicting jurors, it is reported that Bartola had made a threat upon Dr. Defino's life after Bartola's child died following an illness. Dr. Defino had been attending the child during its illness. Following the murder Bartola disappeared and was traced to Ohio.

Easy to Bake with Made-Rite FLOUR

The secret of superior baking results is in the wheat. Only a specially selected grade of hard winter wheat is used for milling Made-Rite Flour. That's why it is so easy to bake better bread and pastry with this flour of flavor.

TWO INJURED IN GAS BLAST

Gas explosion in the cellar of the residence of Daniel Ferrari, Weirton, Wednesday night resulted in injuries to both Ferrari and his wife and considerable damage to the dwelling. Ferrari, with an oil lamp in his hand, opened the cellar door, and had taken but four steps down the stairway, when the explosion occurred. A leak in the gas line had filled the cellar with gas, the leak of which was unknown to Ferrari.

The explosion threw Mrs. Ferrari against a window, inflicting several cuts about her face and head. Ferrari was burned about the hands and face in the fire that followed, also receiving injuries about the body when knocked to the floor of the cellar. Windows in the house were broken, while considerable damage was done the right side of the dwelling. The loss to the home and contents has not been estimated. The Weirton fire department answered the call, and assisted in extinguishing the blaze which was confined to the cellar of the home.

CLASS PLAYLET HERE TONIGHT

Large crowd is expected to attend the playlet entitled "The Adventures of Grandpa," to be presented tonight in the Lincoln theatre by members of the Junior class of the Chester high school.

Matinee was given this afternoon for the school children of the city.

Evangelistic Meetings.

Rev. A. D. Zahizer, conference evangelist, spoke last night at the revival services in the Free Methodist church. Meetings are growing in interest and being largely attended. They will continue for several weeks.

Business Men Meet.

Regular meeting of the Chester Business Men's association was held last night in the Stewart building, Third street and Carolina avenue. Talk was given by Delegate O. O. Allison.

Scout Meeting Tonight.

Members of Boy Scout troop No. 24 will meet tonight in the basement of the First United Presbyterian church. The session will be in charge of Scoutmaster Rev. W. J. H. McKnight.

Bible Searchers Meet.

Large number attended the meeting of the Bible Searchers' class of the First Methodist Episcopal church last night in the tabernacle. Social hour followed the program.

STATE SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 11.—The state board of education began a special session here today, called by Governor Gore, to sift charges of malfeasence in office of Herbert K. Cantrell, superintendent of Mingo county schools.

The outcome of the hearing probably will determine what further action the state tax commissioner will take against Mingo county school officials in reference to charges of misuse of public school funds.

At the present session the board of education also was expected to take up the matter of adoption of textbooks for the next five years.

WORKMEN'S LAW BEING STUDIED

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 11.—Thorough analysis of the West Virginia workmen's compensation law, and a comparison of its terms with those of similar laws in other states was the program outlined here today for the joint legislative committee, which met for a preliminary session this morning, previously to beginning its probe.

All members of the committee named by the legislature were present.

Meeting Postponed.

Business meeting of the Intermediate Christian Endeavor society of the First Christian church scheduled tonight in the church, has been postponed until next Friday night.

Lenten Services Here.

Lenten services were held last night in St. Matthew's Episcopal church. The sermon was delivered by Rev. H. J. Buxton, rector of Christ church, Kent, O.

Candy Causes Head Bruises.

Many in Berlin are nursing bruised heads and scowling at those who dare to wheeze about "Did you ever feel a chocolate drop?" A candy manufacturer employed an aviator to fly over the city and drop from his machine chocolate drops bearing his advertisement. Just when he felt that his idea was making an impression, the police received so many reports of heads bruised by the confections that they stopped the scheme.

Girl bandits may stir curiosity for a day or two but they must not expect to become permanent pets.

Post-War Children Heavier.

That children born in 1920 were found to be at the age of five, on an average, an inch taller and a pound heavier than the normal pre-war child of the same age, is the report made recently by the medical department of the board of education of London. This increase in height and weight was most noticeable among slum children, and similar improvement was found in other tots, said the report.

Says Cats Are in Heaven.

"I feel sure there are cats in heaven, especially black cats," said Prebendiary Carlile, founder of the Church Army in England, during the celebration of his eightieth birthday in London recently. Every member of the staff at headquarters was present, and the chief was in a happy mood. He made his comment on the cat when some one attempted to put a black feline out of the room.

For some strange and wholly unaccountable reason the Chinese people seem to want to run their own country.—Zanesville Signal.

C. W. Davis Named President Of City Industrial Circuit

Cline Drops Reins After Two Good Seasons As Leader

1927 Campaign to be Launched Saturday, May 7, With Contests Carded at Chester, Newell and Columbian Park; Player Trades Loom.

Charles W. "Heimie" Davis, local sporting goods dealer, and one-time amateur performer of no little distinction himself, will head the City Industrial Baseball League as president for the season of 1927.

Davis was elected to the post by league managers at a meeting last night in the chamber of commerce rooms.

He succeeds Clarence C. Cline, who, because of business reasons, found it necessary to resign after two successful administrations as directing head of the diamond organization.

Ex-President Cline launched preliminary arrangements for the present campaign, keeping things moving until his successor could be named. His retirement was accepted with regret by team owners and managers.

Davis, the new league head, brings to the circuit a wealth of experience and knowledge in the national pastime. "Heimie" was for years a leading catcher of the one-time famed Elks' baseball club and other diamond aggregations representing the city.

The 1927 season will be opened on Saturday, May 7, with three contests: Wellsville at Chester; K. T. K. at Victory Motor (Columbian park); and Turk-Nash at Laughlin (Newell).

The first half will run until July 1 and the second half will get under way on July 11, continuing until Labor day following which the respective winners of the first and second sections will clash in another of the locally famous "baby world's series."

Several prospective trades are said to be in the offing which may involve all of the clubs in the league although no deals have been completed.

Ruth Hurts Leg.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 11.—Babe Ruth, who injured his leg in the Yankees' game against the Reds, will be in shape to play again in a few days. The Yanks won the ball game, 8 to 5, as Pipgras, Moore and Beall allowed only three hits.

Red Sox at Work.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 11.—The Boston Red Sox today are going through their final paces in preparation for the first contest of the season with the New Orleans Pelicans tomorrow.

Collins' Knee Bruised.

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 11.—Eddie Collins, the A's veteran captain, despite a bruised knee continues to join the practice drills and will be in the lineup against the Phils. Cobb and Wheat and other high price veterans also will play. Connie Mack added another rookie to his payroll yesterday when Jud Waller, husky Decatur college Texas student, reported, seeking a berth in the outfield. Cobb and Wheat continue to work out in the morning and afternoon drills. The Georgia peach after a strenuous workout gave the young Mackmen some pointers on batting yesterday.

Schalk Feels Happy.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 11.—Manager Ray Schalk of the White Sox was happy today over the manner in which his proteges performed in a seven-inning ball game here yesterday. Schalk divided his troupe into the "Blues" and "Whites," one team wearing the blue spangled road uniforms and the other the white garb used at home. The Whites won, 5 to 3, Schalk did the catching for the Blues.

Regulars, Yans Play Again.

PASOS ROUBLES, Cal., March 11.—Regulars and Yanigans were to play their second game this afternoon, at the Pirate camp, the youngsters suffering a 10 to 4 defeat in the initial game. Roy Mahaffey and Guy Morrison will pitch for the regulars today, and Lee Meadows and Johnny Morrison will be on the mound for the Yanigans.

College Athletics Not Run for Public, Says Bethany Prexy

BETHANY, W. Va., March 11.—In discussing college athletics before the Bethany college student body yesterday, Dr. Cloyd Goodnight, president, emphatically stated that he did not believe that it is now or ever was the business of college athletics to entertain the public.

Athletics are meant to serve the students in a way that will give them growth and development and should never be permitted to become a parade like a prize horse at the county fair," he asserted.

With definite aims and a careful program Bethany college is interested in athletics and is anxious to promote and maintain them in every possible way."

MIDLAND LOSES TO MORRY FIVE

The Midland Collegians dropped a 37-24 decision to the Pittsburgh Morrys, Central league champions, in a game last night at Midland, the contest bringing out the biggest crowd of the season.

Benedict and Campbell were the Midland scoring stars, the former getting three field goals and two fouls and the latter four double deckers. Midland will play the Damascus team of the Columbiana county league Monday night at Midland.

Play Braves Today.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 11.—The Cardinals were here today for the return with the Boston Braves to even matters for their defeat.

Jess Haines, Reinhart and Dyer are scheduled to do the mound duty.

Ready For Big Series.

SARASOTA, Fla., March 11.—Having downed Buffalo, 7 to 6, the New York Giants today are ready for the big series with Washington. The Giants almost booted the game away after getting off to a six-run lead.

M. E.'s AND M. P.'s WIN LOOP GAMES

The Methodists defeated the United Presbyterians, 46 to 33, and the Methodist Protestants won from the Christians, 51 to 32, in Sunday School league games last night on the M. P. floor.

Lutherans will play the Christians and the Baptists will tackle the Presbyterians in games Saturday at the "Y."

Mostil Out of Danger.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 11.—Johnny Mostil, star center fielder of the Chicago White Sox, who slashed himself with a razor in a suicide attempt here Tuesday, was today pronounced practically out of danger by his physicians. There is still a slight possibility of blood poison from his many wounds, physicians say, but all danger of pneumonia has passed.

Errors Beat Phils.

BRADENTON, Fla., March 11.—Losing their first exhibition game to Washington, 6 to 3, the Phillies were out today for the scalp of the Athletics. The Phils' six errors, four of them attributed to Fresco Thompson, the new second baseman, gave the game to the Senators. He and Al Nixon were the heaviest hitters among the Phils, getting two each.

Robins Win One.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 11.—The Brooklyn Dodgers have found a club they can beat—the University of Florida nine. With Babe Herman smacking a single, a double, a triple and a homer the Dodgers whitewashed the collegians, 12 to 0.

Carnegie Gridiron Star Will Address Sunday Club Here

Lloyd E. Yoder, of Salem, recognized as the greatest lineman in the history of Carnegie Tech football and considered by a large number of experts as of All-American calibre in their selections at the close of last season, will address members of the Sunday Afternoon club at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday.

Yoder's gridiron achievements are too well known to need any further embellishing. His work in the Tech-Notre Dame game, particularly, ranked him as one of the foremost linesmen of the country.

His performance in not only this game but others on the season's schedule won him the captaincy of the Eastern team which played the Western Stars in the annual charity game at San Francisco on New Year's day.

Fight Results

AT CHICAGO—Joe Simonich, of Butte, Mont., won decision over Pete Latzo, world welterweight champion, ten rounds. Latzo's title was not at stake.

George Courtney of New York won decision over Al Webster of Montana, ten rounds.

Haakon Hanson of Norway won decision over Patsy Rocco, six rounds.

AT McKEESPORT, PA.—Joe Lagray of Johnston, Pa., knocked out Georgie Meehan of Farrell, Pa., in the second round.

AT MACON, GA.—W. L. (Young) Stribling knocked out Eddie Civel of Kentucky in the second round.

M. P. LASSIES WIN CAGE TILT

The M. P. girls defeated the Christians of Wellsville on the M. P. floor Wednesday night, 40 to 22. Finney, of the locals, was the high scorer with 12 field goals, while Thompson was the chief performer for the visitors.

JUNIOR TEAMS IN TOURNEY

HARVEY J. PRICE, Y. M. C. A. boys' director, today announced plans for the second annual Y. M. C. A. junior basketball tournament which will be launched Monday, March 21, at the "Y" gym.

The tourney will bring together teams in Chester, Newell, Wellsville and East Liverpool of the ages of 14 to 17 years.

Entries are expected from the following squads:

Wellsville—Buccaneers, Juniors and Centrals; Chester — Reserves and Methodist Episcopals, Newell—Junior High; East Liverpool — Tigers, Buckeyes, West End Rinkeydinks, McKinley Rinkeydinks, "Y" Silents, M. P. Sunday school class, M. E. Scouts, Roamers, "Y" Juniors, Orchard Grove Sunday school class, East End Uniques, All Stars, Continuation School and Omars.

A meeting of all managers and captains desiring to enter will be held Monday night, March 14, at the Y. M. C. A. to discuss plans for the tournament and to make arrangements for entry fees, trophies, officials and by-laws.

Any other teams in the district not mentioned above, Price announces, may enter by sending representatives to the meeting Monday.

All Admire His Expressive Voice

How William Hodge wins his audience —how he protects his throat

AS a favorite actor throughout the nation, William Hodge's voice has added greatly to his skill on the stage. He has admirers everywhere.

In smoking, he prefers Lucky Strikes because they give the greatest enjoyment and throat protection.

Lucky Strikes are smooth and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked. They are made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process in treating the tobacco.

Smoke Lucky Strikes—you'll like them.

SALINEVILLE, CONQUERORS OF COLUMBIANA, FACE ELKS TONIGHT

"Ban" Disappointed As Braves Warm Up

Which is Taken by Experts to Mean That Boston Entry is Liable to Finish High This Year.

By Davis J. Walsh.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 1.—To a man up a tree who doesn't expect to come down until the whites of their eyes turn black, the Boston Braves apparently are always disappointing to the boy friend, Mr. David J. Bancroft, and all I can say is that if they only will do it again this year Boston may wake up unconscious some morning from the shock of finding itself in the first division. The Braves tossed off a tenth-inning decision to the Cleveland Indians yesterday.

This is highly encouraging. In 1923, they couldn't go wrong in the training camp and couldn't go right in the league race. The performance was a great moral victory, which is something you are careful to put out with the cat before closing up for the night.

The Braves, having lacked a real punch, were just a streaky ball club in other years, a prey to the whims of their pitchers. It may be that this condition will be altered by more pitching and less whimsicality this year; also by the possibility of additional punch being added by Lance Richmond, picked up from Milwaukee, and Jack Fournier, picked up from the odd-lot mart.

Jack still can hit them and will play an occasional first base, which is about the best way he does it. Dick Burrus, the Hatteras, N. C., gentleman, will occupy the position most of the time in spite of his 1926 slump. It seems that he was a sick man last year and the fact of the matter is that he really looks the part of a good ball player down here. In consequence, the general punch of the outfit should benefit accordingly.

Richbourg lives at Crestview, Fla., and he wouldn't have far to go if he was going, but he isn't. Getting two to three hits per diem, he has clinched his place in right field and will range the regular outfield with Jimmy Welch and Ed Brown. The Oakland, California, specimen has improved so much that he has taken the center field job away from Brown.

The latter can go a mile and get them but the trouble is that it takes him so long to carry the ball back. He shakes hands very nicely with his throwing arm. Anyhow, left field, it is figured, will make the throw less binding. As for Richbourg he always has been a hitter since that distant day he caught McGraw's eye as the third baseman of a college team in Florida.

Speaking of third basemen, the Braves have two and neither is a cold choice. Eddie Moore, ex-Pirate, has been shifted over to the position he played in the Southern Association and, with his fine arm, he looks like a million. But Andy High, the other candidate, drove in more runs than any man on the club in 1926 and it is understood that they intend to count runs again this year. High is one of those men who slowed up everywhere except in driving the ball through.

Mr. Bancroft, himself and in person, will play shortstop, which automatically ends that argument, if any. Walter Gautreau and Herb Thomas, from Providence via Jacksonville, are holding a two-man vendetta around second base. They like Thomas down here but Gautreau is a smart fighting fielder, gets on a lot and is likely to take the marbles in spite of his inadequate arm.

Lots of Pitchers.

The pitchers are plentiful and most of them are good—when the spirit moves. Bancroft thinks Larry Benton is the best right-hander in the league. Joe Genewich is another man who could find a home anywhere in either major league. Heran, the left-hander, showed us a great curve ball in 1926 and doesn't look as though he can miss; Harold Goldsmith, up from Providence, pitched three great games against league leading teams last September; Foster Edwards, Dartmouth man from Minneapolis, also turned in three fine performances without a run being earned.

Then, there is also Arthur Mills, from Pittsfield via Utica, of whom every one in camp is expecting great things; Kyle Graham, a very fair right-hander; Bob Smith, the pitcher-shortstop who likes to face the Pirates; Charley Robertson—no hit Charley of Chicago—and the inevitable George Mogridge. George is only 37 and ought to be developing right soon.

Johnny Cooney, last year's regular, has just undergone an operation on his arm in a Chicago hospital. They said the operation was successful, which may or may not mean that John still has the arm.

The regular catchers, Gibson and Taylor, are adequate. In addition, Francis Hogan, Somerville, Mass., recruit, is giving a good old college try at the matter of trying to beat Oscar Simer out of the warmup job.

LAUGHLIN WINS FROM CERAMICS

The Laughlin Reserves defeated the Ceramic All Stars, 31 to 23, in a game Wednesday night on the Laughlin floor, the contest going one period overtime. The Goldens starred for the Laughlins while Howell and Staley were the chief performers for the losers. Tonight the Reserves will play on the Laughlin floor while the first team plays in the preliminary to the Elks-Salineville tilt.

Single Men Accept Defi of Benedicts For Court Battle

Married men who spend their evenings, if any, at Smith News stand, recently issued a challenge to the single men for a basketball game or something.

Unable to find any of the married men at large last night, the unmarried men issued a public announcement today to the effect that they would accept the challenge of the benedicts, providing first, though, that the married men procure written permission from their wives to take part in the combat.

The date will be fixed on some night when all the members of the married men's team will be allowed out at once.

LATZO TRIMMED BY SIMONICH

CHICAGO, March 11.—Pete Latzo, welterweight champion of the world, thanked his lucky stars today that he did not wear his crown when he walked into the ring last night for his ten round bout with Joe Simonich of Butte, Mont.

Pete entered, cocky and full of confidence. But before the show was over he was trying to figue out whether this lad from the wide open spaces was a human being or a mountain cougar in disguise.

Joe slapped Pete with everything in the catalog of fistiana. But he could not knock him out. That much must be said in favor of Pete. The bout was at catchweights and Latzo's title was not at stake.

Pete showed little to indicate to the 5,000 fans who paid upwards of $10,000 to see the mill, that he was a great champion. Simonich won eight of the ten rounds, one was even and one went to Pete by a shade. It was the tenth, Latzo's best round.

George Courtney of New York, outpointed Al Webster, a Montana middleweight, in the ten round semi-wind up. Haakon Hansen, Norwegian middleweight, won the decision over Patsy Rocco in a six-round preliminary.

BENNETT, RECHT WIN CUE GAMES

H. Bennett defeated B. Severs, 25 to 17, and J. Recht won from Small, 25 to 13, in last night's three cushion matches at the Academy.

Bergner and Webb are scheduled for tonight.

Want Baseball Game.

The New Cumberland Hoscow Giants baseball club will be in the field again this year with a stronger team than ever. The Giants would like to arrange games for the season and want to hear from teams in the East Liverpool district, Chester, Newell, Weirton and New Cumberland. Write Route 4, Box 25, New Cumberland, W. Va.

Reds Face Gaston, Ballou.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 11.—Manager Howley will call upon Gaston and Ballou to work on the mound against the Cincinnati Reds here this afternoon.

Antlers Will Have Difficult Task In Trimming Visitors

Cartwright's Crew, Improving as Season Wanes, Confident of Handing Dose of Defeat to Lodge Passers Here; Lippe in Lineup.

Tom Cartwright's Salineville county league basketball team, inspired by a victory over the Columbiana Boosters in one of the most thrilling cage events of the current campaign at Salineville, will tackle the East Liverpool Elks tonight at the high school and the contest sizes up as no walkaway for the present league leaders.

Salineville side-tracked Columbiana by a one-point margin, but one point was as good as 100 and the Boosters, consequently, dropped back a notch in the race.

Prior to that disappointing event, disappointing to Columbiana, the Boosters had enjoyed a deadlock with the East Liverpool lodgemen for top honors in the circuit. Now the Elks are out in front, alone, and will have to lick Salineville tonight to stay there.

Cartwright's squad really performed a favor for the Elks in disposing of Columbiana, but it's certain they'll extend no quarter in their battle here tonight. Salineville has yet to obtain a decision over the Potters and this will be the fourth battle between the two teams this season.

Tonight's visitors have been coming along at a fast gait in the second half of the season and although they have lost more than they've won, the victories for the opposing teams were not easy. The Elks won at Salineville in their first game of the second half, but they were hustled to do it.

Over-confidence may have ruined Columbiana and it may not. But the fact remains that Salineville made field goals, and it's a cinch nobody can make field goals but the team itself.

"Take-it-easy" Nate Lippe, after an absence from the lineup of a couple of weeks, will return tonight and will execute his duties at forward.

With Center Johnson, who also manages the team, playing in brilliant form, the Lisbon Scholastics defeated the Salem Mullins Body quint last night at Salem. The final tally was 40 to 35.

Johnson eased in eight field goals and five fouls for a total of 21 points.

"qualities of endurance once undreamed-of in a car of the thousand dollar class"

In completing its now-historic 100,000-mile treadmill run in less than six months without the failure of any vital part, the Greater Oakland Six displayed qualities of endurance once undreamed-of in a car of the thousand dollar class!

Yet, dramatic as was this publicly conducted test, it only re-proved what thousands upon thousands of owners already know: that the Greater Oakland Six is winning and holding good will——not so much by the superlative beauty of its Fisher Bodies, nor by the marked advantages of Oakland's advanced engineering, but by long life and dependability that have been demonstrated under every conceivable condition of use!

This cherished reputation for stamina is not of overnight creation. It has been built up by faithful adherence to extraordinary standards of precision and quality. In the great Oakland plants there are employed countless practices which once were exclusive to the manufacture of a few of the world's costliest cars. All Oakland piston pin bushings, for example, are diamond bored to an accuracy of three ten-thousandths of an inch. All Oakland connecting rods are matched both for weight and center of gravity. All rotating parts of the car, from crankshaft to the rear axle, are balanced as a unit.

And as a result, all over America the Greater Oakland Six is establishing levels of owner satisfaction that previously have never been reached by any other car of comparable price!

Oakland Six, $1025 to $1295. The New and Finer Pontiac Six—at New Low Prices—$775 to $975. Bodies by Fisher. All prices at factory. Easy to pay on the General Motors Time Payment Plan.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART

"STRENGTH OF HORSE" NEEDED BY SENATORS, WINDUP PROVES

WASHINGTON, March 11.—For such a windup as marked the closing days of the 69th congress a senator needs the strength of a horse.

In that congress at the windup nearly every evening, one session of 30½ hours straightaway, another one of 27 hours and a few minutes without a break, and in between times the leaders of the fight had to slog up on preparation of the speeches they expected to deliver as soon as the fireworks started in again.

Plenty of senators didn't get more than two or three hours of sleep out of any 24 for ten days before adjournment, and that isn't taking into consideration the days and nights when they didn't get any slep at all.

Senator Reed of Missouri says he managed to put in just 40 minutes of slumber between 11 o'clock on the morning of March 2 and a trifle after 12 on the morning of March 4.

He was very short on sleep to begin with, at that, and dozed off right in his seat in the senate chamber, though the rafters were ringing with an address George Moses of New Hampshire was delivering at the time. Much Jim Reed cared! Yet when, those 40 minutes up, his friends dragged him onto his feet again for a fresh oratorical whirl, he fell instantly and automatically into parliamentary fighting position once more, just as a game scrapper does in the ring long after, by good rights, he ought to be down and out.

Senator Reed of Pennsylvania never slept a wink but he's nearly 20 years younger than the Missourian, a man of 65, but tougher than whalebone just the same.

Senators Joe Robinson, Pat Harrison, Walsh of Massachusetts, McNary and Shortridge were others, besides Moses and the two Reeds, who got mighty little, if any rest.

It was surprising how most of the veterans stood the gaff. A hard-boiled generation, they looked fresher, on an average, at the contest's end, than the rank and file of their juniors.

Jim Reed even had the pep to give out a belligerent interview, declaring his slush fund committee will go on investigating all summer, though the senate did refuse to vote an extension of its tenure. On the other hand "young Bob" LaFollette, his most devoted committee associate, who has all his father's spirit, but not his constitution, gave out and had to go home sick.

The senate was dopier at its final session than immediately following the longer one which preceded it.

Its 37-hour stretch was concluded with an 8½-hour adournment. Now 8½ hours isn't enough to make up for so much lost sleep. Quite a few senators, unwilling to waste even the necessary time to get to and from hotels, turned in on sofas or tables in their quarters in the scenate office building and slept frankly in their underwear.

There were some pretty bleary eyes and unshorn chins at 8:30 a. m.

The house of representatives had been keeping respectable hours and was feeling fine.

After adjournment it held a concert.

The senators would have been welcome if they'd cared to attend, but, "To hade with concerts" was the popular refrain at the north end of the Capitol, as Vice President Dawes' gavel fell. "Us for the hay."

It's reported in the hotel lobbies that some senators are sleeping yet

Campaign Progressing.

COLUMBUS, O.—General headquarters here for the national campaign of the Presbyterian church, to raise $15,000,000 for pensions for its aged or disabled ministers and missionaries today announced $9,200,000 has been pledged, with campaigns from Illinois to California still to come.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

To Neutralize Acidity and Fermentation, Prevents Indigestion, Sour Gassy Stomach.

People who suffer from indigestion usually have tried pepsin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and know these things will not cure their trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up to chronic dyspepsia, just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate or milk, but pure Bisurated Magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powder or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or four compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulency, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat. You can enjoy your meals without a fear of indigestion.

WEHNER SUES WARD COMPANY

Asks $200 Damages as Result of Auto Accident.

Francis J. Wehner, of the Ceramic Motor company, West Fifth street, has filed suit in municipal court, seeking $200 damages from the Ward Baking company, whose local representative resides at 822 Avondale street, as a result of an auto-truck crash on Todd avenue, Warren, on August 16, last.

Wehner alleges that he had sounded his horn twice when the driver, without a signal of any kind, swerved his truck to the left of the road, causing the front end of the Wehner car to crash into the rear left side of the truck.

The radiator, fenders and front end of the Studebaker machine were damaged.

The action was filed by Cochran and Crawford, counsel for the plaintiff.

The Salem Tool company of Salem seeks to collect $1,062.58 from Oscar H. Felton of Chester. The amount is due, it is claimed, for iron castings, wood patterns, metal patterns, steel and labor. The action was filed by Attorney Charles Boyd.

In spite of a strong, public feeling that the "Buy British Goods" campaign should be encouraged, officials of Durban, South Africa, have just placed the order for telephone equipment with a German concern.

Belfast, Ireland, is paying each week $250,000 for unemployment, $125,000 for old-age and $50,000 for widows and orphans' pensions.

WILLARD MACK HERE MARCH 16

Author-player Heads Cast of "Honor be Damned!"

With the exception of Clyde Fitch and Henrik Ibsen, Willard Mack had more plays being played in New York City at one time this winter than any other author in the history of the American stage.

Some years ago, Clyde Fitch had four of his plays on the boards at one time in New York. Last year Henrik Ibsen had five plays advertised simultaneously on Broadway. Last December, Willard Mack had four of his plays running at one time and he played in one of them, "Lily Sue." They were "Fanny," "The Noose," "Lily Sue" and "The Hangman's House," all good solid dramas.

His newest play, "Honor Be Damned," will be the offering at the Ceramic on March 16, with the distinguished author-player himself by arrangement of David Belasco in the leading role. He is supported by a splendid cast headed by William Courtleigh, who will be remembered for the many cameo-cut characterizations he has contributed to the American gallery of famous histrionic personages. There is also Ruth King, an actress of sterling ability; Ethel Grey Terry, Beatrice Banyard and Lizzie McCall, who comprise the female contingent, with Huron L. Blyden, Carl Gerard, Harry English, George Cleveland, Thomas F. Tracey and Harry Joyner prominently mentioned among the men on the program.

"Honor Be Damned!" is said to be basically the best constructed play ever written by this wizard of melodrama and is founded upon the events which surrounded the career of a well-known criminal attorney who was the guardian, pal and adviser of more political gangsters and professional crooks than any other devotee of Blackstone who ever faced a jury. Needless to state that Mack plays the attorney, and reports indicate that he will register the biggest hit of his life in this most exacting role. Courtleigh plays the political boss, and those who remember his big triumph in "So This Is Politics" can readily surmise what to expect from his performance.

40 Mongolian Camels Join Indiana Circus; Arrive in Good Shape

PERU, Indiana—Forty camels which arrived direct from Mongolia are the latest addition to the winter circus quarters here.

The camels came on express cars from New York. They were unloaded and tethered around a shadowy bonfire near the Wabash freight depot here, giving the place the appearance of an Arabian scene.

The animals were escorted from their native land by dusky attendants who got them here in fine condition.

Nearly all type composing machines now used in Germany were made in this country.

Says Toes Are Passing Out.

"Toes are getting obsolete nowadays," said Dr. Foster Coates a well-known specialist, in giving evidence in the recorder's court of Belfast, Ireland, recently. He added that big toes of many people, and some other terminal members of the feet of others were deformed. Toes are like the appendix, he said, for some people were better without them. The case was in connection with the ruling on a workman's compensation for injuries received when a box fell on his toes.

Absolute peace is no doubt wearisome, even to those persons who admit they are pacifists and are accordingly opposed to war.—Zanesville Signal.

It costs more money to live, perhaps, but not more labor.—Mansfield Journal.

It tastes so good so rich and smooth

and the tender bran is so valuable

Most little children, doctors say, should have a certain amount of tender roughage—and the bran covering of the oat is especially good for them because it is so tender.

That is why Mother's Oats has the approval of child health specialists who urge the importance of the natural whole grains. Vitamins and minerals known to be necessary for growth are liberally supplied by a bowl of Mother's Oats and milk—and an abundance of the tissue-forming protein of which children often fail to get enough.

Let your growing children have this healthful growth food often. See how they love its rich whole-grain flavor—see how they appreciate its extra smoothness that comes from the fifty years of experience of its careful millers.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with the Aunt Jemima coupons that bring you silverware, toilet articles, and many other fine furnishings for your home.

RECORD CROWD AT OPENING OF NASH DISPLAY

New Body Designs Make Instant Hit at Auto Show.

EUROPEAN LINES

Awarding of Free Set of Tires to Feature Saturday Closing.

The New Nash Ambassador and Cavalier, with their French type roofs and forward sweeping backs have been an outstanding attraction at the big automobile show held in the Turk-Nash sales room, in the Sturgis building, which opened last night. Crowds which literally jammed the Nash display rooms were outspoken in their enthusiasm for these newest Nash creations. On all sides the new Nash body conception is being referred to as the most striking development in the history of American closed car craftsmanship and it is freely prophesied that it would exert a profound influence upon the whole future trend of enclosed car body design in this country.

As a matter of fact this new Nash design really inaugurates America's rise to the heights long held by the great body designers of Europe whose conceptions have always been regarded as authentic. Now, under the leadership of Nash, this country may be expected to reverse oldtime traditions and establish itself as the world center of motor car style.

It will probably be only a question of months before other large motor car manufacturers will be developing models that pursue the general lines Nash has now inaugurated in the Ambassador and Cavalier.

Of particular interest is the manner in which Nash body artists have treated the roofline and the rear of the body. Their graceful contours and perfect symmetry though strongly suggestive of the French mode are entirely original with Nash. And the "town car" effect at the front is also a decided Nash innovation that immediately captured the admiration of show visitors.

Visitors were entertained throughout the show last night by the DeMar Miller orchestra. They will also be on hand for the remaining two days of the display which closes Saturday night.

A feature of the closing will be the drawing for the free set of tires to be awarded the person holding the lucky ticket. Tickets are distributed to all attending the show.

KEEP YOUR STOMACH RIGHT!

Gas, Heartburn, Discomfort ARE Serious! Here's an Old-fashioned Treatment that Keeps You Fit

GAS, heartburn, discomfort after meals—Nature's way of telling you there's something wrong. Dillingham's Plant Juice will help you to feel well and BE well again.

Mrs. Lillian Bitting of 419 Max St., Allentown, Pa., says: "My appetite was so poor I did not care whether I ate or not. Gas caused severe pains, my nerves were upset and robbed me of many a night's sleep. I felt dull, listless, and weak. Since taking Plant Juice, pains and distress are gone. My nerves are calm and steady, and my sleep is sound and unbroken."

Plant Juice is a pleasant-tasting remedy, made only from herbs and plants. Naturally, without griping, it cleanses and tones up your system. Give this fine old remedy a chance to do you some real good. Ask your druggist for the original

Nash Leads the World in Motor Car Value

De Luxe Light Six Sedan

A Luxurious Car at Low Cost

Now Nash takes the style lead of the $1000 field with the introduction of this superb new De Luxe Light Six 4-Door Sedan.

Finished in lustrous lacquer that is toned an exquisite shade of blue, this beautiful new Nash model constitutes an example of value-giving at its price that is unparalleled in this field.

The seat upholstery is of the genuine Chase Velmo Mohair Velvet; there's a motometer atop the graceful winged radiator cap; the steering wheel is of genuine Circassian walnut; and there are bumpers in front and bumperettes at the rear.

Both the headlamps and cowl lights are patterned in the smart bullet-type of design; and a decorative note is achieved in the interior with the walnut finished instrument board and window ledges.

4-wheel brakes and 5 disc wheels are included in its standard equipment and the car possesses the superlative performance ability of a 7-bearing motor—the world's smoothest type.

PASTOR REWRITES "LOVE, HONOR, "OBEY PART OF MARRIAGE CEREMONY

BEAUMONT, Tex.—It used to be "until death do us part." Now it is "as long as this union shall last."

Believing that the traditional phrase used in marriage ceremonies deliberately places men and women in a position that later may cause one or both to violate their marriage oaths or tell a lie, Rev. Aubrey Hess, pastor of the First Congregational church, here, has rewritten the words he uses in ceremonies.

There might be a divorce or a separation, Rev. Hess says, either of which would result in a violation of the oath if the old phrase were used.

Instead of the world "love, honor and obey," Hess uses "to love, forgive for, to make a home for and to remain clean, true and spotless."

Activities of Fake Curio Dealers Curbed In South Africa

CAPE TOWN. — South Africa is probably the first country in the world to protect its visitors from dishonest curio sellers.

Since the American tourist ships first began to visit the country and hundreds of their passengers made the trip "up-country," the Government has realized that to allow people to carry "fakes" as curios away with them would be bad business. Now the different Chambers of Commerce have been asked to collect genuine curios from the native territories and sell them to tourists.

Americans are developing a large drainage and water-supply project in Greece.

Becomes a Poet

Miss Elizabeth McCann of Zanesville, O., was a stenographer when she felt the urge to write poetry. It wouldn't down. She came to the College of Women of Western Reserve University, Cleveland. And now her poetry is appearing regularly in "The Sun Dial," the college magazine. What's more, it's predicted Miss McCann's name soon will be known in a larger field.

TEETH IN RELATION TO HEALTH

CANDY VS. GOOD TOOTH FOODS

(Editor's note—The following is the sixth of a series of articles on various phases of dentistry prepared by a representative of the East Liverpool-Wellsville Dental society).

Candy has been used as a reward so long for doing things that grown up folks as well as children have forgotten that candy is a food; but don't misunderstand, it is never to be given in the place of food, which is too often done, and never should be eaten between meals. That is the time, however, when most of it is eaten and in substituting for the food that would be eaten at the next meal the child does not get the proper nourishment that he should have.

Candy contains sugar, and that part of it is all right, but the child as well as the adult needs many other foods than sugar. We would not think of giving a bowl of toast and milk as a reward to the child because that is part of his regular meal. We give him a bit of chocolate, and supper time finds him without any desire to eat. All his troubles are lightened with candy. When he weeps or suffers pain he is fed a piece of candy. Then when the doctor examines him and finds him undernourished and underweight, his teeth in bad condition and his digestion poor, he decides to put him on a diet. This could have been prevented had candy been considered a food and given to the child with the meal instead of between meals as a reward to have the child do what we want him to do.

Candy eaten with or immediately after meals does no damage to the appetite and may induce a child who has not a very big appetite to take a little more food because he fancies its flavor. As a flavor, sugar enables us to give a child the pleasaure of some sweet, and as long as it is wisely used, need not be withheld from the diet altogether.

Candy harms the teeth also by adhering to their surfaces, the saliva making a syrup of it which gets into the grooves of the teeth and leaves a sticky layer on which the bacteria of decay will grow.

To eat sweets and avoid decay the teeth need to be brushed very thoroughly immediately after eating. When cavities are present they should be filled since the tooth brush cannot clean cavities thoroughly. The use of slightly acid foods as the last article to be eaten in a meal is beneficial. The acid removes these sticky particles and has a stimulating effect upon the salivary glands so that the free flow of saliva following quickly neutralizes the acid.

In the light of modern studies in nutrition, one is inclined to think of certain foods as tooth foods We are beginning to know at any rate, that faulty development of the teeth in infants and older children, defects in eruption of teeth and decay of the teeth are associated with the lack of certain essential ingredients in the diet.

The development during very early life of a sound set of teeth is most important. Foods best for tooth development at this age are: Milk—a quart a day—some to drink, some on cereal, some for soups, some for simple desserts as custards, junkets, etc. Leafy vegetables, especially the tender varieties, as spinach, and beet tops, are favored. All other easily digested vegetables, properly cooked can be introduced gradually. Use some fruit, raw or cooked, daily. Whole grain cereals, hard whole wheat or whole rye bread are good for chewing and exercising the teeth and jaws. Eggs, not more than one daily, are preferable to meat. Restrict the sweets in the diet, especially white sugar in any form. It is best to obtain sweets from natural sources such as figs, dates, raisins, honey and maple syrup.

Proper care, daily cleaning and regular visits to the dentist will help to keep the temporary teeth in good condition until they are replaced by the permanent set. The use of proper food with the emphasis on mastication (thoroughly chewing the food) also affects the health of the temporary teeth and provides building materials for the continuous development of the permanent set.

Remember children and older ones, too, that a chocolate bar or lump of sugar can never give you a beautiful set of teeth, or help you to keep the good teeth you already have, if you insist on eating it at the time when you should be eating wholesome foods, fruits, and vegetables that contain mineral salts for good teeth.

Most of the big jobs are held by men who do not give a darn how women dress.—Greenville Advocate.

NERVOUS PEOPLE ARE HALF FED

When you know you have nerves, something is wrong. A well nourished, healthy body should never even know that nerves exist, except for the sensation of feeling. But when your nerves jangle, when you jump at noises, or when you cannot sleep, it is Nature's way of calling for help.

Crying for Food

And it is almost always a safe bet that your nerves are crying for proper food. Your body is not supplying what is needed for the harmony of health. Chances are that the catarrh you have noticed in nose and throat has spread to the stomach Then, no matter how much you eat, your system does not get the right nourishment. How can it, with the lining of your stomach inflamed and congested?

Because your muscles demand it, the nerves are put on half rations. They let you know it, too. What you need then is to get rid of the catarrh. Thousands have done that with World's Tonic. Not only is it recommended for catarrh, but it tones up the digestion, restores the balance in all processes, and builds you up. When that is done, you can forget you have nerves.

World's Tonic is sold by Carnahan's also Brannon, Wellsville and all other good druggists. (213).

OUR MENUS ARE UPSIDE DOWN, SAYS ENGLISH DENTAL EXPERT

BOSTON.—American dinner menus are upside down. They begin with fruit and end with starchy, sugary desserts. They should finish with apples, oranges, or nuts; and start off with a dish of potatoes and a taste of sweets, if the tteth of the nation are to be preserved.

Dr. J. Sims Wallace, British dental expert, after studying Yankee teeth, has decided that the dentists on this side of the water are first-rate but the cooks are poor. He is positive that if the housewives would listen to him, their dentists' bills would be cut to less than half.

His rules for not having to go to the dentists are simple enough: Finish every meal with a cleansing food like fresh fruit, nuts, raw vegetables, crusts of bread, meat, fish, or bacon; and begin it with any starchy or sugary dish. If you must have sweets, Chocolate, or biscuits, eat them only at meal times and follow them by a cleanser. Chew your food well and breathe through your nose.

Dr. Wallace, who is a member of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons in London, has experimented with his theories on English children and has had fine results. He has collected statistics of the decay of teeth in children of five, both before and after the war. By the increase from 5 per cent in 1914 to 48 per cent in 1919 of children with perfect teeth, he proves that in time of war, when sugar and milk are scarce, teeth are healthier.

This dentist-doctor is not an advocate of milk babies. He thinks that at eight or nine months, when their teeth begin to appear, infants should immediately be given solids like toasted bread and butter. Their milk should be decreased, and cleansing foods should be given after the milk, as soon as the child is old enough. At two years of age, a baby should have three meals a day (soup to nuts is the proper order), just as his parents have. Eating between meals and drinking during them should be discouraged.

A Rockefeller Wins

John Rockefeller Prentice, 22-year-old grandson of John D. Rockefeller, who is working his way through Yale university after having been suspended in 1920 for "cutting classes," has just been elected to the Phi Betta Kappa society. After his suspension, Prentice started to work and in five years returned with the money he had saved and re-entered the university.

"THE WORKINGMAN'S FRIEND"

The Little White Hag

By Francis Beeding

©BY LITTLE, BROWN and CO. RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER SIXTY-ONE.

It was the voice of the man from London who had taken so prominent a part in the discussion at the chalet.

Without further words, I grappled with him. We fought savagely in the pitch darkness, entangled with the bush into which we had fallen, confused and panting. He got a grip on my collar, but in the struggle it gave way, and he tore a great piece of it with a rending sound. I was baffled by the darkness, unable to judge the exact whereabouts of my opponent, but as my collar went I found im, and my arms closed about his knees. He crashed again heavily, ripping the coat still more in his fall, and it flashed across my mind incongruously, as I heard it tear, that after all it wasn't my coat, though I was sorry for its owner, whoever he might be. I held on grimly, though my opponent kicked and struggled furiously, and a moment later lights were flashing round us. Somebody stampeded heavily past me; the man I was holding gave a groan; then came a voice in French:

"Keep still or I fire."

There was a sharp metallic click followed by another oath in English. Then a hand was laid on my shoulder, and the welcome tones of a gendarme fell upon my ear.

"It's all right, Monsieur. We've got him, thanks to you."

I loosened my grip and stood up. The light of a torch held by one of the gendarmes showed me a group of three persons, consisting of the Commissioner, the prisoner and one of the detectives, who had clapped the handcuffs on him and was holding him by the arm.

"C'est vous, alors?" said the Commissioner. "Well done, Monsieur. Are you hurt?"

"No, thanks," I replied. "Where are the others?"

"We've got them in the cave," he said, and picking up the whistle hanging from his neck by a cord, he blew a long blast.

I went down and groped for the pistol which after some search I found close to the remains of the bush.

Meanwhile the Commissioner turned to the gendarme, saying in French:

"Take the prisoner to the road, Jean. And shoot if he tries to escape."

I looked at the Englishman. His face was sullen, but he had ceased to protest.

"Do you understand what he says?" I asked. "You'd better go quietly."

"My God!" he exclaimed, staring at me in amazement. "It's the mad patient from Doctor Kuntz's Home."

"En route," said the gendarme beside him, taking his arm and leading him away.

He went like one dazed, as I followed the Commissioner.

"Where are Mr. Claypole and the Center?" I inquired.

"Come to the caves," said the Commissioner. "My men have got them I think. The gang were on the lookout and fired on me before I reached the cave."

"Did they hit anybody?"

"I don't think so," he replied.

We had by this time arrived at the caves. They were two small openings in the side of the ravine, some four feet high and screened by bushes. Outside stood a number of persons whom I could not distinguish in the darkness. The Commissioner flashed his torch upon them.

"Who have you there, Sergeant?" he rapped out.

A burly gendarme in plain clothes moved up as we approached.

"Two men, Monsieur le Commissioner," he replied briskly, "the Japanese and another, nationality at present unknown, but he is not a Swiss."

"Is that all?"

"Oui, Monsieur le Commissaire," said the gendarme. "There was no one else."

I looked quickly toward the prisoners, and my heart sank.

In the light of the Commissioner's torch I could see two men. One was a little Japanese, whom I recognized as one of the Center's innumerable servants, the other was a short, thickset man whom I could not remember to have seen.

The Center was not there.

"Is there no one else?" I said urgently to the Commissioner. "Who brought these men to the caves? Where is Finckelstein?"

The unknown prisoner, overhearing my words, burst in a loud laugh.

"D'sappointed, are you? Not quite so clever as you thought," he said. "You set a trap to catch an eagle and you have caught a crow, in the person of your humble servant." And, drawing himself up to his full height, he bowed as gracefully as his handcuffed wrists would allow.

"What can this mean?" I cried in dismay. "Surely the Center must be here."

The prisoner looked me up and down.

"So," he said, "it's the mad patient. Quite bright for a police officer. It's unfortunate that you missed the big game, and I suspect that Mr. Finckelstein, for whom you seem to be so anxious, will be put to considerable inconvenience for this night's work."

I turned to the Commissioner.

"Claypole has somehow failed."

"Evidently," he replied grimly. "We have, as the prisoner says, captured only the smaller fry. We will make sure of them, anyway.'

He blew three more blasts on his whistle, and in a few moments there came from the undergrowth sounds of crackling, and then there appeared in front of us some half-dozen police officers in a variety of plain clothes.

The Commissioner questioned them rapidly. They replied to the effect that they had watched the caves since midday and that no one except the persons already captured had come here. I listened to their tale with increasingly anxiety. At its conclusion the Commissioner turned to me.

"You recognize the prisoners?"

"Yes," I answered dully. "They are members of the Ring."

"Well, that's better than nothing," said the Commissioner. "They seem to be a pretty desperate lot."

His eyes, as he spoke, rested on one of the gendarmes who was standing with a white, strained face and a loose, swinging right arm.

IS THERE NO RELIEF FROM SKIN TORTURE?

Must I Continue to Suffer the Unbearable Itching?

Are you one of those unfortunates who are going through life suffering with a skin disease, making you uncomfortable, making you less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep? You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S. S. S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in many forms of skin disease. Thousands of letter of gratitude prove its worth.

"I feel so happy for what S. S. S. has done for me that I want others to know about it. I suffered twenty long years from eczema. At times the itching was unbearable. During that time, I used all kinds of salves without receiving any real benefit. After taking six bottles of S. S. S, I was cured of this dreadful disease. I recommend S. S. S. to anyone suffering from eczema, because I cannot praise it enough for what it has done for me." Cleophas Forte, Soldiers and Sailors Homt, Quincy, Ill.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Colds

No help like this

One help has proved itself to millions as the utmost for a cold. It is so efficient, so quick and complete that we paid $1,000,000 for it. That way is HILL'S. It combines in one tablet the best helps science knows. It stops the cold in 24 hours, checks the fever, opens the bowels, then tones the entire system. Don't depend on lesser help, and don't delay. See how things change overnight when you take HILL'S.

DENNY SCORES ANOTHER HIT

Comedy of New Type is Offering at Ceramic.

If you were a real English "Sir"—

And you wanted to meet a girl and couldn't do it unless you posed as someone else—

And you attended a house party under false colors and then discovered that someone else had arrived using your title—

If you proposed to the lady of your heart and then found that a woman claiming to be your wife had arrived—

That would seem to be about enough trouble and excitement for one evening, wouldn't it?

But that ain't half of what happens to Reginald Denny in "The Cheerful Fraud," the hilarious Universal farce comedy which came to the Ceramic theatre last night.

That "The Cheerful Fraud" is the best thing Denny has done since "What Happened to Jones" is the consensus of opinion of those who witnessed the picture last night.

It is a comedy of a new type, with clever situations, fast moving comedy and an unexpected turning of plot at entirely unsuspected moments, and it leaves nothing to be desired in the way of entertainment.

Gertrude Olmstead, who played opposite the farce comedy star in "California Straight Ahead" again has the feminine lead. Otis Harlan, Gertrude Astor, Emily Fitzroy, Charles Gerrard and others are in prominent supporting roles.

"The Cheerful Fraud" was directed by William A. Seiter, the brilliant young director who has done such splendid work on Denny's last five productions.

Fish Producers Assail Resolution Of Game Officials

SANDUSKY.—Fish producers meeting here are taking exceptions to the resolution of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania and Canadian game officials interest of closed season on white fish after November 15. They declare white fish do not leave Canadian waters until late in the fall and that closed season proposed would work to the detriment of United States fishermen. Formal protest will be prepared later.

How to Get Rid of Rheumatic Pain

NO MATTER how long you have suffered, or how severe the pain, you can get rid of the agony without dosing, and without taking powerful drugs into your system. TAX AIMED AT TOBACCO DEALERS

Retail dealers in all forms of tobacco would pay an increased tax on all forms of tobacco and tobacco products for the benefit of the elementary public schools of the state, according to the provisions of a bill introduced in the lower house at Charleston by Delegate Knabenshue.

The measure provides that the tax shall be one cent for each 10 cents or fractional part thereof of the retail selling price of all smoking and chewing tobacco, cigars, cigarettes, cheroots and snuff made of tobacco or any substitute thereof.

I'm Most Grateful Every Month

Here's glorious news for long suffering womankind! To every woman who periodically has suffered pain. Men struation need no longer be painful And it is Science that is speaking.

Specialists have developed a tiny tablet called midol. It's a simple thing, utterly harmless to a girl of fourteen, but it brings relief in five to seven minutes. And is effective twelve hours or longer!

Midol is NOT a narcotic. It has no effect whatever on heart or nervous system. It acts directly on those organs affected by menstruation. They function normally, as they should, but the pain is banished. Complete relief—yes, perfect comfort—follows midol.

Your druggist has midol for 50 cents, in a slim aluminum box to tuck in your purse.

DRESS REHEARSAL FOR MINSTREL

Dress rehearsal for the minstrel show to be given by the employes of the Homer Laughlin China company Monday night in the Ceramic theatre will be held Sunday afternoon on the stage of the theatre.

Members of the cast will hold the final rehearsal tonight in the Eagles auditorium, East Liverpool. Number of special features will be introduced in addition to the minstrel performance.

Take Bar Examination.

Twenty-five applicants underwent an examination yesterday at Charleston for licenses to practice law in West Virginia. Names of the successful candidates will be made public after the rating board has passed upon their examination papers.

School Savings Report.

Newell school children saved $60.36 last month according to a report issued yesterday by the school savings department of the Potters Savings and Loan company, East Liverpool. The average for each room was $6.03.

Essay Contest Planned.

Three outside judges will select the winners in the annual contest open to the school students of Hancock county. District papers will be graded by the local school officials who will present their choices to the judges. Winners will be announced at the county spelling bee to be held in Chester on Friday, April 15.

To Improve Ball Field

Newell baseball playing field will shortly be put into shape for the season. Officiers of the club plan to make some needed improvements to the outfield especially center field where the ground is uneven in places.

Good News For Skinny Folks

Increase Your Weight 10 or 15 Pounds

When you are underweight, it is the surest sign that the food you eat does not give you the nourishment you need to be strong and healthy and full of vitality. Put some good solid flesh on your bones, nourish the tissues properly and you will feel like a fighting cock.

Nothing acts so quickly and surely to correct the nutritive processes as a scientific digestive stimulant. Science tells us that stimulation of the digestive organs supplies the nourishment our bodies must have to grow healthy and to have the power to resist disease and to fight the breaking down of the life forces.

A remarkable stimulant-tonic has been devised for just such conditions as these. It is delightfully palatable and is prepared by an old Virginia concern in business for nearly a century. Druggists and physicians have come to know this stimulant as "Old Monticello Tonic." Get a bottle today from your druggist, take a small wineglass full before your next meal—see how much better you eat, feel the glow of stimulated functions throughout the body. A few days' treatment will bring a quick change in run-down conditions and overcome lack of energy.

Coughs Stopped Almost Instantly

A famous physician's prescription called Thoxine relieves the most stubborn coughs that otherwise would hang on for weeks. Acts on new theory, relieves the inflammation and irritation which is almost always the cause of the cough, and stops it like magic. Thoxine is equally good for sore throat for which purpos it is far superior to gargles. Contains no dope, chloroform or harmful drugs. Once used you will never be without it. Pleasant taste and safe for children. Remember one swallow stops night coughs or sore throat within 15 minutes or money back. 35, 60c and $1.00. At all druggists.

RIN-TIN-TIN IN THRILLER

"Hills of Kentucky," Screen Success, at American.

Stars may come and stars may go but Rin-Tin-Tin goes on forever turning out pictures for Warner Brothers that hit a high standard of excellence. None better, however, in the whole Rin-Tin-Tin repertoire than "Hills of Kentucky," which is now showing at the American theatre.

Here is a tight, sound melodrama, with enough thrills to keep every kid on edge, enough romance to touch the heart of every grown up lady, and enough of Rin-Tin-Tin to please anyone who has ever loved a dog.

Agains beautiful outdoor backgrounds unfolds a tale of a puppy who is cast out from his home in a period of human starvation and who becomes the leader of a pack of dogs who ravage the countryside. Rin-Tin-Tin plays this dog, known in harrowing legend as "The Grey Ghost."

To two mountain towns comes a school teacher (Dorothy Dawn) with her little crippled brother (Billy Kent Schaeffer). There a young mountaineer (Jason Robards) falls in love with her. His half brother, a treacherous man of bull strength, played by Tom Santschi, smashes in to break up the romance.

The story of these lives becomes entangled with that of "The Grey Ghost" in a series of engrossing episodes, full of surprises. The picture has been directed with fine imagination by Howard Bretherton.

Six hundred square miles of sugar and rice lands in Japan are to be irrigated at a cost of neary $4,000,000.

D'DN'T THINK 2 BOTTLES COULD MAKE BIG CHANGE

He Feels Good Instead Of Bad Since Using Redwood's Tepee Tonic.

M. Bano, traveling salesman for the Hammermill Paper Co., who resides at 163 Hiler St., Erie, Penna., says: "I've only taken two bottles of Redwood's Tepee Tonic and I didn't think such a small amount of medicine could make such a big change in me.

Redwood.

"When I started I was "all in" and feeling badly. I had dyspepsia and after every meal would be troubled with sour stomach and heartburn. I am on the road a good deal and while in Cleveland, O., a friend told me about Tepee Herb Tonic.

"It proved very good and now I am not troubled with indigestion. It regulated my bowels and improved my nerves. I sleep more soundly than I did and can do more work and not feel so tired."

Tepee Herb Tonic is sold and recommended by Carnahan's Drug Store and by well stocked drug stores everywhere.

March 11, 1927.

Dear Friends:

Speaking of watches, a man came into the store yesterday and said he wanted a watch that would keep time. Struck me kind of funny, because that's what a watch is for.

However, his old one had gone on a strike and had refused to tick a tick.

The boss sold him a new one for $40.00. It was a dandy. And I heard the boss tell him when he went out, "If that watch isn't keeping good time in ten years, bring it back and I'll make it right."

Sounds fair enough, doesn't it?

TICK.

P. S. And say he will make you a very liberal allowance on any kind of an old sick watch you may bring in.

Don't Risk Pneumonia By Neglecting a Cold

A cough or cold may only make you feel miserable today. But when you begin to feel "achy" and feverish, with a tightness in your chest, congestion is reaching your bronchial tubes—and these tubes lead directly into your lungs!

Quickly and unfailingly Ayer's Cherry Pectoral stops a cough and drives out the cold.

Hospital-Proved Medicine — not just a "cough syrup"! This medication penetrates through and through the irritated membranes—and is then absorbed into the blood itself. That is how its healing powers are carried to very part of your system.

If you are catching cold; if you have a "head cold;" if your chest is tight; if you have a cough — even if bronchitis has developed — Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! It has relieved more coughs and colds than any other medicine in the world.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is used by hospital clinics and leading physicians. Pleasant, safe and effective for children and grown people. At all druggists, 60c; twice as much $1.00. c51b

Illinois Estate Claims Finally Determined By Irish Courts

DUBLIN. — The nephews and nieces of Joseph Veagle, of Rathfryland, County Down, have been declared heirs-at-law to one-third of the estate of Jefferson Doyle, who died intestate in Farmer County, Illinois, in February, 1923, leaving an estate worth between $250,000 and $300,000.

Jefferson Doyle, who was born at Hilltown, County Down, eloped as an apprentice with his master's daughter and, sailing to the United States settled in Illinois and prospered there.

Legal fights over his estate has lasted for four years and involved 60 law courts with commissions on four continents. Originally there were over 500 claimants to the estate.

Time may be money but there is no way to check it.—Defiance Crescent News.
